

LIBRARY

AGNES SCOTT
COLLEGE

NATIONAL LIBRARY BINDERY
CO.
WEST SPRINGFIELD
EAST CLEVELAND
INDIANAPOLIS
ATLANTA

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2011 with funding from LYRASIS Members and Sloan Foundation

<http://www.archive.org/details/agnesscottalumna05agne>

The
Agnes Scott
Alumnae Quarterly

AGNES SCOTT
COLLEGE LIBRARY

November
1926

Published by the
Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

THE HALL
MARK

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

Published in November, January, March and May by the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association.

VOL. V

NOVEMBER, 1926

No. 1

Entered as second class matter under the Act of Congress, August, 1912.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Alumnae House Interior.....	Frontispiece
A Letter from the New President of the Alumnae Association.....	Page 3
Class Reunions, May, 1927	Page 4
An Open Forum	Page 5
Speakers at Agnes Scott	Page 8
Homecoming Day	Page 6
A Note from Miss Hopkins.....	Page 8
Changes on the Campus.....	Page 6
Freshman Week	Page 7
Alumnae House Gifts	Page 7
Life Members in the Association.....	Page 7
Agnes Scott Student Body.....	Page 7
Miss Gaylord's Trip to Europe.....	Page 8
Blackfriars Present Anne of Green Gables.....	Page 8
Faculty Notes	Page 9
New Fiction	Page 8
Lost Alumnae	Page 5
Louise McKinney Play Contest	Page 5
The Alumnae Association.....	Page 27
Reports of Chairmen of Committees.....	Pages 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35
Concerning Ourselves	Page 10

A VIEW THROUGH THE LIVING ROOM OF THE ANNA YOUNG ALUMNAE HOUSE.

A LETTER FROM THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

Dear "Agnes Scotters:"

How I would love at this time to write each of you individually! As that is impossible, I wish to take this opportunity of communicating with you very informally through our first Quarterly of the year 1926-27; to greet you; to beg your helpful advice and sincere sympathetic criticism (for criticism often brings better results than praise); to tell you of some of the things we shall strive to do; to enlist your support and co-operation in carrying out these plans, and in making the Association fulfill its purpose "to promote the welfare of the College and its Alumnae by increasing the interest of its members in the College and in each other."

Since the correct addresses of Alumnae form the foundation of all work in the Association, our first endeavor will be to get out a new register of Agnes Scott Alumnae. We must be able to reach you if we are to keep you interested, and informed of the work going on. To this end, our secretary, Polly Stone, is concentrating her efforts in locating all of you alumnae, in correcting and verifying your addresses, in learning the married names of many, and in obtaining much other valuable information. The sending in of this information promptly is one way in which everyone, whether an active member of the Association or not, can greatly assist all the work of the Association.

This information lays the foundation for the work and achievements of many of our committees. We hope this year, under the leadership of Mary Knight, '22, chairman of Local Clubs Committee, to organize several new clubs. We now have nine splendidly functioning clubs, and they are such a joy to the Association and to their members that we feel it worth every effort to form new ones, giving Alumnae an opportunity to meet together, to hear news of Agnes Scott, and to work collectively for our Association and Alma Mater.

Through the work of the Curriculum Committee, lead by Laura Stockton Moley, '20, we hope to make the "College after College" courses a great pleasure and benefit to many of you, and to learn what new courses you would be interested in having added to this department. Any suggestions will be gratefully received.

The work of the Preparatory Schools Committee, directed by Hilda McConnell, '23, is one in which all of you may assist, whether members of the Committee or not. There was an article in the Quarterly last spring explaining the new policy of the College in the selection of its students. Applicants are no longer taken in the order of their application, but, after thoroughly investigating each girl's record at preparatory school, her character, her home life, her ideals, etc., those best fitted for the work and life at Agnes Scott are chosen. Necessarily, much of this information must come from "those of us who have gone on before." Dr. McCain is especially anxious that we write him all about girls we know who are contemplating entering Agnes Scott. Fifteen and even ten years ago, the problem with us was in getting enough students; now we are so overrun with applications for entrance, that our problem is selection of the best. You will be interested to know that through a questionnaire, sent out to all new students coming to Agnes Scott this year, Dr.

McCain learned that seventy-five per cent of all these students chose Agnes Scott because of the influence of some alumna. So the importance of such work can be easily understood when we see the extent of our influence, often unconscious and unrealized. Another phase of the work of this committee in which you of small towns especially may greatly assist, is that of getting the High Schools and Preparatory Schools to raise their curriculum to meet College requirements. As the College curriculum is raised, it becomes increasingly difficult for girls from small towns to enter Agnes Scott, and many of the best girls come from these places.

Believing that added knowledge means increased interest, we are hoping to send you a number of little booklets telling of the growth and achievements of Agnes Scott College. We already love Agnes Scott and are proud of it, but we want to know just why we are proud of it, and be able to tell others what makes it such a wonderful college.

These are only a few of the plans which present themselves at this time. Many others will be made from time to time, in all of which I shall count on your support and co-operation. Nothing could be more appreciated than letters telling what you think of the plans, making suggestions for carrying them out, and giving any new ideas for promoting the welfare of the College and the Alumnae, for after all, the Association is just what you make it.

Yours in the interest of Agnes Scott and its Alumnae,

MARY (WEST) THATCHER, '15
President of the Alumnae Association.

CLASS REUNIONS, MAY, 1927

ALL CLASSES ENDING IN '22 AND '27, AND 1924 AND 1926 HOLD REUNIONS.

The love of an alumna for her college and of classmate for classmate are very precious things, and those of us who have lived within the walls of Agnes Scott together and know these two great loves must cherish them and see that through neglect and forgetfulness we do not lose two of the greatest things in life.

Renew your acquaintance with your College and your classmates by coming back to your reunion in 1927. You have changed some since you left Agnes Scott on your commencement day. Varied experiences have changed each member of your class, and the College has done anything but stand just as you left it that day. There are new courses of study, higher standards of scholarship, new buildings, more land added to the campus, new walks and drives. You must see these things and get used to them so that your College will not be a stranger to you.

Five years ago the problem of coming back for reunion was indeed a problem, for it was very inconvenient to find some place to stay. But the Anna Young Alumnae House has solved this question. Plan to come back in May, and send in your reservation for a place in the Alumnae House during commencement.

AN OPEN FORUM

Is it true that women can never be silenced? That they will talk and talk and talk until breath is gone,—and still talk on? There must be a number of things that the different alumnae would like to discuss together,—various problems connected with homes, school-rooms, children, education, etc. The Alumnae Quarterly proposes to turn over to the members of the Association as many pages in each issue as they will ask for, to discuss the questions that arise in the lives of the different members which they would like to bring to an open forum for solution. Address all communications to the Alumnae Secretary at the College. This is a department which should fill a great need among alumnae, and it is to be hoped that there will be no hesitancy about writing for it. Names will be withheld, unless you wish them published. You are earnestly asked to “cuss and discuss.” To start the year, here is an extract from a letter from an alumna in North Carolina:

“I do wish Agnes Scott would give us a good practical course designed to help solve the many problems which arise in homemaking and motherhood. I have concluded that colleges and universities should require such a course for graduation, both from the men’s colleges and the women’s. So many people think they will never take the ‘fatal step,’ but one never knows. And while home making, of course, requires commonsense management and there can be no set rule which can be applied by each individual, still I am sure that such a course would be a great help to those of us who are struggling with the many problems which arise. And especially now that life has become so complicated. Trig and geometry were Greek to me in ‘the good old days,’ but those problems were simple as compared to those which my four-year-old son presents now. I feel so incompetent to cope with them, and it occurred to me that there must be numerous other members of the alumnae who are in the same fix. What do other alumnae think of a course designed to solve the problems of marriage, home-making, and motherhood,—not a scientific course, but a simple, practical one?”

LOST ALUMNAE

Dortch, Adeline (Mrs. Wm. C. Griggs).

Hertzler, Anne.

Lewis, Walter.

Wilhelm, Mary Lee.

Woodbridge, Charlotte.

Wurm, Annie Dowe (Mrs. W. W. Moore).

The next Quarterly is to be a register of all Agnes Scott alumnae. Please send in all changes of address or name to the Alumnae Office as soon as possible, so that it may be included in the new register which will appear in January.

LOUISE MCKINNEY PLAY CONTEST

The award of $250.00 for the best play written by an Agnes Scott alumna will be made in May, 1927. All manuscripts must be in the hands of the committee, of which Mary Wallace Kirk is chairman, by January 1, 1927. Plays must be regulation three-act length, and the manuscript must be gotten up in professional manner. If you are intending to submit a play, Miss Kirk will be glad to send you all the necessary information as to form, etc. Her address is 209 S. Cane St., Tuscumbia, Ala.

ON THE CAMPUS

HOME-COMING DAY

November 25th, the birthday of Miss Anna Irwin Young, has been celebrated by Agnes Scott for several years past as annual home-coming day, but since this year it falls on Thanksgiving, Saturday November 27th will be observed instead for coming back to Agnes Scott. From four to six o'clock in the afternoon the Agnes Scott Alumnae who are in or near Atlanta for Thanksgiving week-end are invited to call at the Anna Young Alumnae House for tea. The House and Tea Room committee, of which Margaret Phythian, '16, is chairman, and the Entertainment Committee, of which Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21, is chairman, will be joint hostesses for the occasion, and a number of old Agnes Scott girls are expected to call during the afternoon.

This "birthday" of the House has been observed ever since its erection five years ago. Any Alumnae who plan to make some gift to the House during the year are invited to do it at this time. Following is a list of articles needed at present.

- Ash tray for guest room.
- Bath mats.
- Blankets.
- Dotted swiss for bedroom curtains.
- Flower bowls for bedrooms.
- Napkins.
- Pillow cases (22 by 32).
- Rag rugs.
- Sheets.
- Soup spoons for Tea Room.
- Spreads.
- Table cloths.
- Tea cloths.
- Towels.
- Tumblers.
- Washrags.

CHANGES ON THE CAMPUS

The most striking change on the campus this year that meets the visitor even before he leaves College Avenue is the semi-circular concrete drive. It cuts into the campus in front of Rebekah Scott Hall at a sloping angle, curves up to the front of Main and back again between Inman and the May-Day Oak, and back to College avenue again at White House. It is a decidedly progressive step, and has improved the appearance of the College from the street immensely. The old gate which was so difficult to drive in, is still standing, but the old driveway has been ploughed up and sodded, and a graceful little cement walk winds down from the front of Main to the old gateway. The new driveway has relieved the congestion of day student cars, and gives the front campus a splendid appearance from the street. Not a single one of the stately old oaks that are the beauty of the campus had to be sacrificed for the new drive. The long straight brick walk from Main to the little gate on College Avenue has gone; a lovely sweep of green lawn now covers the whole of the campus.

During October the College purchased the Worsham property on the corner of Candler street and College avenue, right back of the house where Dr. Armistead used to live. Sturgis Cottage was acquired during the summer.

After the great mosquito battle of September, 1925, it was found necessary to screen every building on the campus.

The two little practice rooms on the right and left of Inman entrance are transformed into bedrooms this fall as the dormitories were so crowded with students. The girls in Inman are charmed to have four more members of the "Inman Hall family," and to be able to study in peace without the voice and violin students practicing within earshot.

Mrs. Gaines has moved to 121 S. Candler St., and is always glad for returning alumnae to drop by to see her, or to receive notes or cards from them.

The little summerhouse, for so long an eyesore in front of Main, was moved this summer to make way for the new drive. It has been enclosed with glass and moved over behind Rebekah Scott Hall. For years the Y. W. C. A. al fresco teas were given here, but this fall for the first time, the tea was given on the lawn in front of Gaines Cottage.

The students were overjoyed on their return to the College in September to see that the new athletic field which last year was a vast expanse of unmanageable red mud, has been thickly sodded and is in splendid condition. Hockey has been especially popular this fall, since on account of the condition of the field, there could be no hockey last year.

The museum on the third floor of Science Hall has had some splendid additions to its shelves during the summer. Alumnae who are visiting the College will be well repaid by a trip up to the rapidly growing collection.

FRESHMAN WEEK

Speaking of reforms (and if nobody was, we'll start the subject ourselves), Freshman Week at Agnes Scott "ain't what it usta be!" And everybody is glad it isn't! The class of 1929,—this year's sophomores,—in formulating the rules for the freshmen during rat-week, have instituted a reform for which the college community rise up and call them blessed. No longer do freshmen walk the campus for an entire week with reddened noses, clad in unmatched hose and tennis shoes, wearing their dresses hind part before, and with bells tied to stubby pigtails, a humiliation to themselves and a disgrace to the classrooms and the campus. Freshmen were distinguished this fall by close-fitting flannel caps of a bright green. They were compelled to wear them everywhere, even to meals, for two weeks. The caps were very jaunty and becoming; some of the decrepit upperclassmen sighed for their lost youth and almost wished themselves freshmen again so that they might get to wear them. Faculty, students, alumnae and generations of Agnes Scott students yet unborn are grateful to the sophomores for this innovation. There's no doubt about it—the class of 1929 is a wonder! The modest creatures admit it! They won the cat this year, too!

AGNES SCOTT STUDENT BODY

Since Agnes Scott, then known as Decatur Female Seminary, opened its doors on September 24, 1889, with an enrollment of 63 little girls, (only three of whom were boarders), there has been a steady increase in the number of students. Last year the student body numbered 538; this year there are 566. It is impossible to care for more girls with the present equipment.

ALUMNAE HOUSE GIFTS

Every year the Anna Young Alumnae House is the recipient of many lovely gifts. Among those received last year was a silver water pitcher, sent by the Birmingham, Alabama, Agnes Scott club. This is kept in the private dining room and used whenever there are special dinner guests. The private dining room now has a complete set of table silver, two pairs of silver candle-sticks, three silver bonbon trays, a silver tea service, and the lovely pitcher sent from Birmingham.

The Marietta Agnes Scott Club has added to the supply of linen in the House. At their meetings last year, they sewed on napkins, bureau scarfs and table runners, and as a result the Alumnae House linen closet received a number of handmade articles. Besides being useful and badly needed, the linen sent by the Marietta club was beautifully hem-stitched by hand, fringed, or worked with the popular Italian stitch.

Allie Louise Travis, ex '22, sent a gift of linen for the bedroom furnished by her class, and in which she always stays on her visits to the college.

During commencement of May, 1926, the last signature was written on the last leaf of the Alumnae House Guest Book. During the five years since the house was built, many notable people have written in that book, and it will always be preserved as one of the treasures of the house.

The new Guest Book is a beautiful one of Florentine leather in Agnes Scott purple, which one of the Alumnae brought back from Italy this summer. It has the loose-leaf arrangement, so that it may be used for many years to come.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS IN THE ASSOCIATION

There are five new names to add to the list of life members of the Alumnae Association. They are:

Mabel McKowen, '05.

May McKowen (Mrs. B. B. Taylor), '06.

Jean Ramspeck (Mrs. W. R. Harper), '00.

Kate Richardson (Mrs. J. J. Wicker, Jr.), '15.

Mary Nancy West (Mrs. S. E. Thatcher), '15.

A NOTE FROM MISS HOPKINS

Staunton, Virginia.
June 24, 1926.

My dear girls:—

The day after commencement when I returned to College after a visit in Atlanta on important business matters, I found the handsomest desk set I ever saw and the sweetest note I ever read—both for me. These kind words and beautiful gift from alumnae did me good through and through, and are among my greatest treasures. I especially regret not being at home when the gift was presented. Please let me thank every one who had any part in this kind thought of me.

Affectionately yours,

NANNETTE HOPKINS.

MISS GAYLORD'S TRIP TO EUROPE

Miss Leslie J. Gaylord, of the department of Mathematics at Agnes Scott, and Mrs. Lucy Dodd Ramberg, of Florence, Italy, are arranging a European tour for the summer of 1927, which will be especially attractive to college women, interested in gaining an intimate knowledge and interpretation of European art and history. Mrs. Ramberg, herself a portrait painter and exhibitor at the International Exhibitions, has made her residence in Europe for twenty-five years, where she has devoted herself to the study of art, history, and languages. Miss Gaylord, who has just returned from a year of study in Italy, has traveled extensively in Europe.

The party will sail the middle of June, visit France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, and England, and return about September first.

In Florence they will be guests for ten days at the home of Mrs. Ramberg, an Italian villa dating from the fourteenth century, furnished in original pieces of that century, and containing a rare collection of Renaissance art. The villa is surrounded by spacious gardens overlooking Florence.

Miss Gaylord would be glad to get in touch with any of the alumnae who would be interested in joining the party. A letter addressed to her at the College will reach her.

BLACKFRIARS PRESENT "ANNE OF GREEN GABLES"

The Thanksgiving play at the College this year will be "Anne of Green Gables." The Blackfriars have been working on this for some time, and are anxious for as many alumnae as are in the neighborhood of the College to be present at this first production of the term 1926-27.

SPEAKERS AT AGNES SCOTT

October 18, Hugh Walpole, English novelist and critic, on "The Victorian and Modern Novel Contrasted."

October 22, Mrs. John M. Hanna, National President of the Y. W. C. A., on that organization.

October 30, Dr. John I. McCain, Professor of English at Erskine College, and Father of our President McCain, on "The Poetry in Nature."

November 15, Dr. W. A. Neilson, President of Smith. Not only is Dr. Neilson president of the largest college for women in the world, but he is also an English scholar and an author of note.

December 10, Captain Roald Amundsen, renowned Arctic and Antarctic explorer, famous as the discoverer of the South Pole, on "By Airship from Rome, Italy, to Nome, Alaska."

March 10, 1927, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, former president of the League of Women Voters.

NEW FICTION

The Faculty Book Club suggest this list of new fiction for light reading this winter.

Bennett—Lord Raingo.

Canfield—Her Son's Wife.

Cather—My Mortal Enemy.

Ferber—Show Boat.

Glasgow—Romantic Comedian.

Heyward—Angel.

Hume—Wives of Henry VIII.

Macaulay—Crewe Train.

McKenzie—Fairy Gold.

Minnigerode—Codelia Canthrell.

Rogers—Magnificent Idler.

Sinclair—Far End.

Winnerton—Summer Storm.

Wilson—Painted Room.

Wren—Beau Sabreur.

Young—Heaven's Trees.

FACULTY NOTES

Many of the alumnae will be grieved to hear of the death at Ashland, Va., of Mrs. Armstrong, wife of Professor John I. Armstrong, who for many years taught Bible and Psychology at Agnes Scott. Mrs. Armstrong leaves five children.

Miss Alice Brown, assistant in Biology, is teaching at her home in Baltimore. Miss Lucile Caldwell, Agnes Scott '25, is taking her place.

Miss Janet Brownlee, formerly of the Latin department, is studying at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Mary Campbell, for several years professor of Greek, is at Hunter College, New York City. Her place was taken by Miss Gladys Freed. Miss Freed has her Ph. D. from the University of Chicago.

Miss Lady Coma Cole, assistant in the History department, was married very unexpectedly on October 11, 1926, in LaFayette, Ala., to Mr. Walter Willard of Boston, Mass. Miss Cole's unexpired term is being filled by Miss Florence Edler, of the University of Chicago. Miss Edler has just returned from a stay of several years in Europe, where she has practically completed work on her doctor's degree.

Miss Jean Davis, professor of Economics and Sociology, was at her home in Princeton, N. J., this summer at the time of her father's death.

Miss Emily Dexter, associate professor of Psychology and Education, spent the summer studying at the University of Wisconsin.

Miss Catherine Gault, who for the past two years has taught first and second year Spanish, is teaching in Chicago this winter. Miss Roberta Hollingsworth, B. A., Goucher College, is taking her place.

Miss Leslie Gaylord, who spent last year studying at the University of Rome, Italy, is back in the department of Mathematics.

Miss Harn, Miss Lewis, and Miss Stansfield spent the summer together traveling in Europe.

Miss Harriet Haynes, absent on leave from the department of Physical Education last year, is back at the College.

Miss Cleo Hearon, head of the History department, spent the summer in Europe as a member of the party of American College professors sent over by the Carnegie Foundation for the study of International Relations at Geneva. She also attended the meeting of the International Association of University Women at the Hague. Miss Hearon is director of the South Atlantic field of the American Association.

Miss Elizabeth Jackson, of the History department, traveled in Europe during the summer.

Miss Emma May Laney, of the English department, is absent on leave at Yale this winter.

Miss Vivian Little has been added to the French department to take the place of Miss Margaret Bland, who is studying for her master's degree at the University of North Carolina. Miss Little, who received her B. A. from Agnes Scott in 1924, studied a year at the Sorbonne in Paris on a scholarship from the French Government.

Mr. Walter Rankin, formerly head of the Mathematics department, is at Duke University this year. In his place Agnes Scott has secured Mr. Henry Robinson, of Johns Hopkins University.

Miss Catherine Torrance, of the department of Greek and Latin, received her doctor's degree from Chicago University last June.

Miss Bertha Trebein, formerly professor of German, was married on April 8, 1926, to Mr. P. H. Flynn, of Xenia, Ohio.

Miss Mary Westall is a new member of the Biology department this fall. Miss Westall received her preliminary degrees from our sister college, Randolph-Macon, and her doctor's degree from the University of Chicago.

Miss Llewellyn Wilburn is head of the department of Physical Education. Miss Isabel Randolph, the former head, is absent on leave. She made a short trip to Europe and is now working on her doctor's degree. Miss Wilburn holds her master's degree from Columbia.

Concerning Ourselves

1893—Class secretary, Mary Barnett (Mrs. A. V. Martin), 171 S. Broad St., Clinton, S. C.

1894—Class secretary, Mary Neel (Mrs. W. J. Kendrick), Fort McPherson, Ga.

Katharine Logan (Mrs. John Edward Good), ex '94, is teaching in the school at Acworth, Ga. She writes: "I'm at present in the thick of the first month of school. My county has the consolidation fever, and a huge new bus made its first trip to the Acworth school this week, bringing in about forty children from the country. We have a handsome new addition to the school building, too."

1895—Class secretary, Winifred Quarterman, Waycross, Ga.

The secretary has just returned from a month's vacation spent in Charlotte, Asheville, and other points in the North Carolina mountains. Winifred is secretary for the Whitman Commission Co., in Waycross.

Attie Duval (Mrs. G. W. Lamar), ex '95, is living at 102 Franklin St., Quincey, Fla.

Mary Ella, the daughter of Clara Fuller (Mrs. T. M. Zellars), ex '95, was married this summer to Beaumont Davison, Jr., of Atlanta.

New street address for Mary Jones (Mrs. J. L. Campbell), ex '95: 1315 Fairview Road, Atlanta.

Helen Ramspeck (Mrs. Eugene Thomas), ex '95, is still in Plainfield, N. Y. Her husband is president of the U. S. Steel Products Company.

1896—Class secretary, Mary Ethel Davis, 820 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Isabelle Q. Atwood (Mrs. E. L. Cornman), ex '96, is an antiquary. She lives at Marietta, Pa.

Annie Emery (Mrs. R. O. Flynn), ex '96, has a daughter, Elizabeth Flournoy, in the freshman class of Agnes Scott this year.

1897—Class secretary, Cora Strong, N. C. C. W., Greensboro, N. C.

The secretary spent two weeks last summer in Bible study at the Assembly's Training School in Richmond, Va.

Claude Candler (Mrs. Branch McKinney), ex '97, will have a daughter, Caroline, to graduate from Agnes Scott this coming May. Her other child, Branch, Jr., is working with the Atlanta Lowry Bank.

Alice Coffin (Mrs. W. Frank Smith), ex '97, has a daughter, Sarah, in the Atlanta Debutante Club this season. Sarah was president of the graduating class at Agnes Scott last year. Alice's son, Frank, is studying at Emory University, and her other daughter, Alice, is teaching music in Atlanta, and is an active member of the Junior League.

Frances M. Griffith (Mrs. Ralph H. Graves), ex '97, is living at 28 Ingraham St., Hamstead, N. Y., and devoting herself to iris culture.

Louise Inglis (Mrs. M. A. Love), ex '97, has a son in the freshman class at Davidson College. She has one other child, a girl in High school, and headed for Agnes Scott. Louise is president of the Quincy Woman's Club, and chairman of the home extension work in the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mary Wells (Mrs. James B. Kuykendall), ex '97, is living at 1021 Crescent Ave., Charleston, W. Va.

The two daughters of Mary Love (Mrs. Ellis), ex '98, were married at a double ceremony in Quincey, Fla., on October 27th, 1926.

1899—Class secretary, Nellie Louise Mandeville (Mrs. C. K. Henderson), Carrollton, Ga.

Lucile Alexander is back at Agnes Scott as head of the French department, after a summer spent in Atlanta and the North Carolina mountains.

Holley, the daughter of Bernice Chivers (Mrs. C. B. Smith), is making her debut in Savannah, Ga., this winter.

Anais Cay (Mrs. Selden Jones), ex '99, has moved from Miami back to Atlanta, and is living in the Blackstone Apts., at 639 Peachtree St. She has a daughter, Anais Cay, in the junior class at Agnes Scott, and another daughter in grammar school.

Midge McAden (Mrs. J. C. Cothran), ex '99, has a daughter, Sallie, in the sophomore class at Agnes Scott.

Annie Wiley (Mrs. J. F. Preston), ex '99, has gone back to Korea to Dr. Preston's charge in Soonchun, after their year of leave. Annie left three children behind her in this country: Miriam, who will be graduated from Agnes Scott in May; Shannon, a freshman at Agnes Scott, and John Fairman, Jr., in the Darlington school at Rome, Ga., where he is preparing for Davidson College.

1900—Class secretary, Ethel Alexander (Mrs. Lewis Gaines), 18 Park Lane, Atlanta.

The secretary's oldest daughter, Eloise, is a junior at Agnes Scott this year.

Mary C. Barker was re-elected president of the American Federation of Teachers in June at the national convention in New York.

Daisy Caldwell (Mrs. Stewart McGinty), ex '00, is living at 849 Juniper St., N. E., Atlanta.

Julia Emery, ex '00, is living at Oxford, Ga.

1901—Class secretary, Adeline Arnold (Mrs. Charles Loridans), 16 E. Fifteenth St., Atlanta, Ga.

Mary Isabelle, the oldest daughter of Georgia Wills Kyser (Mrs. Lee Youngblood), is a member of the Freshman class at Agnes Scott.

Thyrza Askew, ex '01, is head of the North Avenue Presbyterian School for Girls in Atlanta. Ethel Ware, '22, Betty Floding, '21, and Grace Augusta Ouden, '26, are on our faculty, and the majority of the school's best students come to Agnes Scott.

Nettie Jones, ex '01, lost her mother this summer.

Ona Bell Welborn (Mrs. Homer Brett), ex '01, is living in Nottingham, England. Her husband is the American consul there.

1902—Class secretary, Laura Caldwell (Mrs. A. S. Edmunds), 240 King St., Portland, Oregon.

Daisy Strong, ex '02, has so far recovered from her recent hospital experience as to be able to take up her wood carving again.

1903—Class Secretary, Eileen Gober, 515 Cherokee St., Marietta, Ga.

The secretary is still connected with the King Leonard Insurance Company in Atlanta. She commutes from Marietta every day.

After her furlough in this country, Emily Winn has returned to her post in Chunju, Korea. Emily, Jane Curry, '04, and Elizabeth Curry (Mrs. J. A. Winn), '07, were together at Banner Elk, N. C., for the last few days before Emily sailed.

Nan Bagby Stephens, ex '03, is starting her second year as instructor of playwriting at Agnes Scott. Her class last year was so successful, that this year the course is included in the regular curriculum.

1904—Class secretary, Lois Johnson (Mrs. C. G. Aycock), 170 Penn Ave., Atlanta.

Lucile, the daughter of Virginia Butler (Mrs. C. F. Stone), is a member of the debutante club of Atlanta this winter.

Jane Curry, and Elizabeth Curry (Mrs. J. A. Winn), '07, spent a delightful vacation together at Banner Elk, N. C., in the Lees-McCrae Institute.

Annie Shapard is spending the winter at Columbia University studying rural supervision. Her New York address is 140 Claremont Ave., Apt. 63.

Willie Belle Campbell (Mrs. Walter Marshburn), ex '04, is living at 5975 Toxaway Drive, Miami, Fla.

Gertrude Pollard, ex '04, is back at the Atlanta Normal School, after a summer spent in travel in Europe.

1905—Class secretary, Mabel McKowen, Lindsay, La.

Sallie Strihling has resumed her work as Primary Supervisor in the city schools of Greenville, S. C., after a summer of study at Columbia University.

Emma Bell Dubose (Mrs. Palmer Johnson), ex '05, has been elected president of the Atlanta League of Women Voters. For some time she has been on the staff of "The Pilgrim," the official organ of the Georgia League.

1906—Class secretary—not yet elected for this year.

Ida Lee Hill (Mrs. I. T. Irvin, Jr.), visited the Alumnae House in October. All three of her children are in grammar school now; the little girl, Anne, is preparing for Agnes Scott.

May McKowen (Mrs. B. B. Taylor), came from Baton Rouge, La., last May for commencement at Agnes Scott.

Mary Kelly (Mrs. John Van de Erve), announces the birth of her first child, Janet, on October 12, 1926.

Carlotta Alexander, ex '06, is teaching in an open air school in Sarasota, Fla.

Louise Van Harlingen (Mrs. R. E. Ingersoll), ex '06, is living at 246 Gibbs Ave., Newport, R. I. Her husband is a captain in the United States Navy.

1907—Class secretary, Sarah Boals (Mrs. J. D. Spinks), 501 Glovia Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Rachel Young (Mrs. J. D. Gardner), is teaching in the school at Camilla, Ga., again this year. Her step-daughter, Lenore, is a sophomore at Agnes Scott.

Nell Battle (Mrs. John Manning Booker), ex '07, is back at Chapel Hill this year. Her husband is professor of English at the University of North Carolina. They have two little girls.

Gertrude Falligant (Mrs. C. H. Thompson), ex '07, has moved to 42 S. W. Twenty-first Road, Miami, Fla.

Julia Pratt (Mrs. G. W. Taylor), ex '07, who has been in this country for the past two years, sailed from New York in July to resume her work in Brazil.

Elizabeth Wylly (Mrs. H. S. Willingham), ex '07, is living in Marietta, Ga., and is an active member of the Marietta Agnes Scott Club. She has four children, Harold, Elizabeth, Charles and Campbell.

1908—Class secretary, Louise Shipp Chick, 306 C St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Jane Hays Brown writes from May's Landing, New Jersey: "I am organizing a library in Atlantic County, one of the most interesting counties in the east—everything from the seacoast resort town to Italian fruit farms, wide stretches of swamp and lakes and river, as well as coast, pine trees, and negro cabins. I drive a Ford book-car. Have a cottage on 'Main street' overlooking the river, and the latchstring is out to all Agnes Scott alumnae."

Louise Shipp Chick writes that she is living at the same place and working at the same office. She spent her vacation at Garrett-Williamson Lodge, two miles from Newton Square, Pa., and took in the Sesqui on her way home. She hopes to spend Christmas at home in Georgia.

Lizzabel Saxon and Rose Wood are teaching again in Atlanta.

Farris Davis, ex '08, is Woman's Editor of the Florida Times-Union, a daily paper at Quincy. She has a daily column called "Little Journeys with the Shops."

Nellie Taylor, ex '08, is now Mrs. Charles D. Evans, 4508 Glen Iris Blvd., Shreveport, La.

1909—Class secretary, Margaret McCallie, 611 Palmetto St., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Margaret McCallie is back home again teaching at the Bright School after a summer in Spain and Italy. She spent some time on the Island of Majorca, which she declares is the loveliest spot in the world. "After three months in those lovely languorous countries the prospect of coming back to bustling, efficient America was not very alluring, but I knew I was coming to a home that hadn't a radio to disturb an evening's tranquility and to a section of our land where still may be found, in spots at least, atmosphere and a pleasing lack of progress." Margaret has a niece, Mary, in the Freshman class at Agnes Scott this year.

Adelaide Nelson is living in Atlanta with her sister, Mrs. L. L. Knight, and her niece, Mary Knight, '22.

Hattie Lou Miller (Mrs. R. E. Martin), ex '09, is keeping house for her husband and two boys. Besides this, she is president of the P. T. A., leader of a study class at church, chairman of program committee of a study club, member of Recreation Board of the City of Columbus, and of various other affairs that keep her busy.

1910—Class secretary, Agnes Nicolassen (Mrs. T. J. Wharton), 1612 Sixth Ave., Bessemer, Ala.

Flora Crowe (Mrs. Overdown Whitmire), has moved to 216 Central Ave., New Haven, Conn. Since January, 1926, Flora has lived in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut, but being an ardent football fan, she is happily situated now right behind the Yale Bowl, so she warns us not to expect a new address—until the football season is over, at least. She spent the summer in the Finger Lake section of New York. Mr. Whitmire is manager of the Western Electric Company at New Haven.

Agnes Nicolassen (Mrs. T. J. Wharton), and her preacher husband are delighted with their new home in Bessemer.

Lucy Reagan (Mrs. H. P. Redwine), lost her father, Judge E. J. Redwine, in the spring. She herself spent much of the summer in the hospital, but is getting well now. "Certainly expect to be on hand to help 1910 take the cup again in 1920; we're sure to do it!"

Lida Caldwell (Mrs. G. E. Wilson), ex '10, has a new home at 900 Queens Road, in beautiful Myers Park, Charlotte, N. C.

The Howard Theatre in Atlanta set aside one day during College Week in October as Agnes Scott Day. As a special feature, there was a program of Agnes Scott songs, played on the Howard pipe organ, while the words were flashed on the screen. One of them was the beloved "Alma Mater," of course, written by Dorothea Snodgrass, ex '10.

1911—Class secretary, Theodosia Willingham (Mrs. W. W. Anderson), 63 Avery Drive, Atlanta, Ga.

Adelaide Cunningham writes: "I am about to graduate all over again, and fifteen years have only made me love and appreciate Agnes Scott all the more; for it is because of her guidance and training that I shall receive my M. A. in English from Columbia University this October. After I finished my thesis, exams., etc., this summer, I visited Louise (Wells) Parsons, my dear old Agnes Scott roommate who lives in West Orange, N. J., and we motored with her family down to Philadelphia to see the Sesqui." Adelaide is teaching in Atlanta again this winter.

Mary Wallace Kirk writes: "Just home from a lovely trip: first a few days with friends at Atlantic City, then in Maine, on Penobscot Bay in a lovely elm-shaded village, the first capital of Arcadia. Visited friends on Cape Cod, then two weeks in New York at the University Club. Met Miss Legate, now Mrs. Strickland, in front of Lord and Taylors, and had a lovely time at afternoon tea in her attractive Brooklyn apartment."

Hazel Brand (Mrs. T. F. Taylor), ex '11, writes from her new home in Columbus, Ga.: "After living in Europe and Maine and Massachusetts for the past five years, I am delighted to be once more in the South. And since I am so near Agnes Scott I hope to bring my two baby daughters there to register them for entrance in the future. Just before leaving New England I saw Louise (Wells) Parsons, '11, and Flora (Crowe) Whitmore, '10." Hazel's address is 1225 Munro Ave.

Florinne Brown, ex '11, visited her sister Fannie, ex '26, at Cincinnati in June on her way to spend the summer with her brother at Mimico Beach, Canada. She had several lovely motor trips, and is back at the Alumnae House this winter as manager of the Silhouette Tea Room.

Sadie Gober, ex '11, is at home in Marietta, Ga. She is devoting all her time to the writing of short stories. Under her guidance as president last winter, the Marietta Agnes Scott Club was organized.

Gussie O'Neal (Mrs. Lewis Johnson), ex '11, and Mr. Johnson spent the summer with Neal, their little boy, who is in a sanitarium school in Philadelphia. "We decided on Waynesville, N. C., as an excellent place for recuperation and enjoyed hikes, rides, good food, and all got fat—except the husband of the family, who had to pay the bills!" Gussie is assisting Mr. Johnson in the vice department at Agnes Scott again this winter.

Annie M. Parry, ex '11, is the manager of the correspondence bureau with the New York Edison Company. She lives at 130 East Fifty-seventh St., New York City.

1912—Class secretary, Marie MacIntyre (Mrs. J. T. Scott), Scottdale, Ga.

Cornelia Cooper is still at Judson College, Marion, Ala., as associate professor of English. "I'm back at Judson after a lovely three months with my family. My English work here is really lots of fun—as well as work! One of my classes is a journalism class, and they and I do the publicity work for the college. You should see our scrapbook! Last spring for one of their problems the class published an imitation newspaper, regulation size, which was printed as a supplement to the Selma Times-Journal and distributed to all its subscribers."

Annie Chapin McLane returned in August from a four months trip to Europe. She ran into Robina Gallacher, ex '14, in Paris.

Fannie G. Mayson (Mrs. D. B. Donaldson), held out as long as she could, but at the last meeting of the Atlanta Agnes Scott Club she appeared with bobbed hair.

Ruth Slack (Mrs. Hazen Smith), is studying for her degree in Vocational Education at Columbia University this winter. Her address is 500 Riverside Drive, International House.

Carol Stearns (Mrs. Harold Wey) couldn't let Fannie G. get ahead of her, so during the summer off came her long locks, too.

Hazel Murphy (Mrs. C. D. Elder), ex '12, visited her family in Ohio this summer.

Julia Pratt Smith (Mrs. S. B. Slack), ex '12, has moved into a lovely new brick home at 455 Clairmont Ave., Decatur. There is a big back yard with lots of woods for the little Slacks to play in.

Died—Pearl Vereen (Mrs. M. H. Stuart), ex '12, on August 23, 1926, in Faith Hospital, St. Petersburg, Fla.

The news of Pearl Vereen's death will come as a shock to all the girls who knew her at Agnes Scott. Death resulted from blood poisoning, which developed several days after an abscessed tooth had been extracted. Mr. and Mrs. Vereen, Pearl's parents, hurried to her from Moultrie, Ga., when they learned of her critical condition, but she was too desperately ill when they arrived to know them, and was unconscious until the end. Her body was brought back to her old home, Moultrie, for interment. Besides her husband, Dr. M. H. Stuart, she leaves three children, Harden, Ellen and Anne. It is hard for those who knew Pearl during her student days when she was so vividly alive, to realize that all that is mortal of her sleeps under a blanket of roses and lilies of the valley in the little Moultrie cemetery.

Janet Little (Mrs. Baker Farrar), ex '12, has three splendid little boys between eleven and three. Her husband is cashier of the bank at Summerville, Ga.

1913—Class secretary, Allie Candler (Mrs. J. S. Guy), 1669 North Decatur Road, Druid Hills, Atlanta, Ga.

The secretary is kept very busy looking after her professor husband, her lovely home, and her three small children. "How I hate to see cold weather and short days come! I no sooner get my three all buttoned and bundled up and out in the yard to play than it is time to call them in and unbutton and unbundle. Three children all under six years fill every minute of the day."

Mary Enzor (Mrs. L. D. Bynum) taught history in the Troy State Normal School, Troy, Ala., during the spring and summer. She is keeping house and doing club and church work.

Frances Dukes (Mrs. P. M. Wynne) and her family are still in Asheville, N. C.

Emma Pope Moss (Mrs. C. W. Dieckmann) was recently elected president of the Fine Arts Club in Decatur.

Eleanor Pinkston (Mrs. C. A. Stokes) has moved from Columbus to Fort McPerson, Ga. The Agnes Scott Club in Atlanta is rejoicing over the move, as Eleanor is now close enough to come to club meetings. She has a small daughter, Regina, about four years old.

Margaret Roberts (Mrs. Warren C. Graham) has moved to 8702 Pine St., New Orleans, La.

Lavalette Sloan (Mrs. Harlin Tucker) writes: "The youngsters, Nancy Pope, Jean and I had a gorgeous summer in Wisconsin on the lake. Lived in a cedar-log cabin, which made us moth-proof, slept under blankets every night, lived in the water and by log fires, and came back home many pounds to the good!"

Helen Smith (Mrs. J. W. Taylor) has moved to 3220 Midlothian Ave., Palma Ceia Park, Tampa, Fla.

1914—Class secretary, Lottie May Blair (Mrs. S. C. Lawton), Box 1412, Greenville, S. C.

Florence Brinkley writes: "I am back at Goucher for another year's work after a wonderful summer on the continent and in England. I spent almost five weeks in London doing some research work which yielded some very satisfactory results."

Charlotte Jackson's family have moved to Memphis—847 Adams Ave. She is still traveling out of Louisville as Life Work Secretary of Christian Education and Ministerial Relief of the Presbyterian church.

Annie Tait Jenkins is back in Crystal Springs after a full summer of work and travel. After Agnes Scott commencement was over, she went to Gulfport, Miss., as bursar for the Girl Reserve Conference held at Gulf Park, going from there to the Vicksburg Y. M. C. A. camp near Port Gibson. Annie Tait was director there, and had as one of her assistants Catherine Graeber, '26. "The last of July mother and I left on a wonderful trip through the East and into Canada. We visited Niagara Falls, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, Philadelphia, New York and Washington. Ran up to Catherine Graeber again in the East Room of the White House! Came home by Charlottesville, Montreat, Atlanta and Agnes Scott. The winter promises to be full of interesting work. My latest job is treasurer of the Mississippi Council of District Young Women's Christian Associations, which directs the Girl Reserve work in this state. Then there's local and state church and club work. I am to study voice this winter, too."

Kathleen Kennedy is back at Grundy Presbyterian School, Grundy, Va., as Latin teacher. "Louise Ash, '17, Louisa Faucette, ex '16, and Dorothy Scott, ex '23, and I are trying to hold up Agnes Scott ideals up here in this mountain mission school. We have a great time together. Elizabeth Bell Sydenstricker, sister of Peg (Bell) Hanna, '21, is here with us, too."

Martha Rogers (Mrs. Henry Noble, Jr.), writes: "I know you'll all envy me, for I'm taking a sabbatical year from housekeeping, and Mary and Anne and I are all going to school in New York. The girls are in a lovely private school, while I am getting some credits for my M. A. at Columbia. Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12, is in my Educational Psychology class. We spent a day not long ago with Marguerite (Wells) Bishop, '14, at her new home in Rutherford. Her children are precious, and how mine did enjoy her attic! Any Agnes Scott girls in New York this winter be sure to look me up." Martha's address is 420 W. 116th St., Westminster Hotel.

Robina Gallacher, ex '14, spent the summer in Europe as a member of an exclusive party conducted by her uncle, Dr. George Lang, of the University of Alabama. They toured France, Italy, Switzerland and England. Robina speaks very feelingly of flying across the English channel and says she will swim across before she will be persuaded to get in an aeroplane again. She met up with Annie Chapin McLane, '12, in Paris.

1915—Class secretary, Martha Brenner (Mrs. J.

N. Shryock), 1018 N. Main St., Ppt. 2, Evans-ton, Ill.

The secretary sent out cards to all the class members with the following results. She hopes that the delinquent ones will feel so heartily ashamed of themselves for not returning their cards in time for this Quarterly that they will send them in for the next edition, simply bursting with trips to Europe, Asia and Africa, new homes, new husband, new babies, and other items of interest.

Marion Black (Mrs. A. L. Cantelou): "My report must needs be most prosaic. The summer has been spent in cooking and sterilizing for my young son who has the appetite of a day-laborer. All spare moments are spent pulling him out by the heels from inconceivably small spaces."

Martha Brenner (Mrs. J. N. Shryock): "We went on our annual trip east, stopping in Philadelphia for one night, and in New York for a day, then on to New Haven and Sachem's Head, Conn. We had a Shryock reunion and a glorious vacation. On the return trip we stopped in Altoona, Pa., so had the mountains as well as the ocean."

Gertrude Briesnick (Mrs. J. H. Ross) spent the summer with her mother in Shelton, Conn. She came over to visit Martha Brenner at Sachem's Head and brought her son, who is quite a young gentleman. Gertrude expects to build or buy a home this fall.

Annie Pope Bryan (Mrs. Milton Scott): "From choice, our family stayed at home all summer and enjoyed the comforts of home life, so you see we didn't find it necessary to rest after a summer vacation." Annie Pope's third daughter, Nellie Louise, was born October 23, 1926.

Sallie Carrere (Mrs. J. S. Bussey, Jr.): "We have just come home from spending our vacation in Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York. We had a grand time at the Sesqui, and seeing shows in New York. Came home by boat to Savannah."

Jessie Ham: "I am in my same place, with the Library of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in Washington, D. C. Just now, I am on a vacation in Florida. My mother and I have a cottage overlooking the ocean about seventeen miles north of Palm Beach."

Mary Hamilton: "I am back in Columbia, S. C., teaching in the High School. Visited Margaret Phythian, '16, all summer and then went on a motor trip through Indiana, Ohio, New York and New England."

Grace Esther Harris (Mrs. W. L. Durant): "The Durants bought themselves a home early this summer, and consequently have done nothing else. The new address is 60 Bradford Ave., Mobile, Ala."

Mary Hyer (Mrs. J. E. Vick): "Our vacation was spent at Daytona Beach, within speaking distance of home. It proved quite delightful: the usual bathing, fishing, crabbing and other activities. The boys kept me busy most of the time, and now that school has started I am back in harness for the winter. Florida is still a great place."

Mary Kelly (Mrs. E. L. Coleman): "I was away six weeks this summer. Visited in Hendersonville, N. C., stopped in Washington going and coming home.—Made a short trip to Gettysburg. We had a marvelous time in New York, went up to Yale, went to ball games and tennis matches and felt like a college girl again. From New Haven we went to Boston and then back to New York by bus, ending up with a glorious visit at Atlantic City where I attended the National Biennial of General Federation of Women's Clubs. It was a wonderful experience. Back to North Carolina again in August. Now I'm home again and very busy with the winter's work. Have just been elected president of the Three Arts Club here."

Henrietta Lambdin (Mrs. Hugh Turner): "We have moved back to McDonough. Spent a very quiet summer. The children and I went to Barnesville for a month and passed the rest of the vacation in Atlanta. My son is in the fourth grade, so we expect to have a busy winter. Since our return to McDonough, I have been elected treasurer of the local P. T. A. and vice president of the Woman's Club."

Mildred McGuire (Mrs. L. G. Bulgin): "This has been a summer of readjustments for me, as I left the hospital last February and 'came to life again!' I am almost well and have to be very careful, so my days are rather uneventful. I have had several trips this summer—one to the Pacific Coast, and have just returned from a hunting trip where my husband did all the hunting. He got a big buck and we are living on venison now. Lawrence is building a big linen mill in Salem, one of the first in the United States."

Kate Richardson (Mrs. J. J. Wicker, Jr.): "The family' and I are just back home after spending the summer in the North Carolina mountains near Asheville. We drove down in our car and had a really wonderful trip. This is the first summer in four years I have had with the children, for I usually go along to Europe with my husband, and they are too young for that yet. I especially enjoyed them and their antics during the summer."

Mary Helen Schneider (Mrs. Ben Head) has moved back to Atlanta from Miami. Her address is Russell Apts., W. Peachtree St.

Mary Nancy West (Mrs. S. E. Thatcher) was elected president of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association in May at the annual meeting. She and little Sammy had a glorious summer near Chattanooga. Mary took her cook along and kept house. She and Emily (Miller) Smith, ex '19, Lois (Leavitt) Ragan, ex '19, Frances (Thatcher) Moses, '17, K. Seay, '18, and Mary Helen (Sizer) Tabor, ex '18, had a reunion at Fairyland Inn, Lookout Mountain.

1916—Class secretary, Louise Hutcheson, 1841 Pendleton Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

The class of 1916 had a glorious reunion last commencement, topping a week-end of luncheons and meetings and fun with such a good stunt and the record attendance on Alumnae Day, thereby winning the coveted loving cup. Emmee (Branham) Carter, Laura (Cooper) Christopher, Margaret (Fields) Wilkinson, Eloise (Gay) Brawley, Mary Ellen (Harvey) Newton, Charis (Hood) Barwick, Anne (McClure) Simpson, Margaret Phythian, Malinda Roberts and Clara (Whips) Dunn, celebrated their tenth year reunion together at the College.

Lucile Boyd (Mrs. Edward Okel) writes: "I feel as if I am back at A. S. C., as my youngest sister, Miriam, has entered. She should feel perfectly at home as three of us preceded her—myself, Minnie Clare, '19, and Maud, ex '24."

Mary Bryan (Mrs. L. M. Winn) is secretary of the Birmingham Agnes Scott Club.

Alma Vivian Buchanan (Mrs. T. R. Brown) announces the birth of her first child, Thomas Rush, Jr., born September 14, 1926, in Stamps, Ark.

Nell Frye (Mrs. J. B. Johnston) moved in May from Atlanta to 307 Henry Ave., Tampa, Fla. She is substituting in the Tampa High School. Nell has three boys, the baby being two and a half years old.

Maryellen Harvey (Mrs. Henry Newton) has moved to Waycross, Ga.

Charis Hood (Mrs. A. W. Barwick) writes: "My address will be Des Plaines, Illinois, after November, for Mr. Barwick has accepted a call to the First Congregational Church there. It is a suburb nine miles northwest of Chicago."

Anne McClure (Mrs. O. O. Simpson) is teaching again in the High School at Norcross, Ga. Her twin daughters, Martha and Sue, are in the third grade grammar school, and her baby, Ollie III, has just entered the first grade.

Helen Allison (Mrs. W. S. Brown), ex '16, announces the birth of a son, Clarence Armstrong, on May 6th, 1926, at Pine Bluffs, Wyoming. Helen is planning to visit her old home at Franklin, N. C., this winter, and to stop by Agnes Scott on the way.

Elizabeth Bogle (Mrs. Herman Weil), ex '16, announces the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Anne, on August 15th, 1926, at Goldsboro, N. C.

Susie Christie (Mrs. R. Z. Taylor), ex '16, announces the birth of a daughter, Virginia, on September 23, 1926.

Mildred Doe (Mrs. A. F. Scogin), ex '16, is living at R. F. D. 8, Grove Park, Birmingham, Ala. Her husband is the manager of the Retail Credit Co. They have one son.

Louise Faucette, ex '16, is teaching at Grundy Presbyterian School, Grundy, Va.

DeVany Pope (Mrs. M. F. Wright), ex '16, writes: "I left home about August 1st and went to Philadelphia to visit relatives and to take in the Sesqui. Then I spent five weeks in Atlantic City, where my husband joined me with the car. From there we motored home to Arkansas, stopping at Washington, D. C., in Virginia and in Georgia."

Martha G. Ross (Mrs. J. M. Boyce), ex '16, has moved to 72 Peachtree Place, Atlanta.

1917—Class secretary, Laurie Caldwell (Mrs. J. H. Tucker), R. F. D. 5, Box 1055, Tampa, Fla.

May, 1927, is going to be here before you know it, and we must be back at Agnes Scott in large numbers for that tenth reunion. The class of 1916 won the attendance cup at their tenth reunion last year, and we can't let any other tenth reunion bunch do more than we can. We were the largest class that had ever graduated from Agnes Scott, and although over a hundred are in the senior class this year of our Lord 1926, our forty seemed an imposing number back in 1917. Plan definitely to come back in May for reunion, and begin doing the planning now!

Louise Ash is teaching at Grundy Presbyterian School, Grundy, Va.

All the street numbers in Atlanta have been changed recently. Jane Harwell (Mrs. Walter Rutlan) drew 1495 Lanier Place, N. E., and Isabel Dew, 915 Adair Ave., N. E.

Agnes Scott Donaldson is moving from Colorado Springs to Los Angeles, California.

India Hunt was married on September 17, 1926, in Atlanta, Ga., to Dr. Franklin Green Balch, Jr. Evelyn Pratt (Mrs. E. L. Secrest) and Rebecca Shive were attendants. After the ceremony a formal reception was held at East Lake Country Club, after which India and Dr. Balch left in their car for a wedding journey, which included a week at Grove Park Inn, at Asheville, and several weeks at their summer place, Birch Knoll, Choocua, in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. Dr. Balch was graduated from Harvard College in 1918 and from Harvard Medical School in 1923. He served overseas in the world war as first lieutenant in the field artillery and is now in practice of general surgery at Boston, Mass. India's new address is 210 Riverway, Boston.

On June 30, 1926, Willie Belle Jackson was married to Fonville McWhorter at her home in Gainesville, Ga. After a wedding trip north, they lived in Miami for a short time, and are now at 820 Piedmont Ave., Atlanta. Mr. McWhorter is in the investment department of the Adair Realty and Trust Company, of Atlanta.

Mary McIver (Mrs. E. C. Luster) is still in Miami. She receives mail care Caribbean Studios, 603 City National Bank Bldg.

Jan Newton is doing secretarial work in Savannah, Ga.

Spott Payne is again at Lucy Cobb Institute, Rome, Ga., as one of the four deans. She has bought an automobile, and motors down to Atlanta and Agnes Scott frequently for week-ends.

Margaret Pruden is in Baltimore studying for her Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins. Her address for the winter is care Mrs. S. J. Poe, Stoney Run Lane, Baltimore, Md.

Augusta Skeen is back at Agnes Scott in the chemistry department. Spott Payne is not the only affluent member of '17, for Augusta has a new car, too.

May Smith is studying medicine at the University of Chicago. Her address is 1205 East Sixtieth St.

Frances Thatcher (Mrs. A. J. Moses) has just moved into her new home, in Chattanooga. She is teaching in Miss Bright's school.

Georgiana White (Mrs. W. I. Miller) announces the birth of her fifth child, W. I. Miller, Jr. Georgiana now has three girls and two boys.

Vallie Young White (Mrs. E. S. Archibald) has one child, Edward, an adorable little four-year-old daughter with red hair. Vallie Young is one member of '17 who is surely coming to that May reunion, and little Edward is coming, too! Vallie Young's family built a new home in Birmingham during the summer. Her address is now 3505 Eighth Court, South.

Martha Bishop, ex '17, is convalescing at her home in Sheffield, Ala., from a major operation.

Euphemia Ganson (Mrs. M. G. Brittain) ex '17, has two children, a boy and a girl. The little girl expects to come to Agnes Scott some day. Euphemia has a half-sister, Mary Mackey Hough, in the junior class now.

Carmen Graves, ex '17, is Mrs. A. S. Sarre, 1503 Valmont St., New Orleans, La.

Katherine Hay (Mrs. W. E. Rouse), ex '17, writes: "After five weeks on the St. Lawrence (Thousand Islands), a trip to Philadelphia to see the Sesqui, and two days in New York, I feel as if I had seen the world. Pretty good for an old married lady."

Georgia Hewson, ex '17, sailed in August on the S. S. President Grant for Korea.

1918—Class secretary, Margaret Leyburn, 110 E. Fifth St., Atlanta, Ga.

Lois Grier writes: "I had a wonderful summer traveling in Europe. Now I am teaching mathematics at Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens, Ga." Lois' address is 315 Harris St.

Emma Jones (Mrs. H. F. Smith) sends a "charming picture of charming baby and charming husband" from her home in Montgomery, Ala. Besides looking after the husband and eight-month-old baby, Emma finds time to study pipe organ. Her new address is 121 Sayre St.

Katherine Seay spent the summer in Canada, as at home in Nashville this fall, and after Christmas will study in New York.

Emma Katherine Anderson, ex '18, and her sister, Julia Anderson, ex '17, are at home in Marietta this winter. They contribute many lovely hand-made things to the Woman's Exchange in Atlanta.

Virginia Haugh (Mrs. C. W. Franklin), ex '18, is keeping house at 220 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sarah Patton, ex '18, is teaching voice in Marietta.

1919—Class secretary, Almeda Hutcheson, 220 S. McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.

Louise Felker (Mrs. R. C. Mizell) has moved from Valdosta to 16 West Andrews Drive, Atlanta.

Mary Ford (Mrs. W. J. Kennerly) has been living in Montevallo, Ark., for the past six years. "The arrival of Miss Mary Jean Kennerly seventeen months ago has been the big event of my life, with the prospects of completion of a new home within the next few days running a close second. My husband heads the chemistry department in the State College for Women here."

Mary Brock Mallard is working now with M. Rich & Bros., the largest department store in Atlanta. She writes copy for their advertising department. Mary Brock and Margaret Leyburn, '18, have a new apartment at 110 E. Fifth St.

Virginia Newton is teaching English at the Woman's College in Montevallo, Ala.

Trueheart Nicolassen spent her summer vacation in Chicago. She is back in Atlanta at her old job with D. C. Heath Co.

Elizabeth Pruden (Mrs. J. P. Fagan) has moved to 102 Montgomery Ferry Drive, Atlanta.

Sue Ethel Rea writes from Mathews, N. C.: "I am still teaching English in the Charlotte High School, where I have been ever since I was graduated from Agnes Scott. Since my father's death last fall we are staying at our old home in the country, fifteen miles from Charlotte, and I drive my Ford coupe back and forth every day. A number of my best students are at Agnes Scott now, and more are going next year. We are so glad to have Louise Duls, '26, on our faculty this year."

Margaret Rowe (better known as "Peanut") writes: "I had a job last winter writing ads for patent medicines and beauty creations. I adored the job and found myself at the end of the winter using paint and powder—whenever I had time to put them on. I left my work the end of May, paid a month's visit to Olive Hardwick, '18, who has a parson husband, the best baby I know of, and a thrilling life in a mining camp at Bisbee, Arizona. Next I went to a girls' camp for two months,—Mary Katherine Parks and Lucy Durr were there also. K. Seay, '18, Annie White Marshall, '18, Annie Houston, '20, Isabel (Carr) Battles, '21, Lois (Leavitt) Ragan, ex '19, Mildred Goodrich, ex '20, and I had a reunion this summer."

Julia Lake Skinner is working at the Peace Memorial Church, Clearwater, Fla., teaching Bible, and doing other Religious Educational Work.

Frances Sledd (Mrs. J. W. Blake) writes that her little family came safely through the Florida hurricane.

Dorothy Thigpen (Mrs. E. B. Shea) writes from Milwaukee that keeping a house and looking after Charles Thigpen Shea and Elizabeth Shea occupies all her time.

Marguerite Watts (Mrs. F. S. Cooper) has just returned from a most interesting vacation trip. She and her husband and his parents spent the summer traveling in Europe. Mail will reach her addressed to Box 18, Rome, Ga.

Llewellyn Wilburn is back at Agnes Scott as head of the Physical Educational Department.

Ruth Hillhouse, ex '19, has entered the Assembly's Training School at Richmond, Va., to prepare herself as a worker in the Presbyterian Church, specializing in work with college women. For the past two years Ruth has been teaching at the East Carolina Teachers' College in Greenville, N. C., and prior to that she worked as critic teacher at the Maryland State Normal at Towson, Md. Ruth has a sister, Nell, in the junior class at Agnes Scott this year.

Dorothy Mitchell, ex '19, is at the Parnassus Club, 605 W. 115th St., New York City.

Elizabeth Reid (Mrs. C. L. LeBey), ex '19, is the author of one of the stories published in "The Cost of Vanity and Other Stories," a new book by southerners, gotten out by Hancock & Hubbard, in Atlanta.

Amaryllis Peay (Mrs. P. L. Armstrong), ex '19, is living at Normal, Tenn.

Lois Leavitt (Mrs. J. B. Ragan, Jr.), ex '19, is keeping house at Lookout Mountain, Tenn. She has one little girl.

1920—Class secretary, Mary Burnett (Mrs. W. L. Thorington), Taft, Texas.

Margaret Bland has a leave of absence from the Agnes Scott French department and is working for her Master's degree at the University of North Carolina this winter. She has one class with the Carolina Playmakers also. Her address is 215 Women's Building, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Alice Cooper is back south this winter after a year in New York. She is living at home and writing advertising copy for Johnson-Dallas Printing Company.

Romola Davis is still in the real estate business in Clearwater, Fla. She and Julia Lake Skinner, '19, see each other often.

Juliet Foster (Mrs. G. W. Speer) writes: "Just at present I have a dreadful mania for painting. Have just finished my breakfast room suite, and unless the paint gives out half the things in my house will soon be blue and yellow."

Jule Hagood (Mrs. Reynolds Cuthbertson) and her husband visited the College recently on a trip to Atlanta. Jule has been to see Gertrude (Manly) McFarland in Dalton.

Lulie Harris (Mrs. D. G. Henderson) writes from Guntersville, Ala.: "I have acquired a new home and a new baby this summer. The baby is David George Henderson, Jr., and was born May 5th in Atlanta at the Georgia Baptist Hospital. My two little girls are Lulie, aged four, and Mary Jane, nineteen months. I'm certainly enjoying my new home."

Louise Johnson was married on June 24, 1926, to Dr. J. C. Blalock. They are to live in Atlanta, at 1194 North Ave., N. E.

Marion MacPhail received her M. A. in French at Columbia last June. This winter she is teaching at Hood College, Frederick, Maryland.

Marion McCamy writes from Dalton: "Just now I am busy writing advertising for the S. and S. Letter Service Corporation. I've deserted teaching for good; 'ad' writing is so much more lucrative and so much less wearing!"

Gertrude Manly (Mrs. James McFarland) is radiantly happy over her new baby and her new home. "Please let me brag about little Gertrude Manly McFarland, who arrived July 19th. She can't be beat for cuteness and smartness. Reserve a room in Rebekah Scott for her in 1942. Second in importance, we are doing our best to wear the shiny look off a new house and get it to the comfortable old-looking stage. Next to the baby and the house, I'm proudest of the lovely Italian banquet cloth Martha Lin brought me from Florence."

Virginia McLaughlin wound up a year's teaching in Montreat in June and immediately sailed for Europe. After a wonderful summer abroad, she is working in Washington, D. C., for the winter.

Margery Moore (Mrs. W. A. McAulay) says that her new daughter is quite as sweet as Gertrude (Manly) McFarland's. "We enjoyed the month we spent in Decatur this summer with my family. Of course I showed A. S. C. to my daughter, and her to the College, and they were mutually pleased. I can't wait for McAulay and McFarland to be right next to each other on the freshman class roll of 1942. Being a mother, housekeeper, and minister's wife keeps me busy and happy."

Julia Reasoner (Mrs. H. H. Hastings) announces the birth of Norman Reasoner Hastings, on December 7, 1925.

Eugenia Peed is librarian in the Inman Park branch of the Carnegie Library in Atlanta.

Margaret Sanders was married on June 15th, 1926, to Mr. Robert Bruce Brannon, in DuVall's Bluff, Arkansas. "My husband is pastor at Calvert, Texas, but is still going to school at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Austin, Texas, so we shall be here for the winter. I am taking courses in Bible, Church History and Religious Education myself, and surely am enjoying them. It's nice to be in classes instead of teaching them." Margaret's address this winter is 2623 Woolridge, Austin, Texas.

Louise Slack had a serious operation for sinus trouble during the summer.

Margaret Winslett finished at White Bible School in New York last year, and sailed during the summer for mission work in China.

Gladys Brown (Mrs. E. K. Proctor), ex '20, writes from Whiteville, N. C.: "We have acquired a new baby, and though he isn't the daughter we ordered, he is such a beautiful boy and is so good we had to forgive him. He is named Joe Brown Proctor for my father, and he was born the twenty-first of May, 1926. So you see, with two fine boys, and the prize husband, I have my hands full."

Alice Slater Cannon, ex '20, was married on June 9th, 1926, to W. Gettys Guille, the brother of Emily Guille, '23. Alice Slater has the same address—202 S. Fulton St., Salisbury, N. C.

Marion Conklin, M. D., ex '20, writes from Miami Beach: "After a six thousand mile motor trip through the northeast, we got home ten days after the Florida storm. Our home is slightly damaged. I guess we missed the experience of a life time, but let you believe all the papers printed, let me hasten to state that we are still very much on the map and out clean-up for the tourists this year is on a much vaster scale than ever before." Marion has just opened an office in the Wynne-Claughton Bldg. in Atlanta for the practice of osteopathy.

1921—Class secretary, not yet elected.

The former secretary, Frances Charlotte Markley, has sailed for China with the intention of being gone several years. She is to teach in St. Mary's Hall, 61 Brenan Road, Shanghai. Frances Charlotte took a horseback trip through the Canadian Rockies this summer. Since she is to be so far away, it is impractical for her to continue her duties as secretary for a few years. Until a new secretary is selected, address all communications about 1921 either to Almee D. Glover (Mrs. A. D. Little), Marietta, Ga., or direct to the Alumnae Office at the College.

Caroline Acee is teaching at St. Mary's Episcopal School at Raleigh, North Carolina. Caroline received her M. A. at Columbia last year.

Peg Bell (Mrs. C. M. Hanna) has moved to Raphine, Virginia, as her husband has accepted a call to the New Providence Church there. The last two pastors of this church were Ellen Wilson's father, and Margaret (McLaughlin) Hogshead's father. Peg's second son, Edwin Bell, was born October 20, 1926.

Thelma Brown writes from 1021 Columbia Ave., Atlanta: "I am at last doing the thing I have always longed to do—teach piano. My studio is here at home and I am very proud of my twenty-one pupils, and my Steinyard grand. I am studying, too, with Miss Rosita Renard."

Eleanor Carpenter is making quite a name for herself up in Kentucky and the surrounding states as a harpist. She has recently returned from a concert tour, and is at home now in Louisville, where she is teaching several pupils and continuing her study, too.

Isabel Carr (Mrs. B. G. Battles) had a group of old college friends at her home in Harriman, Tenn., this summer for a reunion. K. Seay, '18, Annie White Marshall, '18, Anne Houston, '20, Lois Leavitt (Mrs. J. B. Ragan), ex '19, Dougie Goodrich, ex '20, and "Peanut" Rowe, '19, met at Jez's home.

Marion Cawthon is teaching in St. Augustine, Fla.

Marguerite Cousins is teaching again at Due West Woman's College, Due West, S. C.

Elizabeth Enloe (Mrs. Gerald MacCarthy) writes from Chapel Hill, N. C.: "We have just moved again. This time we have four hungry fireplaces and a kitchen stove that will soon have to be fed. Also we have a big yard with ten maple trees, an old well, and a barn. So much for the house and lot. As to more important news, my daughter has one tooth and weighs twenty and one-half pounds, which is quite enough to carry. We spent the summer in Ann Arbor, where Mr. MacCarthy taught geology in the summer session of the University of Michigan."

Betty Floding comes out to the College frequently. She is teaching again at North Avenue Presbyterian School in Atlanta.

Sarah Fulton is teaching at Bass Junior High in Atlanta.

Aimee D. Glover (Mrs. D. Leon Little) has been elected president of the Marietta Woman's Club, which is a very live, ambitious organization. Among other things, the club is raising money now to build a club house, and Aimee D. is in the thick of engineering benefit bridges, bazaars, and circuses. She and Sadie Gober, ex '11, came down to the College and the Alumnae House for Hugh Walpole's lecture in October.

Mary Louise Green is spending this winter at home.

Dorothy Havis (Mrs. J. C. McCullough) had her sister, Josephine, '24, to visit her in New York this summer. Then Dorothy came home with Josephine, and stayed some time in Atlanta.

Peg Hedrick (Mrs. William Nichols) announces the birth of her second child, Peggy Mae, on June 11th, 1926. Peg is living at 1134 Seventh Ave., Bristol, Tenn. Her sister Mary is a senior at Agnes Scott this year.

Eugenia Johnston (Mrs. George Griffin) has moved from Tifton to the Virginia Apts., Georgia Ave., Chattanooga, Tenn. Mr. Griffin is coach at the McCallie School for Boys there.

Mary Anne Justice (Mrs. Clarence Miracle) writes from Robbinsville, N. C.: "We have left the Kentucky mountains and are now in Western North Carolina. Our bark cottage at Linville Falls is completed and we spent part of last June over there. Mike is surveying, I am teaching, and we are both keeping house. We have an air-dale and a saddle horse, and are enjoying life immensely."

Martha Laing is at home this winter in Lewisburg, W. Va.

Anna Marie Landress (Mrs. W. R. Cate) writes from Nashville, Tenn.: "Since the ever-to-be remembered reunion at Agnes Scott last May, many changes have taken place in our plans. My husband's father died very suddenly on May 30th, and we have resigned from the mission work in Korea. Dr. Cate is opening offices in the Lambeth Building here in Nashville, and plans to do general medical practice. Our home address is 2214 Dixie Place." Anna Marie and her husband and two children returned from Korea this spring on their first furlough, and almost the first place she came to was Agnes Scott for her fifth year reunion. Dr. Cate attended his reunion at Emory University a week later.

Jean McAlister went to Europe this summer with Nell Buchanan's party. She is teaching in the High School at home in Greensboro, N. C., this winter. Clara Mae Allen, '23, is on the same faculty.

Fannie McCaa is spending the summer and winter in a round of visits. In October she visited Trueheart Nicolassen, '19, in Atlanta, and Miss Leslie Gaylord at Agnes Scott. She was then on her way to visit in Richmond, Va.

Margaret McLaughlin (Mrs. W. H. Hogshead) writes: "My new address is Natural Bridge, Virginia, and my new home Marshall Cottage on the hotel green, so do drop by to see us when you come to see the bridge—you and all the others." Mr. Hogshead is the manager of the Natural Bridge Hotel.

Charlotte Newton had a trip to Atlantic City and Philadelphia during the early fall. She is librarian again at the University of Florida.

Theresa Newton is teaching again at Miss Woodberry's School for Girls in Atlanta.

Janef Preston has returned to Agnes Scott English department after a year at Columbia. She visited Margaret Bland, '20, in Charlotte during the summer, and saw many Agnes Scott people at Montreal.

Julie Saunders (Mrs. R. Glenn Dickerson) writes from Valdosta, Ga.: "I have a new little red brick home, new furniture throughout, new flowers and shrubbery around it. These and my husband take most of my thought and time." Julie's new street address is 1408 N. Slater St.

Clothile Spence (Mrs. J. L. Barksdale, Jr.) came safely through the Florida hurricane, and is as much in love with Miami as ever.

Martha Stansfield went to Europe last summer with Miss Lewis and Miss Harn, of the Agnes Scott Faculty. They met Miss Gaylord in Florence. Martha is back in the Latin department at Agnes Scott this winter.

Margaret Wade is teaching at Surgoinville, Tenn., again.

Marguerite Watkins (Mrs. W. F. Goodman) and Julia Watkins (Mrs. Harry Huber), ever inseparable, announce the birth of daughters on August 7, 1926, born just one-half hour apart. Marguerite named hers Julia, and Julia named hers Margaret. Julia has a new address—906 Cleveland St., St. Charles, La. Her husband has the Buick automobile agency there.

Helen Wayt is at home in Atlanta, keeping house and working for the Atlanta Agnes Scott Club as secretary.

Frances Whitfield (Mrs. H. M. Elliott) has moved from Cartersville, Ga.

Ellen Wilson is taking her last year at the White Bible School in New York.

1922—Class secretary, Julia Jameson, 1046 West End Ave., Franklin, Tenn.

Agnes Adams is teaching violin in Decatur, and is in great demand at entertainments, weddings, etc.

Jeannette Archer is in charge of the operating room at the Biltmore Hospital in Asheville, N. C. She visited Agnes Scott in the spring. Jeannette is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital Nurses Training School in New York City.

Helen Barton (Mrs. E. McC. Claytor) writes from Edgefield, S. C.: "The Alumnae Quarterly has never announced the arrival of my dear little baby girl. She was born January 16, 1926, and is named for me, Helen Barton Claytor. She is a big girl now and the prettiest, sweetest thing you ever saw."

Mary Barton is taking a year's training in Library Service in the new graduate school at Columbia University. "It is most interesting and Johnson Hall is a lovely place to stay. We have been having lots of fun this week before classes start." Mary's address is 411 W. 116th St., New York City.

Elizabeth Brown came up for the opening of College in September to install her little sister, Frances, as a member of the freshman class. Liz is to be at home in Fort Valley this winter.

Nell Buchanan conducted another party to Europe this past summer. Jean McAlister, '21, Lilla Simms, ex '25, and Idelle Bryant, '25, were members of the party. Nell has a full-time position with the Brownell Tour people and will arrange any sort of a tour for anybody. At present she is working on a three months Mediterranean cruise and general European tour, beginning in March. She visited Agnes Scott in November.

Margaret Colville is at home in McMinnville, Tenn., this winter. She was in Birmingham for Elizabeth Ransom's wedding in June.

Edythe Davis (Mrs. E. L. Croley) is still in Dallas, Texas. She has a young daughter, Miriam Anne Croley.

Eunice Dean (Mrs. Harold Major) soundly scolds the editor for never having announced the arrival of Hal, Jr. "According to you, he isn't even born! And he has just passed his year and a half birthday! The baby specialist who examined him said he was a perfect physical specimen, and was a pound and fourteen ounces heavier than the average eighteen-month-old boy. Wait till you are a proud mother and you'll understand all my bragging."

Ruth Evans spent the summer in Europe.

Otta Gilbert (Mrs. C. F. Williams) and Jessie Watts (Mrs. J. W. Rustin), ex '23, see each other frequently, as their husbands are both Methodist preachers in the same Virginia conference.

Ivlyn Girardeau is back at Tulane University for her second year in the Medical School. She is living at 906 Lowerline, New Orleans.

Frances Harper spent the summer studying at the Louisiana State University. This winter she is teaching all the Latin—about a hundred and ten pupils—at the Baton Rouge High School. Her address is 1018 Camelia Ave. "I spent a wonderful summer at L. S. U., steeping myself in history, Roman and Renaissance, and became so enamored of it that I am taking a reading course in the first and am planning to translate some historical documents in mediaeval Latin with a view to using them for an M. A. thesis on Mediaeval history."

Marion Hull is at home this winter, after a trip to Havana, Panama, Costa Rica and Honduras. Coma McCaskill, ex '22, was in the same party. Marion visited Cora (Connett) Ozenberger in St. Joseph in May. Cora has two darling children, a girl, four, and a boy, one.

After being maid of honor in Martha Lee Taliaferro's wedding in September, Lilburn Ivey went to Greenwood, Miss., to teach. Her address is 116 Mary St.

Ruth Keiser has moved to 4021 Lenox Road, Birmingham.

Mary Knight is the most energetic soul of them all! She has a full time job with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in Atlanta, sells insurance for the Atlantic Life Insurance Company at her lunch hour and for an hour and a half after the Telephone Company closes its doors for the night, and not content with this, Mary goes to night school four nights a week!

Mary McLellan (Mrs. W. J. Manly) is keeping house in Dalton, Ga.

Susan Malone is opening a book and gift shop in Greenwood, Miss., this fall. There is to be a small circulating library in connection with it, and Susan is full of enthusiastic plans for the future of the shop.

Carolyn Moore is spending the winter at home recuperating from two years of teaching. "Had the pleasure of hearing Nell Esslinger sing in concert here in Eufaula last week. She is splendid! We had a good old chat about old friends and old times. My most exciting news right now is that I have at last succumbed—and cut my hair!"

Laura Oliver (Mrs. Justin Fuller) and her lusty young son, "Rusty, Jr.," are visiting Laura's mother in Montgomery.

Ruth Pirkle is back at Agnes Scott this year in the Biology department.

Ruth Scandrett writes from Madison, Wis.: "I'm writing this before being frozen for the winter, which everyone prophesies will happen to me. I'm studying here at the University, listening to Mr. Commons instead of reading him. Miss Brownlee is here, too, living at the College Club, and every day I'm grateful for Miss Davis' having been here. Spent part of the summer with my family in the beautiful North Carolina mountains, and stopped by to visit Nell Buchanan on the way here." Ruth's address is 12 Gilmer St., University Club, Madison, Wis.

Margaret Smith (Mrs. J. E. Lyon) writes from Memphis: "We have just moved into our new home and of course are thrilled over it. Can you realize my son is two and a half years old? I can't. My new address is 2221 Court Ave."

Althea Stephens writes from Russellville, Ky.: "As to what I've been meddling in this summer: I studied at the Conservatory at Ithaca, N. Y., after which some friends and I drove from New York to Chicago, via Lake Erie, and down to Kentucky again. Had a most gorgeous trip. I get prouder of Agnes Scott all the time." And we get prouder of Steve all the time! She is back at Logan College as head of the department of music.

Louie Dean Stephens was married on June 2, 1926, to Mr. R. L. Hays, Jr. She is teaching the second grade again in the Marietta, Ga., school. Her address is No. 5 Gurley Apts.

Annie Mae Strickland is teaching at Latta, S. C., this year.

Laurie Belle Stubbs is teaching at Newnan, Ga. Catherine Shields, '23, is there also.

Martha Lee Taliaferro was married on September 9, 1926, to Dr. William Joseph Donovan at the First Baptist Church at Evergreen, Ala. Lilburne Ivey was the maid of honor, and Emily Thomas came over from Selma for the ceremony. Martha Lee came by Agnes Scott while on her honeymoon. This winter she and Dr. Donovan are living with Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro.

Alice Whipple (Mrs. William Wallace Lyons) is living at 8 Lombardy Way, Atlanta.

Emily Thomas is again Probation Officer of Dallas County, Alabama, with headquarters in Selma. Emily was always interested in Child Welfare work, and now she is supremely happy dealing with the bad boys. She and her sister, Augusta, '24, had a wonderful trip out West in June. "We went the Canadian Rocky route, stopping by Banff and Lake Louise. Went as far south as Los Angeles, through Yosemite Valley and Yellowstone Park, and home by Denver."

Elizabeth Wilson returned in July from a delightful trip to Europe.

Frances White (Mrs. W. J. Weems) visited Lucy (Wooten) Wiegand this summer. Lucy has a dear little baby a year old. Frances has moved to 870 W. Peachtree St., Atlanta.

Doris Guille, ex '22, is teaching Domestic Science in the school at Georgia's marble city, Tate. Beulah Davidson, '24, is teaching at Tate also.

Caroline Hutter (Mrs. Cranston Williams), ex '22, has a new baby boy, born during the summer.

Ruth Laughon (Mrs. David Dyer) announces the arrival of her first child, Robert Kent Dyer, on July 23, 1926. "My hands are certainly full right now. We have the dearest, fattest little boy in the world, and he has colic religiously and keeps me on the jump. Sorry I can't send Robert Kent to Agnes Scott, but he isn't that kind of a baby! He'll have to go to Tech so he can get out to Agnes Scott on Saturday nights."

Julia McCullough, ex '22, is librarian at the Carnegie Library in Atlanta.

Ruth McDougall, ex '22, was married in September, 1926, to Mr. Herner R. Johnson. Ruth's sister, Hall, '23, was her only attendant. Ruth has been working in Chattanooga as the secretary of the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Johnson is originally from Murfreesboro, Tenn. He attended the University of Tennessee, where he was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. They are to live in Louisville, Ky.

Jane Evelyn Nesbit, ex '22, was married on August 21, 1926, to Mr. Herman Leon Gaines, in Atlanta, Ga.

Lib Nisbet (Mrs. S. C. Marty) has two little girls. "Mary Elizabeth is two years old, and weighs thirty-five pounds, and Susan Jane is three and weighs forty. Can you picture me with two such tremendous children? We have built a summer home in northern Wisconsin and are just home after four months of joy up there."

Dinah Roberts, ex '22, (Mrs. R. L. Parramore), is still living in Valdosta. Dinah visited Atlanta and Agnes Scott at commencement.

Faustelle Williams (Mrs. M. D. Kennedy), ex '22, is visiting her mother in Cordele, Ga.

1923—Class secretary, Emily Guille, 3400 Brook Road, Richmond, Va.

Clara Mae Allen is teaching at the Spring Street High School in Greensboro, N. C. Clara Mae is one of the members of 1923 who has received her Master's degree from Columbia.

Imogene Allen is teaching the ninth grade math in the Junior High School in Decatur, and living at home.

Ruth Almand writes from Leesburg, Fla.: "This is my third year teaching Math in the High School here. I like Florida very much, even if part of it is washed away."

Dorothy Bowron (Mrs. Jack Collins) announces the arrival of Dorothy Patricia Collins on September 4, 1926, in Birmingham, Ala.

Margaret Brenner is back at the Carnegie Library in Atlanta.

Sarah Belle Brodnax (Mrs. Granger Hansell) has moved into Atlanta, and is living on Fifteenth Street. Sarah Belle's home at Clarkston burned.

Louise Brown (Mrs. Donald Hastings) writes from her beautiful home "Hastings," at Lovejoy, Ga.: "We have just returned from a trip to New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Had a delightful trip,—a sort of second honeymoon. Before any of you know it, Mary Louise Hastings will be entering Agnes Scott—she is growing so fast." Aileen (Dodd) Sams, Elizabeth (Lockhart) Davis and Jessie (Watts) Ruston, ex '23, had a little private reunion at Louise's home during Jessie's visit to her parents.

Nannie Campbell writes from Richmond, Va.: "I spent a week at Eva Wassum's and was there for the wedding. Saw Lib Hoke and all the Cunninghams. Then went to Greensboro for Jo Logan's wedding and saw many Agnes Scotters. I visited Janice Brown, '24, and Cornelia Cartland, ex '24. I have acquired a permanent and had my first trip to Washington—two facts that are not at all related except that they are both very recent. We have a lovely group of Agnes Scott girls at the Training School here in Richmond this winter: Mary Cunningham, ex '28, Eloise Knight, '23, Claudia Sentell, ex '25, Mary Shive, ex '27, Charlotte McMurry, ex '24, Nan Lingle, '26, who is working as her father's secretary, and Emily Guille, '23."

Minnie Lee Clarke (Mrs. Charles Cordle) has folded up her tent like the Arabs and moved from her old home in Augusta, leaving no address behind her. Will one of you members of '23 who writes to Minnie Lee send her new address to the Alumnae Office?

Jessie Dean Cooper is Mrs. W. R. Young, Jr. Her husband is in the banking business at West Blocton, Ala.

Aileen Dodd (Mrs. Augustine Sams) is kept busy with her husband, home, young son, and the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association, of which she is a valued member.

Christine Evans was married on May 27, 1926, to Mr. Edwin Thompson Murray at her home in Fort Valley. Ann Heys, '28, and Beulah Davidson, '24, were her bridesmaids, and Ruth Evans, '22, was her sister's maid of honor. Mr. Murray works with the Fourth National Bank in Atlanta. The Murrays live in the Chatham Court Apartments on Piedmont Ave.

Helen Faw (Mrs. J. W. Mull) is the only member of '23 who can speak proudly of her "children." Master Leon Davant Mull arrived on October 8, 1926, at Iowa City, Iowa. Mr. Mull writes: "Davant is a splendid looking little fellow, has good lung power, but respectable control. He is named for Helen's father."

Beth Flake (Mrs. F. W. Cole, Jr.) is now at 64 Park Lane, Atlanta. "I am quite thrilled over the change, for we have moved into a little house of our own, and I am having the time of my life fixing it up."

Phillips Gilchrist is back at Agnes Scott this winter.

Geraldine Goodroe went to New York in June to begin work on her Master's degree at Columbia. She will be in New York all this winter.

Emily Guille is back at the Training School in Richmond.

Mary Harris is teaching again at Palmer College, DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

Quenelle Harrold, after a month as councillor at Camp Bryn Afon, in Roosevelt, Wisconsin, is at home in Americus this winter, teaching English in the High School. This was Quenelle's second summer at camp. Augusta Thomas, '24, was with her.

Frances Harwell's new address is 1001 Euclid Ave., N. E., Atlanta.

Elizabeth Hoke writes: "Nothing has happened to me lately except work. I am teaching in the High School here in Lincolnton, head of the Mathematics department. Had a grand trip to New York and everywhere in that part of the country with Eva Wassum in August. It was thrilling to go shopping for a trousseau with a prospective bride. Eva and I both acquired a permanent."

Lucie Howard writes from Lynchburg: "Just a week before Eva's wedding, Betty (Brown) Sydnor, ex '24, Eva and I met at Lib Hoke's. It was a grand reunion and if we didn't talk about former days and doings! Roberta (Love) Brower was there, too. Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21, and Nannie Campbell were at the wedding, but Betty and I couldn't stay. Betty had to go to visit her in-laws, and I was in a wedding here the day after Eva's."

Eleanor Hyde writes from Dallas, Texas: "Is it possible that seven years have passed since we were wearing green ribbons and skipping across the colonnade? Painful to confess (especially in view of Helen (Faw) Mull's latest) I have no husband nor baby. However, in addition to remaining head of the modern language department of St. Mary's College, I am teaching a Sunday school class and studying acrobatic dancing! So you see my life is not utterly wasted. Also, I went to a dance last January with Count de Prorok! What has Helen (Faw) Mull to say to that?"

Charlotte Keesler (Mrs. LeGrand Everett) announces the birth of her first child, LaGrand III, born July 3, 1926.

Eloise Knight is studying at the Training School in Richmond, Va.

Lucie (Little) Morgan spent part of September and October in Atlanta with her mother. Lucile is keeping house and learning to cook.

Josephine Logan was married to Rev. Hugh Hamilton on September 9, 1926, at her uncle's home in Greensboro, N. C. Lillian McAlpine, '24, sang, and Eloise Knight, '23, and Mary Nelson Logan, Jo's sister, and a junior at Agnes Scott, were bridesmaids. Janice Brown, '24, Cornelia Cartland, ex '24, Catherine Wharton, ex '21, and Elizabeth (Woltz) Currie, '26, were there, too. After the ceremony and reception Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left for a motor trip through northern New York. They are at home now in Appalachie, Va., where Mr. Hamilton has a charge. Mr. Hamilton was educated at Davidson College, Union Theological Seminary, and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Edith McCallie is teaching at the Fulton High School in Atlanta. She and her sister, Elizabeth, '27, spent the summer at the University of California, and traveling through the West.

Lois McClain and Barbara Ransom (Elizabeth Ransom's sister), motored to New York in July and took an apartment for six weeks. Beulah Davidson, '24, and Lucile Caldwell, '25, stopped over with Lois a few days before they sailed for Europe. Lois took in every show in New York, and is home again in Jasper this winter, working in the bank. She and Beulah Davidson, who is teaching at Tate, nine miles from Jasper, frequently drive down to Agnes Scott for week-ends.

Beth McClure is making a great success of her work with the Young People of Dr. Vance's church in Nashville, Tenn.

Hilda McConnell spent almost the entire summer in bed as a result of complications arising after the extraction of a wisdom tooth. She was in the hospital for operations twice, but is well again now, and has resumed her work at the Atlanta Normal School. She is living at 807 Boulevard.

Hall McDougall was maid of honor in her sister's wedding in September. The McDougalls have moved to Memphis, since Hall's father was elected dean of Southwestern University.

Martha McIntosh (Mrs. George Nall) writes from Albany, Ga.: "George and I have moved into an adorable new apartment and I'm keeping house again. Trying to keep house, and my job with the Albany Herald, too, is quite a task, and I'm busy from morning to night." Martha's address is 16 Jefferson Apts.

Mary Stewart McLeod writes from Maxton, N. C.: "Spent the summer in Montreat and met lots of Agnes Scott girls. Mother and I are over here now trying to make these negroes pick cotton in a hurry so we can get home. I haven't been at home but two weeks since April. Spent two months in New York studying china painting and expect to have a small class at home this winter if I ever get home to start it. Saw Lucie Howard in New York, and Eloise Knight has been here visiting me."

Anna Meade is planning another trip to Europe.

Susye Mims (Mrs. Karl Lazenby) came back to Agnes Scott for commencement. She is working in the bank at Monroeville, Ala.

Fredeva Ogletree spent the summer at the University of California in Berkeley.

Valeria Posey (Mrs. Louis Brown) announces the arrival of Valeria Brown on August 16, at Central, S. C. The two Valerias have gone home to Fort Valley now, and are living in a new house at 423 Persons St.

Elizabeth Ransom was married on June 9, 1926, to Mr. Herbert Louis Hahn at the Sixth Avenue Presbyterian Church in Birmingham, Ala. Lois McClain and Frances Turner, ex '25, were in the wedding, and Nell Esslinger, ex '23, sang. Lib is keeping house now in Birmingham in a model apartment, and writes that she is supremely happy.

Margaret Ransom's name and address in the Alumnae Register are both incorrect. She is Mrs. I. M. Sheffield, 44 East Wesley Ave., Atlanta.

Ruth Sanders is teaching in East Point. Her mother and younger sister, Elizabeth, are living in Decatur, while Elizabeth is a student at Agnes Scott, and Ruth spends all her week-ends with them.

Catherine Shields is back in Newnan teaching.

Pearl Smith went to Europe this summer. Mildred McFall, ex '24, Blanche Berry, '27, and Katherine Gilliland, '27, were also in the party.

Nancy Tripp is doing secretarial work with the Squibbs Company in Atlanta.

Eva Wassum was married in September to Mr. R. B. Cunningham, Jr., son of our Mr. Cunningham at Agnes Scott. This marriage was the culmination of a romance begun on the campus during Eva's student days. She and Rob are living at 506 Capitol Place, Columbia, S. C.

Frances Arant, ex '23, received her M. A. in English at Columbia University last June. During the summer she was a councillor at Camp Junaluska, in the North Carolina mountains. This winter she is teaching in Birmingham Southern College, Birmingham, Ala. She and her brother have an apartment and Frances is keeping house at 2030 Highland Ave., Apt. J.

Martha Ballard, ex '23, was married August 17, 1926, to Rev. M. P. Webb, at Brewton, Ga. Mr. Webb is pastor of the Methodist church at Midville, Ga., where they will make their home.

Betty Brown (Mrs. Charles Sydnor), ex '23, spent most of the summer in Decatur, while her husband taught in the summer session of Emory University. This winter they are back at the University of Mississippi.

Mary White Caldwell, an ex '23, and her former roommate, Eunice Dean (Mrs. Harold Major), '22, met at the Alumnae House for a week-end during May. It was the first visit either one of them had made to the College since May 1922, and the last meeting they may look forward to for some time, as Mary sailed from Seattle on September 19th for Shanghai, China, to take up her life work as a nurse in the Presbyterian mission field.

Maybeth Carnes (Mrs. Stillwell Robinson) ex '23, has moved back to Atlanta from Miami. Her present address is 645 Ponce de Leon Ave.

Helen Christie (Mrs. E. H. Lovelace), ex '23, has been visiting her husband's family in Nashville. Mr. Lovelace went to Europe this summer with the Emory Glee Club, but it was strictly a stag party, so Helen had to stay in Decatur.

Nell Duke, ex '23, is teaching at Martha Washington College, Abington, Va. She is head of the science department. Nell received her Master's degree in Science at Peabody last year.

Dorothy Elyea (Mrs. Calhoun Minchenor), ex '23, has moved to Sunnyside Ave., Atlanta.

Elia Ellis, ex '23, was married on October 27, 1926, to Mr. Windsor P. Thomas, of Baton Rouge, La.

Nell Esslinger ex '23, is singing at the Church of the Advent in Birmingham, Ala. She has given a number of concerts in different cities in Alabama and the South and is meeting most favorable comment. She and Frances Turner, ex '25, have an apartment together. Nell won honorable mention in the national music contest at the Sesqui-Centennial in October.

Annie Earle Farmer, ex '23, better known as "Pete," is to be married this fall. She will make her home in Florida.

Anne Gambrell, ex '23, visited Virginia Ordway, '24, in Anniston, Ala., this summer.

Anna Belle Glenn, ex '23, is teaching in Huntsville, Ala., where she is staying with her sister, Mrs. McDonald.

Anna Harwell, ex '23 is studying and teaching violin in Decatur this winter.

Mildred Ham, ex '23, is secretary for the Georgia department of Archives and History in the State Capitol at Atlanta. She lives at 2048 Boulevard Drive, Kirkwood, Atlanta.

Margaret Hay, ex '23, has returned from a year abroad and is now dean and part-time teacher at the Katharine Branson school in Ross, Calif.

Erskine Jarnigan (Mrs. S. W. Forgy, Jr.), ex '23, has moved back to Atlanta from Florida.

Mary George Kincannon (Mrs. M. B. Howorth), ex '23, and Margaret McColgan, ex '23, are living together in New York this winter. Margaret is studying at Columbia, and Mary George is working in the dispensary of the Presbyterian Hospital, where her husband is an interne. Marg and Mary George were roommates for two years at Agnes Scott, and they say it is quite like old times to be together again after a separation of five years.

Hazel Lamar ex '23, was married May 9, 1925, to Mr. Julian Livingston Clarkston. Her present address is P. O. Box 3884, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mildred McFall, ex '23, is teaching in the Fulton High School in Atlanta. She was in Europe this summer.

Eunice Tomlinson (Mrs. C. I. Owens), ex '23, announces the birth of twins, a boy and a girl, on October 16, 1926. Eunice was operated on for appendicitis a short while before the twins were born, and is still very ill.

Ruth Warner (Mrs. Charles Stout), ex '23, announces the arrival of her third baby, Charles Warner Stout, at Montreat, N. C.

Helen Watkins, ex '23, was married in October. She is living in Greenville S. C.

Jessie Watts (Mrs. J. W. Rustin), ex '23, has been visiting her mother and sister, Virginia Watts (Mrs. M. F. Beals), ex '24, in Decatur this summer.

Margaret Young, ex '23, is living at 394 S. Highland Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

1924—Class secretary, Dick Scandrett, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga.

Mabel Akers' address is lost. If any of you know where she is, please communicate with the Alumnae Office.

Attie Alford had a wonderful trip through the West this summer. She studied six weeks at the University of California, and saw Fredeva Ogletree and Edith McCallie, both members of '23 there. Attie is teaching in Ocala, Fla., this winter, and she writes that she was neither washed away or unroofed by the storm. Her address is 403 E. Fort King Ave.

Frances Amis is teaching in El Dorado this winter.

Elizabeth Askew is teaching a first grade in Atlanta and living at home. She comes over to the College frequently.

Dell Bernhardt was married on October 21, 1926, at the First Presbyterian Church, Lenoir, to Mr. Thomas Henry Wilson, of Gastonia, N. C.

Rebecca Bivings is still teaching the third grade in the Emory University Elementary School. She is living at 632 Moreland Ave., N. E., Atlanta.

Janice Brown is teaching English and Latin in the High School at High Point, N. C. She and Mary Green shed bitter tears over separating after being together four years at College and two years at Honea Path, but High Point is so close to Janice's home that she accepted a position there. Janice was at Jo (Logan) Hamilton's wedding, and she sees Ellen Fain '26, and Catherine Mock '26, occasionally.

Helen Lane Comfort is librarian at Presbyterian College this year in Clinton, S. C.

Benlah Davidson is back at Tate, Ga., after a summer spent in Europe. She and Lucile Caldwell, '25, went with a party of girls from Fort Valley and Griffin, and had a marvelous time.

Marguerite Dobbs is teaching again at East Point, Ga. She and Lillian Middlebrooks, '25, who is also teaching there, room together. Marguerite comes out to Agnes Scott frequently, as her sister Frances is a senior this year.

Martha Eakes was married June 15, 1926, to Mr. Warren Boyd Matthews at her home in Decatur, Ga. Mr. Matthews teaches chemistry in the Medical School at Emory University. They are living with Martha's mother for the present.

Nancy Evans is teaching at home in Richmond, Ky., this winter.

Emmie Ficklen was married June 30, 1926, to Mr. Marvin Harper. Mr. Harper attended Emory University and has done graduate work at Yale. He is now connected with the Student Volunteer Movement in America. He and Emmie are living in Orange, N. J.

Katie Frank Gilchrist is at home this winter helping her father in his office.

Frances Gilliland (Mrs. S. G. Stukes) says that her most important piece of news right now is that she has bobbed hair. She visited her mother in Greensboro this summer.

Mary Green is teaching again in Honea Path, S. C. Mary has bobbed her hair and gotten a permanent and says she is now prepared to grow old both gracefully and girlishly.

Margaret Griffin was married on June 2, 1926, to Mr. Lewis Wilson Williams, of Birmingham, Ala. Before her marriage Margaret was working in the Underwriting division of the Atlanta Retail Credit Company.

Josephine Havis spent two months in New York this summer visiting her sister, Dorothy (Havis)

McCullough, '21. Jo says she saw twenty-five shows and decided to go to Europe after experiences on the short boat trip to and from New York. Jo's cup is really full to overflowing, for not only did she bring back a brand new wardrobe from New York and walk right into the midst of all the entertaining for Christine (Sinclair) Parsons, but when she did buckle down to work as kindergarten teacher at Tenth Street School, she found she had been given a substantial raise in salary. Jo says she is teaching in the neighborhood where she lived as a child, and all her pupils are children of her old friends and schoolmates.

Elizabeth Henry is teaching at home in Augusta this winter at Tubman High. She and Nonie Peck were in New York together this summer. "Cousin Bayne" came to New York while they were there and they had an opportunity of seeing New York "as she should be saw."

Victoria Howie is still at Union, S. C., teaching Latin. At least her friends and relatives suppose she is there, for Vic is the world's very worst about writing letters.

Marion Johnson was married on June 1, 1926, to Mr. Thomas E. Merritt, of Macon Ga. They sailed immediately for a honeymoon in Europe, returning the last of the summer, and are now living at 112 Lamar St., Macon.

Sarah Kinman is teaching at Bartow, Ga.

Vivian Little is taking Margaret Bland's place in the French department at Agnes Scott. One of the most stunning things Vivian brought back from France was a true Parisian bob.

Singing in so many weddings has had such an effect on Lillian McAlpine that her engagement has been announced to Mr. Philip Butner, of Winston-Salem, N. C., the wedding to take place in the early spring. Mr. Butner is in the banking business. Lil visited Professor and Mrs. Field in East Lake this summer.

Margaret McDow spent the summer studying at the Biblical Seminary in New York, and taking "other interesting courses." "I went somewhere every night but four—and I stayed six weeks! Studied from 12 to 1 at night and arose at 5 a. m. to study some more. I vowed when I left Agnes Scott that I'd never set another alarm clock, but my vow was surely broken this summer. For once in my life I had enough excitement. Now I am back at Holly Springs at the Mississippi Synodical College. Frances Bitzer, '25, is living here, too, as her father is pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and we have rare old times together."

Edna McMurry is teaching again at Buford, Ga.

Cora Morton is back at Agnes Scott as assistant in the Math and Physics departments.

Frances Myers was married on September 20, 1926, to Mr. George Dickely in Washington, D. C. On September 21st they sailed for Europe to be gone until the middle of December when they will be at home at 14 N. Ninth Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Catherine Nash was married on September 18, 1926, to Mr. John Hedzes Goff, at the Kirkwood Baptist Church in Atlanta. "I'm one of the lucky people in this world who has a profession and a professor at the same time. What would you do if you were a Baptist, married to a Presbyterian and you yourself were at the head of a Methodist theological library as I am at Emory?" Catherine is living at 405 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta. Mr. Goff is professor of Romance Languages at Georgia Tech. He returned from a trip around the world a short time ago, and brought Catherine lovely things from every country he touched.

Virginia Ordway is at home in Anniston this winter. She visited Anne Gambrell in Anderson during the summer.

Nonie Peck spent the summer studying at Columbia University. She was one of the enthusiastic Southerners who welcomed Bobby Jones back to America after his golfing triumph.

Margaret Powell was married on March 30, 1926, to Mr. Clyde F. Gay at Little Rock, Ark. Evelyn, '27, was her sister's maid of honor, and Mary Knight, '22, was one of the attendants. Margaret is living at 235 Washington Ave., Shreveport La.

Cora Richardson is teaching History and Science in the High School at Douglas, Ga.

Dick Scandrett spent the summer working with the Extension department of the Florida State College for Women, with headquarters at Tallahassee. She traveled all over the state of Florida, directing recreation at week-end camps for school and working girls. Dick spent the month of August in the North Carolina mountains with her mother, and two sisters. She is back at Agnes Scott as secretary to Miss Hopkins.

Daisy Frances Smith is back at Agnes Scott in the English department.

Melissa Smith received her master's degree at Columbia University last June.

Mary Stewart is in Geneva, Ala., again teaching English and Latin. "My vocabulary will soon be limited to 'children, be quiet' and 'conjugate amo.' And can you picture me teaching a gym class? Well, I am. I spent six weeks in Florida with Melissa and Brownie this summer, and became thoroughly converted to Florida."

Polly Stone went to Europe this summer with Martha Lin Manly, '25. "One of the nicest things about the trip was the number of Agnes Scott girls I met. To begin with, I stopped over in Greensboro and saw Janice Brown and Louisa Duls, '26. During the week I stayed in New York I saw Mary George (Kincannon) Howorth, ex '23, Betty Floding, '21, Ethel Ware, '22, Elizabeth Henry, Nonie Peck, and Hazel and Christine Wolfe, who are in College now. The first night in Paris we met Pearl Smith, '23, and Mildred McFall, ex '23, at the opera, and the next day met Blanche Berry, '27, Robina Gallacher, ex '12, had almost the same itinerary that we did: we ran into each other at every city on the continent. But the biggest surprise of all was meeting Alex Morrison, ex '23, in the Campanile at Venice. Alex and I had planned to room together our sophomore year, but she went to Ward-Belmont instead, and we hadn't seen each other since—seven years ago. Neither one of us had the faintest idea that the other was out of the state of Georgia even, and then suddenly to walk into each other there! It certainly was a thrill."

Elma Swaney has announced her engagement to Mr. Harry Gibson Nelson.

Annie Wilson Terry has a little sister, Mary, in the freshman class at Agnes Scott this year.

Augusta Thomas and Emily, '22, had a wonderful trip west in June. Then Gusta went to Camp Bryn Afon in Roosevelt, Wisconsin, for the rest of the summer. This winter she is teaching at Thorpe Military Academy, Lake Forrest, Ill. Incidentally, Gusta had bobbed her hair.

Cornelia Archer, ex '24, is teaching piano again in Atlanta. Cornelia spent the summer at home in Montreat, resting from the strenuous schedule of teaching she worked under last year. She is also playing small roles with the stock company at the Forsyth Theatre. Her address is 112 W. Fifth St.

Mary Shorter Bardwell, ex '24, was married on February 13, 1926, to Mr. Leonard Ely Murray. She is living at 1839 Peachtree Road, Atlanta. Mr. Murray is an honor graduate of the University of Illinois, where he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is connected with the Atlanta branch of the David Lupton Construction Company.

Elizabeth Branch, ex '24, was married in June to Mr. Wilbur King. Mr. King attended the University of Virginia, and was graduated from the Mechanical Engineering School of Georgia Tech in 1924. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. King are living in Macon, Ga.

Mary Anderson Brown, ex '24, was graduated from the Atlanta Conservatory of Music in June. She is teaching music in Atlanta and Decatur this winter.

Jack Evans (Mrs. R. F. Brownlee), ex '24, announces the birth of her little daughter, Claudia Evans Brownlee, on June 20, 1926.

Nina Lynn, ex '24, is now Mrs. Reible. Her address is 328 Ponce de Leon Place, Decatur.

Charlotte McMurray, ex '24, is studying at the Assembly's Training School in Richmond.

1924's twins, Edith and Evelyn Melton, traveled with relatives this summer through the West. They not only took in all the glories of California, but went down into Mexico for a while. They are back in Atlanta this winter; one is working with Allyn Bacon Publishing Company, and one with the Southern Press Clipping Bureau, but even their bosses probably cannot tell which is working where!

Grace Millikin, ex '24 has moved to 1291 Peachtree St., Apt. 33, Atlanta.

Elizabeth Parks, ex '24, was married June 15, 1926, to Mr. James Hunicutt Drake, of 1185 Briarcliff Place, Atlanta.

Gladys Spruell (Mrs. Frank Cooper), ex '24, has a son, Frank Henry Cooper, Jr., who is almost a year old.

Frances Turner, ex '24, is at last doing the thing she loves most in the world—teaching art. She is living in Birmingham, Ala. where she and Nell Esslinger, ex '23, have an apartment together.

1925—Class secretary, Belle Walker, 558 Greene St., Augusta, Ga.

1925 held its first reunion in May, and had a jolly good time of it, too! Twenty-five girls were back, and the stunt following the class luncheon in the Tea House was so exceedingly clever (it was and we don't mind bragging about it!) that all the other alumnae cast up their eyes in admiration at the cleverness of us! We cast up our own eyes, too, at precisely the same thing, for although we knew of course that we were pretty good, still the stunt was a triumph, and we are justly proud of ourselves. Our good looks, health spirits, and general collegiate air had not suffered after a year's battling with the problems of the world, far from the cloistered campus, we found, and taking new courage to preserve our youth and pep and junior-banquet-evening-dress until our next reunion, we scattered to our various homes and occupations. Each time we come back to Agnes Scott, we love her more, and take fresh strength away with us to meet our own personal problems.

Frances Bitzer's family has moved to Holly Springs, Miss., where her father is pastor of the Presbyterian church. "I am keeping house and getting the biggest kick out of it. I made a pie yesterday, and am at present trying to screw up my courage to try apple cobbler, having made a dismal failure of such a simple thing as corn-bread yesterday and being very discouraged over my future as a successful cook. On the side, I have a couple of classes in French at the Mississippi Synodical College (where Margaret McDow, '24, teaches) and am taking voice. Margaret and I see each other often."

Elizabeth Blalock went to summer school at the University of Georgia, visited a while in Atlanta, and then entertained Mary Brown and Eunice Kell at her home in Jonesboro. Liz is teaching again at Salem W. Va.

Mary Bess Bowdoin spent a great deal of her time in St. Louis last year. Right now she is at home in Adairsville, Ga.

Mary Phlegar Brown is teaching Latin and Science in the High School at Rowland, N. C., Margaret Hines' home town.

Idelle Bryant went to Europe this summer with Neil Buchanan. There were thirteen in the party, and Idelle says they had a marvelous time. They were in Florence while Miss Gaylord was staying there, and she invited the whole party to tea in the lovely old villa where she lived. Idelle is teaching again in Mulberry, Fla.

Louise Buchanan spent her vacation in Dallas, Texas, with her father. On the way back to Atlanta she stopped over to see Walker Fletcher, who was very ill at the time. Lou is still with the Retail Credit Company. She is assistant editor of "Inspection News," the monthly publication of the company.

"Sine" Caldwell is a fellow in botany at Agnes Scott. In addition to her work at the College, "Sine" is taking several courses at Emory for credit on her Master's degree.

Mary Palmer Caldwell is staying at home this winter. She has joined the Atlanta Woman's Club and is busy with committee work, and with the affairs of Westminster Presbyterian Church, of which her father is pastor.

Catherine Carrier was bridesmaid in Elizabeth (Woltz) Currie's wedding. She and Catherine Randolph are going to Philadelphia and New York this fall for a short visit, and then she expects to spend the winter in Albany, Ga.

Elizabeth Cheatham is teaching again in the High School in Athens, Ga. Elizabeth is living at 165 Milledge Ave. She comes home frequently for week-ends.

Agatha Deaver is at 1712 Richardson Place, Tampa, Fla.

Josephine Douglas was married on June 15, 1926, to Mr. Samuel Knox Harvell, Jr., in Murfreesboro, Tenn. At present they are boarding with Mrs. J. N. Stone, Hillsboro Road, Nashville, Tenn.

Ruth Drane is Mrs. R. R. Tatum, 1909 Chatham Drive, Columbus, Ga.

Araminta Edwards is working for the Retail Credit Company in Atlanta. She handles all the letters for the foreign office, and enjoys very much using her French.

Isabel Ferguson is at home in Waynesville, N. C. She will substitute in the Community Employment office in Atlanta during December and January while the regular secretary takes a trip to South America.

Died—Walker Fletcher, June 25, 1926. For three weeks before her death of heart trouble at a Nashville hospital Walker had been desperately ill, but very few of us knew of it, so that the news of her death was a great shock. Walker was only 22, and the first of her class to be taken by death. We shall miss her comradeship, but shall think of her as not dead, but "faring on."

Sarah Fullbright writes: "I traveled through the North and East last summer and now am back at Pensacola High School, teaching Algebra. Larsen Mattox is here, too. My address is 16 E. Gadsden St., Pensacola, Fla."

Frances Gardner is teaching in the Emory High School and studying voice at Agnes Scott.

Elizabeth Griffin traveled in Europe with her mother last summer. "We met Agnes Scott people everywhere. For instance, whom should we see riding up the main street in Rome with all the nonchalance of members of the royal family but Theta Manly and Polly Stone, '24. We simply shrieked at each other, and held up all of Rome's traffic while they tumbled out of their carriage, and we had a reunion in the middle of the street." Lit is teaching in Dublin again, and having a fine time playing bridge, riding horseback and wearing the Paris frocks she brought home.

Ruth Guffin writes: "Last June 14th I yielded to the overwhelming psychological suggestion of being called 'Ruth Griffin' in my college days, and changed my name, legally. I'm dreadfully happy, with Agnes Scott my husband's only rival." Ruth is Mrs. R. E. Griffin, Kissimmee, Fla.

Gertrude Henry is staying at home in Jacksonville and teaching in the Junior High School. She visited Rosamonde (Neister) Clarke in Cleveland, Ohio this summer.

Margaret Hines is teaching at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Sallie Horton is teaching in Birmingham again, and living at 1112 W. Sixth Court.

Peg Hyatt is teaching in the High School at Norton, Va., and giving music lessons after school. Jo (Logan) Hamilton, '23, is living just twelve miles from Peg, and they see each other often.

"Tootsie" Janes is working in the State Capitol in Atlanta.

Ruth Johnston is teaching English and History in the Girls' High School in Macon. Ruth and Anne McKay drove up to Agnes Scott during October. Ruth's sister, "Baby Sara," is a sophomore this year.

Mary Keesler is at home again this winter.

Dot Keith and Anne McKay had an apartment in New York last summer while they were both attending Columbia. Dot is teaching in Abbeville, S. C., this winter.

Eunice Kell and Martha Rose Childress, ex '27, went to the University of Tennessee this summer and roomed together. On her way home, Kell visited Elizabeth Blalock in Jonesboro.

Margaret Ladd is teaching in Morven, S. C., again.

Frances Lincoln is teaching Math and Latin in Marion College Marion, Va.

Georgia Mae Little is still in the West. After an extended tour with some friends via Buick through Yellowstone, Idaho, Oregon, the Columbia River Highway, the Monterey Peninsula, and San Francisco, she is back in Los Angeles, at The Hartnall Apts., 586 Fremont St.

Anne McKay came home to Macon after a summer in New York and is teaching the seventh grade there.

Mary Ann McKinney spent the summer at Woods Hole, Massachusetts, where she did some very satisfactory work. This winter she and Virginia Peeler, '26, are together at Columbia. They are living at Johnson Hall, 411 W. 116th St.

Martha Lin Manly spent the summer traveling in Europe. She and Polly Stone, '24, went together, and had enough adventures to fill a large tome or two. They took in Washington, West Point and New York before sailing, and in Europe visited France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and England. Theta says they rode in and on every conceivable sort of conveyance, including an airplane.

Larsen Mattox is teaching French and English in the High School at Pensacola, Fla. During the summer she held a position with the D. C. Heath Publishing Company in Atlanta.

Lillian Middlebrooks is teaching again at East Point.

Frances Moore is back at Tennille, Ga., teaching.

Clyde Passmore is still with Allyn Bacon Publishing Company in Atlanta.

Eugenia Perkins is to be married in December to Mr. Tom Harlow, of Midville, Ga. They are to live in Quincey, Fla.

Walkie Perry writes from Russellville, Ky.: "Yes, I'm at home loafing, and I've just about reached the conclusion that it's the best thing I do. Am hoping to get back to Agnes Scott some time this winter."

Lucile Phippen was married in May, 1926, to Rev. John Monroe Shingler, of Grover S. C. Imogene Allen, '23, and Edith (Camp) McLennon, ex '24, were attendants.

Julia Pope is teaching Algebra and History in the High School at Dalton, Ga. Her address is 6 Waugh St.

Margaret Rogers spent the summer traveling in Europe as assistant to Mr. North in his de luxe summer tour.

Jack Rolston writes: "Am still teaching in Staunton. Though I swore by all that was good and holy that I never would, sometimes I am quite alarmed to find that I really like it."

Maria Rose is at home in Charlotte this winter.

Floy Sadler is librarian at Oakland, Fla.

Josephine Schuessler is working with the Y. W. C. A. in Charlotte, N. C.

Elizabeth Shaw is teaching Bible and Biology in the High School at Gainesville, Fla. She visited Mary (Breedlove) Fleetwood in Valdosta this summer.

Carolyn Smith was married on May 28, 1926, to Mr. Wendell Knight Whipple, at the Anna Young Alumnae House. It was a perfectly beautiful wedding, and the first one ever solemnized in the Alumnae House. The banisters of the stairway down which the bridal party came were entwined with Southern smilax. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar in the dining room of palms and ferns, which were interspersed with cathedral candles and pedestal baskets of white peonies. Louise Payne, ex '25, Elizabeth Blalock '25, and Mary Anderson Brown, ex '24, were bridesmaids, and Willie White Smith, '27, Carolyn's sister, was the maid of honor. There were a number of friends from Agnes Scott and Emory University present at the ceremony. Mr. Whipple is an Emory man, a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Alton O'Steen, pianist for the Emory Glee Club, played the wedding march. After a motor trip to North Carolina, the Whipples are at home in a lovely new brick bungalow on Clairmont Ave. in Decatur. Mr. Whipple is in the insurance business.

Ella Smith is at home in Atlanta this winter, working in her father's office.

Viola Smith received her Master's degree at Columbia University last spring.

Margery Speake is again at Palmer College, DeFuniak Springs, Fla., teaching four classes of French, three of Bible and one of English. She spent the summer at home.

Emily Spivey is teaching in Hartwell, Ga. "Here's a sensational news item: I made my debut on the stage the other night as one of the main characters in a Wayne P. Sewell play, and sang a solo in the course of the attraction! I don't think of a single thing I can add to the things I've had to do since beginning to teach, except to teach Latin. Shall be back at Agnes Scott the week-end of November 13th."

Marianne Strouss (Mrs. T. Judson McConnell) is the proud mother of the first baby in the class.

Little Anne Wallis is a perfect darling. Marianne says that judging from her lung power, she promises to develop into a second Marion Talley. She was born April 24, 1926, in Tampa, Fla.

Frances Tennent stayed over after commencement to attend Carolyn (Smith) Whipple's wedding. She is at home this winter in Augusta.

Eugenia Thompson was married on June 16, 1926, at her home in Birmingham to Dr. John Marvin Akin, also of Birmingham.

Ellen Walker is teaching school at Meggetts, a little South Carolina town very near Charleston. She rides horseback a great deal and goes home for week-ends.

Belle Walker spent the summer in New York studying at Columbia. Before coming South she visited in Batavia, New York and in Louisville, Ky. Belle is teaching History and Civics at the Tubman High School in Augusta this winter.

Elizabeth Woltz was married June 15, 1926, to Mr. Wilbur Hoke Currie. They are living in Carthage, N. C., and hope to be in their new house,—of the old English colonial type—by Christmas. Mr. Currie is in the manufacturing business.

Mary Ben Wright writes: "My only vacation trip was to Wesley Memorial Hospital, where I left my appendix. I am back at work now as laboratory technician in the anatomy lab at Emory University."

Mary Breedlove (Mrs. C. G. Fleetwood), ex '25, is visiting her mother in Valdosta. Elizabeth Shaw visited her this summer.

Norma Burke, ex '25, is now Mrs. Murray Hearn of 1459 Ocean Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mary Jarmon, ex '25, spent the summer at the University of California in Berkeley. She studied music, normal methods, and pipe organ. Mary is teaching again this winter in Laurenburg, N. C.

Helen Lockhart (Mrs. Tom Watkins), ex '25, has moved into a new home at 302 Wilton Drive, Decatur. She is keeping house and breeding German police dogs.

Marcia Meldrim, ex '25, is working in her father's dental office as his secretary. Her address is 1129 N. Maryland Ave., Glendale, Calif.

Rosamonde Neisler (Mrs. V. A. Clarke), ex '25, is still in Cleveland. Gertrude Henry visited her this summer.

Virginia Perkins, ex '25 (Mrs. A. L. Nelson), is spending the winter in New York with her sister.

Claudia Sentelle, ex '25, is back at the training school in Richmond this winter.

Montie Sewell (Mrs. Jimmie Burns), ex '25, is teaching a couple of hours a day at the Peachtree Road School in Atlanta.

Susie Stokes, ex '25, (Mrs. R. H. Taylor), writes: "My young son, Richard Bonnell, is growing so fast that I am sure he will be present and take a blue ribbon at the Baby Show next commencement. My husband taught at the summer school of the University of North Carolina, so we spent the summer in Chapel Hill, but we are back now in Greenville at Furman."

1926—With this issue of the Alumnae Quarterly, we welcome into the Alumnae Association the newest little sister, 1926. She is a "hefty" class, too with seventy-six members!

And so, with no more ado, we shall proceed to introduce the individual members of this new alumnae class.

Helen Bates is working and studying at the Flower Medical School in New York City. She is teaching and acting as assistant technician. Her

New York address is 336 W. 89th St. This past summer Helen was at Woods Hole, Mass.

Louise Bennett is at home in Atlanta, 500 Moreland Ave.

Eleanor Berger was the first one of 1926 to take the fatal step of matrimony. Eleanor was married in June at the Georgian Terrace Hotel in Atlanta to Mr. Leonard M. Blumenthal, of Baltimore, Md. Helen Bates sang at the wedding, and Sarah Smith played the wedding march.

Lois Bolles is studying at the Library School in Atlanta. Her address is 97 Rosedale Drive.

Grace Boone is teaching at Lake Wales, Fla.

Leone Bowers won a scholarship in the art department at Agnes Scott, and is back at the College this year, studying with Miss Lewis. She boards at 134 S. Candler St., Decatur, with Elsa Jacobsen's mother.

Mary Dudley Brown is tutoring four little girls in a private home in Palatka, Fla. She spent the month of August in Pittsfield, Mass., visiting Helena Hermance.

Virginia Browning is teaching in Princeton, W. Va.

Margaret Bull is teaching in Lewisburg Seminary, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Edith Carpenter, with her usual talent for getting in the very middle of things, was in Miami at the time of the hurricane, and writes a vivid description of her experiences foraging for food after it was all over. She is at 2230 S. W. Tenth St.

Betty Chapman has followed in Eleanor Berger's footsteps. On October 20 she was married to Dr. Carl Pirkle. After a wedding journey to Tennessee, they are at home in Atlanta. Dr. Pirkle is a practicing physician associated with Dr. Will Roberts. Betty spent the summer in New York studying at the School of Social Work.

Mrs. Pilley Kim Choi, our first Korean graduate, is studying for her Master's degree at Columbia. Her address is International House, 500 Riverside Drive, New York City. Dr. Choi is at the University of Toronto.

Isabelle Clarke is working with the Jewish Educational Alliance in Atlanta. Most of her work is with the girls' clubs, directing dramatics, handicraft and recreation. Isabelle's address is 353 Ninth St., N. E.

Verna June Clark was married on October 5, 1926, to Mr. Dallas Henry Dalton at her home in Arkadelphia, Ark. They are living in McAllen, Texas.

Edythe Coleman is at home in Atlanta. She visited Helena Hermance and Virginia Peeler this summer.

Mary Ellen Colyer is teaching general science in one of the Junior High Schools in Jacksonville Fla.

"Frisky" Cooper is at home in Atlanta.

Peg Debele is teaching in the Junior High School in Savannah, Ga.

Louisa Duls studied at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro this summer. Later, Florence Perkins visited her at Little Switzerland, N. C. Louisa is teaching Latin in the Charlotte High School.

Dora Ferrell is at home in LaGrange, Ga.

Mary Freeman is studying at the Curry School of Expression in Boston.

Ellen Fain writes: "I've nothing new except worries—the result of my attempting to teach the ninth and tenth grades English, Biology, Physical Geography, first year Latin, and Plane Geometry in a country school two miles out of Hendersonville."

Elise Gay is at home in San Antonio, Texas, after a summer in Durango City, Durango, Mexico. She writes that everything was exceedingly interesting and quite romantic and exciting in the real Mexican setting in the typical Mexican city of Durango.

Edith Gilchrist is director of recreation at the South Highlands School in Birmingham. Eleanor Gresham is teaching in Birmingham and she and Edith live together at 1218 Eleventh Ave., S.

Catherine Graeber is teaching junior and senior English in the High School at Florence, Ala. During the summer the Graeber family traveled to Washington, Philadelphia, Niagara Falls and other points.

Juanita Greer is studying at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. Her address is 307 E. Thirtieth St.

Elizabeth Gregory is teaching at Blackshear, Ga.

Mary Ella Hammond is at home in Griffin, Ga.

Eloise Harris is studying for her Master's degree at the University of Alabama.

Helena Hermance entertained Lib Lilly, '27, Dudley Brown, Edythe Coleman and Mary Martha Lybrook, ex '27, at her home in Pittsfield, Mass., this summer. She is studying at the University of Toronto, Canada.

Charlotte Higgs is working in Washington, D. C.

Hazel Huff is studying music at Agnes Scott.

Sterling Johnson started the year as fellow in the History department at Agnes Scott, but when Miss Coma Cole "up and ran away and got married," Sterling took two of her sections of History I. until Miss Edler arrived to take Miss Cole's place. Sterling is studying History and German, and plans to get her Master's degree in History at the University of Chicago next winter.

Emily Jones is teaching Junior High Math in Palatka, Fla. She has two hundred and seven pupils, while Dudley Brown, in the same town, has four. Emily says there ain't no justice. Emily went to June Week at West Point and had a gorgeous time.

Mary Knox is working for the Retail Credit Company in Atlanta.

Nan Lingle is doing secretarial work for her father in Richmond.

Betty Little is making her debut this winter in Atlanta.

Helen Clark Martin is teaching at home in Charleston S. C.

Catherine Mock is at home in Thomasville, N. C. She is coming to Agnes Scott for Thanksgiving.

Josephine North is teaching in St. Katherine's School in Bolivar, Tenn.

Grace Augusta Ogden is teaching in the North Avenue Presbyterian School in Atlanta. She has a sister in the freshman class at Agnes Scott.

Dorothy Owen is teaching at the Montreat Normal School in North Carolina.

Virginia Peeler is studying at Columbia this winter. She and Mary Anne McKinney, '25, are living together at Johnson Hall, 411 W. 116th St.

Florence Perkins visited Louisa Duls this summer. She is teaching at her old Alma Mater, Washington Seminary, in Atlanta, and frequently comes out to Agnes Scott.

Addie Pharr is teaching English and French at the Avondale Estates High School, just out of Decatur.

Allene Ramage is going to Library School in Atlanta and living at 134 S. Candler St. She and Leone Bowers room together.

Nellie Richardson is teaching at Adairsville, Ga.

Susan Shadburn is teaching English in the Decatur Junior High School and living at home.

Sarah Slaughter is at home in Atlanta.

In addition to being one of the season's debutantes, Sarah Smith is assistant organist at the North Avenue Presbyterian Church in Atlanta.

Katherine Speights took a business course during the summer, and plans to break into the secretarial world.

Frances Spratling is teaching at Norcross, Ga., twenty miles from Atlanta and home.

Evelyn Sprinkle is teaching at Mt. Airy, N. C. Her twin sisters, Mary and Martha, are coming to Agnes Scott next year.

Fanny Swann is teaching at Heflin, Ala.

Margaret Tufts is at home at Banner Elk, N. C., teaching.

Margaret Whittington is a fellow in the Chemistry department at Agnes Scott. She and Red Bowers and Sterling Johnson are known as the Three Red-Headed Musketeers of 1926, and no faculty tea is complete unless these three are asked to wear blue dresses and serve.

Rosalie Wootten is teaching at Queen's College, Charlotte, N. C.

Melly Zellars was married August 26, 1926, to Mr. Beaumont Davison, Jr., at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York City. After a honeymoon in the Adirondaks, they are at home in Atlanta. Mr. Davison is connected with the Davison-Paxon-Stokes Company.

Fannie Brown, ex '26, is teaching kindergarten in Cincinnati, Ohio, and studying at the University of Cincinnati. She is living at the Three Arts Club. She teaches in the Rumanian District and was very thrilled recently when Queen Marie visited her kindergarten.

Bertha Brunson (Mrs. Glenn Vinson), ex '26, announces the birth of her first child, Betty Jean, on September 12, 1926. Her address is Magnolia St. Laurel, Miss.

Sarah Will Cowan, ex '26, was married in October to Mr. William Thomas Dean, of College Park, Ga.

Juliet Crenshaw, ex '26, was married May 12, 1926, to Mr. Charles Thiot Winship. After a five months honeymoon in Europe they will be at home in Atlanta.

Elizabeth Doggett, ex '26, is at 707 Seventh St., Knoxville, Tenn., this winter.

Martha Ivey, ex '26, who has been studying at the University of Southern California, has moved from Hollywood to 128 Fifth Ave., E., Roselle N. J.

Laura Lewis Lawhon, ex '26, was married June 30, 1926, to Mr. Samuel Waller Anderson. They are living at 1105 Circle Park, Knoxville, Tenn.

Frances Lipscomb, ex '26, received her B. A. degree in June from the University of Alabama.

Mary Lynes (Mrs. W. H. Martin, Jr.), ex '26, announces the birth of her first baby.

Elizabeth Riviere (Mrs. C. F. Hudson), ex '26, announces the birth of Hallie Elizabeth Hudson in October.

Elizabeth Snow (Mrs. E. F. Tilly), ex '26, has moved to 91 Flagler Ave., Atlanta. She assisted Miss White in the College library during the fall.

Alumnae Association

MINUTES OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION MEETING MAY 22, 1926

On May 22, 1926, the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association was held in the Agnes Scott chapel. The meeting was called to order by the president. Mrs. Fannie G. Mayson Donaldson gave the report of her last year's work as president and Miss Polly Stone gave a report of executive secretary. The treasurer then gave her report with the exception of the May receipts from the Tea Room. It was voted that reports from committees be read and then accepted or rejected as a whole. The following reports were read:

REPORT OF PRESIDENT

This annual meeting of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association brings to a close the two year term of the present officers and this report will touch on some of the outstanding features of the work of the association at large, leaving to the reports of committee chairmen the details of their committee work.

No report of a year in the life of the association is possible without a word of continued praise for the Alumnae House and what it means not only to the alumnae but to the college community, sponsoring, as it does, practically all the teas, luncheons and dinners given on the campus by faculty and students. This year finds the Alumnae House clear of debt, the last thousand dollars having been paid to the trustees in January of this year. Miss Florine Brown, as manager of the house, has made a reputation for herself in activity, willingness and efficiency and we are glad to announce that she will be with us for the coming year.

Another necessary item of this report is the Alumnae Quarterly, beginning with the Alumnae Register in the fall, followed by three regular editions, continuing to bind the alumnae closer together with its class and college news.

The detailed report of the work on card index files and all correspondence and business carried on in the office will be made by Miss Polly Stone, executive secretary. The association has been exceedingly fortunate in securing Miss Stone in this capacity and I cannot rightly express to her our esteem and appreciation of her capable planning and her energetic accomplishing of her plans, of her personality and ability, and we are indeed happy to begin the new session with her in charge of office affairs. One of her signal accomplishments of the year was the radio program, broadcast from WSB on February 22nd, Founders Day, with alumnae listening in all over the country, a stream of telegrams attesting to the work of preparation done for this program among the alumnae by Miss Stone and to the success of this endeavor, which we hope will become an annual occurrence.

Another innovation, successfully proved this year, was the course in playwriting offered in the curriculum under Miss Stephens, herself a playwright of note, and financed by the alumnae association. The four best one act plays written during the year were produced through the courtesy of Miss Gooch and Blackfriars in Atlanta, Decatur, and Charlotte, N. C., and such was the commendation of the work of the course that this fall the college will gladly assume the financing of it. The demonstrating of the need and value of such a course has been a real contribution of the association to its college.

Our "college after college" courses offered to our alumnae through our office and the kindness of a group of the faculty are again ready to be signed up for and it is hoped that this service to our alumnae may develop in the next few years into a splendid branch of our work. The need of a circulating library to aid alumnae in small towns to use these courses is something to be immediately pressed.

A silver loving cup offered last year for the first time to the best reunion class and won by the class of 1910, is to be reawarded on Alumnae Day of this commencement. This cup with its yearly engravings of the winning reunion classes is to be kept in the Alumnae House to be enjoyed by all returning alumnae.

Again, as last year, I wish to thank the members of the association and especially the general officers and chairmen of the committees for their earnest endeavors and their cooperation and to assure you that it has made of these two years of service together a time of pleasure.

I know I voice the sentiment of the whole association in expressing to the incoming president and her board our heartiest wish for the greater growth of our association under their leadership, for success in every new endeavor, for betterment of every past effort and we pledge you our support as members of the association. And, after all, every accomplishment, every advance of our association depends on the individual member, on her interest, loyalty and cooperation. When each of us catches the vision before our college today, feels the responsibility of helping her press toward the mark, then indeed, will the Alumnae Association be the perfect organization of service for Agnes Scott.

Respectfully submitted,

FANNIE G. (MAYSON) DONALDSON,

President.

REPORT OF GENERAL SECRETARY

The secretary comes very humbly and apologetically forward and pleads forgiveness for her many sins of omission and commission on the grounds that in September, 1925, she was plunged into the midst of a very busy and growing alumnae organization, a brand new secretary, and utterly ignorant of how alumnae affairs are conducted.

In order to do any work at all with our Alumnae we must know where to find them. The whole structure of alumnae work is built on this, and an Alumna without an address is of very little use to the Association. A great deal of work has been done this year in locating lost Alumnae. Last September there were 105 definitely lost, and 570 whose addresses were doubtful, making a total of 675. We now have the correct present addresses of all but 51 of these 675.

A card file has been made this spring of all the alumnae classes. This file gives not only the names of the class graduates, but all the girls who matriculated as freshmen and started out with each class.

The system has also been begun of having a folder file, containing a manilla folder for each Alumna, in which is kept all correspondence between this Alumna and the office, any newspaper clippings, photographs, news items which have appeared in the Quarterly about her, etc.

By reason of several misunderstandings and resignations there has been no publicity chairman, for the greater part of this year, so the work of this committee has been entirely carried on in the alumnae office. The Quarterly has appeared regularly this year, and at the magazine clinic, held during the recent convention of alumni magazine editors when the alumni magazines from 91 of the leading colleges and universities of the United States and Canada were literally torn page from page by expert anonymous criticism, the Quarterly was spoken of very favorably, its general tone and appearance and the amount of news and spirit of the Concerning Ourselves department commended. Writeups of various alumnae activities and social functions have been sent in from time to time to the Atlanta papers, and a copy of the picture of the granddaughters club at Agnes Scott, which is composed of the daughters of alumnae, taken in front of the Alumnae House, was sent by special request a week or so ago to the brown section of the New York Times.

The alumnae association memberships have increased by 27 this year, not counting members from the senior class. There is one new life member.

The secretary has had the pleasure of visiting the Atlanta, Birmingham, Charlotte and Marietta clubs during the year, and of attending the national convention of alumni and alumnae secretaries held at Columbus, Ohio, at the University of Ohio.

A special effort has been made to bring the students at the College into closer relation with the alumnae—through contacts with returning alumnae at the Alumnae House, through promoting contacts in the home towns. In the fall a talk was made by the secretary to the entire student body, linking up the work of students and alumnae, and in the early part of May, a talk to the senior class on their entrance into the privileges and work of the Alumnae Association.

In connection with the curriculum committee, a small circulating library has been established in the alumnae office and it becomes the work of the secretary to turn librarian and be responsible for getting these books to the different subscribers to the college after college courses.

Any other report from the office would overlap the reports of the committee chairman.

Respectfully submitted,

POLLY STONE,
General Secretary.

REPORT OF PREPARATORY SCHOOLS COMMITTEE

The committee has tried to follow out the line of work of last year in concentrating activity in a limited number of places. These cities have been

- Nashville, Tenn.
- Little Rock, Ark.
- Jacksonville, Fla.
- Pensacola, Fla.
- Mobile, Ala.
- Miami, Fla.
- Macon, Ga.
- Louisville, Ky.
- New Orleans, La.
- Charleston, S. C.

A member of the committee lives in each of these cities. A letter was written to each member asking her, if possible, to do three things: (1) To secure representation for Agnes Scott at local College Day celebrations sponsored by local A. A. U. W. branches; (2) to send in to the college registrar a list of especially outstanding girls in the Senior and Junior classes at High School; (3) to cooperate with other Agnes Scott Alumnae in her city in giving a tea to seniors of High School and presenting Agnes Scott to them by means of posters, stunts, and Agnes Scott catalogues and other literature.

In many of the places there seems to be no active A. A. U. W. branch and hence, no college day celebration. Macon, Jacksonville, and Pensacola hope to be able to arrange this in the near future.

Charlottee, N. C., Agnes Scott alumnae were hostesses during the Christmas holidays at a tea for High School Seniors and Charlotte girls who are students at Agnes Scott. Our alumnae secretary, Miss Polly Stone, represented Agnes Scott at College Day celebrations at Charlotte, Monroe, and Concord, N. C.

Lists of High School seniors and juniors have been sent in from the majority of places mentioned. The alumnae secretary has prepared posters and other material which have been placed in the libraries of the High Schools in the cities mentioned.

Respectfully submitted,

JULIA (HAGOOD) CUTHBERTSON, '20,
Chairman.

REPORT OF ALUMNAE HOUSE AND TEA ROOM COMMITTEE

The work of the House and Tea Room Committee has been facilitated and made exceedingly pleasant by the hearty cooperation and efficiency of Miss Florine Brown, manager of the House and Tea Room, and Miss Polly Stone, General Alumnae secretary and hostess of the Alumnae House. Also we are very grateful to Miss Carrie Scandrett for her excellent keeping of the Tea Room books. And last, but by no means least, thanks are due those three faithful upholders of the reputation of the Tea Room kitchen, Bartow, Laurie, and Ola.

The house has been the recipient this year of some lovely gifts, which the Committee acknowledges with appreciation. The beautiful lustre tea set, presented by Miss Margaret Phythian, has been the possible exciting cause of numbers of afternoon teas given this year. We are grateful for the little salt dishes given by Miss Florine Brown. A silver ladle was presented by some anonymous friend, and a set of crystal sherbet glasses, and ice tea glasses by another friend. Crystal goblets for the dining room table came from Eileen Dodd Sams. Dresser covers were presented by the Marietta Club, a door stop by the Richmond Club, and a handsome silver pitcher by the New Birmingham Club.

The gifts of Mrs. Young and Anna Young Eagan, two silver sandwich trays, a pair of silver candlesticks, and some flat silver, help to make our private dining room a most attractive place in which to entertain. These, together with other gifts to the house, some linen from Dr. Sweet and Miss McKinney, a table runner from Miss Annie Newton, and a silver lemon fork, from little Marion Sams, son of Eileen Dodd Sams, came on a very special occasion, the Home-Coming Tea for Alumnae given at Alumnae House on November the twenty-fifth, Miss Anna Young's birthday.

This Home Coming Tea was in reality a happy reunion for Alumnae. Dr. and Mrs. McCain, Miss Hopkins, the Faculty, and representative students from different College organizations were with us too. In addition, Mrs. Young, Miss Anna's sister, Mrs. Paul Brown, and little Anna Young Eagan helped entertain our guests. This birthday party would be a lovely event to celebrate annually.

At the January meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association the opinion was expressed that the refurnishing of the Alumnae House, as needed from time to time, should become the work of local clubs, and that the appropriation from the Association treasury for the House, should be used in the repairing and general upkeep of the house. When a great need, namely new furnishings for the living room, was presented to the Atlanta Club, that most responsive group immediately voted to refurnish it. New curtains have already been placed by the Atlanta Club in both the living room and dining room.

Purchases for the House and Tea Room:

Tea Room funds equal five per cent per month of Tea Room profit:

- Three dozen cups and saucers.
- One dozen cereal bowls.
- Four individual tea pots.
- Eighteen cream pitchers and sugar bowls.

Fund from Alumnae Budget:

- Cretonne curtains for Tea Room.
- Walls, woodwork and shades in Alumnae House cleaned.
- Tea Room floor refinished.
- Refrigerator.

Financial Statement:

Total receipts -----	$10,178.10
Total profits -----	1,362.75
75% of profits to Alumnae Association -----	1,022.07
20% of profits to Miss Brown----	272.54
5% of profits to Tea Room fund

(including $8.75, 5% of profits of May, 1925)----- 76.89

Besides the names of returning alumnae our Guest Book contains names of friends from Canada, China and Japan. The total number of guests registered in our Guest Book this year is 230. We hope that the distinguished guests, whom it has been our pleasure to entertain during the year, have become real friends of Agnes Scott after their visit to the Alumnae House. Some of these are as follows: Mrs. Amelia H. Reinhardt, Dr. Mina Kerr, Dr. Lillian Welsh, Dr. Walter L. Lingle, Dr. Oscar Voorhees, Professor Edward P. Cheyney, Miss Alice Cheney, Dr. James I. Vance, Mr. Alfred Kreymborg.

The following recommendation, made by the Committee to the Executive Committee of the Association at a recent meeting was approved. That the week including November the twenty-fifth, Miss Anna Young's birthday, be established as annual Home Coming week for alumnae during which a Birthday Tea be given, whenever feasible, on November the twenty-fifth, which time will be a most fitting one for any local club, or group of alumnae, or individuals, desiring to make a gift to the House, to present it.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE BRYAN SCOTT,
Chairman.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

Last year a large percentage of the questionnaires returned by alumnae expressed a need for some kind of vocational advice during their undergraduate years. Many felt that they had needed more urging to use the academic advantages of the college, others felt that they needed more specific information as to actual vocations, others felt that they had need encouragement for graduate work, and so on. The committee has written to the following colleges and universities this year to ask what they were doing for undergraduates along these lines:

- Mount Holyoke.
- Goucher.
- Wellesley.
- Randolph-Macon.
- North Carolina College for Women.
- University of Colorado.

University of Wisconsin.
 University of Montana.
 University of Kansas.
 Northwestern University.
 Stanford University.

In writing we asked what they were doing along the line of student personnel, including under this educational advice, vocational information, and relating a student to college in any other ways. Most of the information received was concerned with the work done in vocational "guidance". Most of the people preferred not to use this term, but said it was rather vocational information.

We found a great difference in the methods used, as was natural in such a variety of universities. It was true, for the most part, that the larger universities do a more organized piece of work in this direction since they do not have the advantage of the intimacy of the smaller college. We find, though, that the principle back of most of the work was identical. As the Personnel Director of one of the large universities said, When we permit a student to enter the university we believe that we undertake the responsibility of giving to that student every opportunity to develop to the highest degree of which she is capable. To that end we, in the Personnel Office, try to use all the resources of the university and of the city to help a student evaluate factors and build and grow wisely. (This is not an exact quotation, but contains the meaning of her remark.)

We recognize that Agnes Scott is a small college and is able to care for many of the adjustments of student life through the regular faculty and through the Dean's office. We also remember from our own college days that the purpose of the college has ever been the full development of each student and that the entire personnel of the college has united to make this purpose effective. Because this is true, we are making no recommendations as to what further might be done. The administration is studying this far more thoroughly than we are able to do. We are, however, sending to the alumnae office the material we have collected hoping that it might be found useful. We are also writing her some of the things alumnae have said they wished might have been done for them during their undergraduate days knowing that she will be able to use such suggestions to the greatest advantage.

We would urge that alumnae constantly make available to the administration discoveries they make as to what would have been of aid to them as undergraduates. We have so many regrets after the four years are over that we did not do this and that. It may be that we owe to undergraduates the registering of these regrets and some of the things we think might have prevented them—other than growing older!

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH SCANDRETT, Chairman	1922
QUENELLE HARROLD	1923
KATHERINE SEAY	1918

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON BEAUTIFYING BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

During the past year the college has been rapidly following out the plan of foundation planting of evergreens around the permanent buildings on the campus.

In February the Alumnae Association gave this Committee fifty dollars to spend on shrubbery about the tea-room entrance of the Alumnae House. Upon the advice of Wachendorff Brothers, a planting of evergreens was made, which adds greatly to the attractiveness of this entrance. Miss Brown has taken great interest in the shrubbery and flowers around the Alumnae House. She planted the pansies which are so beautiful now and also many bulbs that were enjoyed early this spring. Thanks are due Miss Brown for her care and interest in this, our part of the campus.

The last and happiest thing that the Committee has done was to spend five hundred dollars in decorating the office of Miss Hopkins. This gift was made with the full appreciation of the pleasure that it would give, not only to Miss Hopkins, but also to the college community as well as to the Alumnae. I regret that I am not at liberty to give its source. With the advice of Mr. Friddell, of Friddell Brothers, we have had the wood work painted ivory and the walls papered in soft pastel colors, with gray predominating. The floor is stained walnut. With the advice of Mr. Hanse, of the Brown Decorating Co., there are glazed chintz draperies, a rug which almost covers the floor, a flat top mahogany desk, two new lamps (the old chandelier is gone and there is no ceiling light). Two oak cabinets have been refinished in walnut. Miss Hopkins still has her lovely pictures so that she will feel at home in the midst of her new surroundings. We have gone into detail for the benefit of those who will read this report in The Bulletin for we know that every one present went by the office before coming here. Miss Hopkins is always the very first one that we look for when we come back to Alma Mater.

The work of this committee has been a great joy for the past four years and it is with reluctance that we give it up. We feel that we cannot close this report without a word of thanks for the very cordial consideration by Dr. McCain, of every suggestion that we have made during this time.

Respectfully submitted,
 ALICE CANDLER GUY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF LOUISE McKINNEY PLAY CONTEST COMMITTEE

Year Ending May 20th, 1926

It was thought wise by the Play Contest Committee to ask the donor of the prize to withhold the award for the year 1925-26, thus making the last year of the contest 1926-27. This request was granted. Consequently there have been no contestants this year.

Special effort will be made by the committee during the ensuing year to interest as many alumnae as possible in entering the contest. Plays must be in by January 1st, 1927, and the award will be made May, 1927.

Respectfully submitted,
 LOUISE MCKINNEY,
 LUCILE ALEXANDER,
 NAN STEPHENS,
 MARY WALLACE KIRK,
Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLASS REUNIONS

A great deal of work has been done through the Alumnae Office this year in connection with the Committee on Class Reunions. Numberless letters have been written, information furnished, and enthusiasm and interest aroused, as is shown by letters received from alumnae who could not return, and by the large number who are with us today. The alumnae are being recognized more and more as an integral part of the College, and are being given more part in the commencement program. The class luncheons and stunts of last year showed a fine spirit and the reunions for this year promise to be equally as good.

Respectfully submitted,
 RUTH (SLACK) SMITH, '12,
Chairman.

REPORT OF ALUMNAE AID LEAGUE

On account of the death of the Treasurer of the Alumnae Aid League, Elizabeth (Denman) Hammond, the report is given by the chairman of the Aid League.

The work that the Aid League has been able to accomplish during the past year has been encouraging. With the money already in the treasury, together with amounts returned from previous loans, we have been able to give assistance to four girls in College who otherwise could not have continued their college course. The financial report is as follows:

Receipts:

Balance on hand May, 1925	-----	$213.34
Loans returned	-----	289.75
Interest	-----	2.11
Miscellaneous	-----	1.30

Total	-----	$506.50

Disbursements:

Four loans, $75.00 each	-----	$300.00
Postage	-----	.35
Balance in treasury May, 1926	-----	$206.15

Respectfully submitted,
 ETHEL (ALEXANDER) GAINES, '00,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE ALUMNAE SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE

The Committee has had a number of promising applicants for the alumnae scholarship for the coming session. We only regret that we have only one scholarship to award. The Committee feels that although the amount of the scholarship is inadequate as far as money goes, that the honor of receiving the scholarship is one that should be awarded with discretion. After careful investigation of the applicants as to character, scholarship and true worth, the scholarship for the next year has been given to Miss Walterette Arwood, of Atlanta. She comes to us from the Girls' High School, of Atlanta, and is cordially recommended by the head of that institution, as well as by others who have known her intimately.

Respectfully submitted,

ETHEL (ALEXANDER) GAINES, '00,
Chairman.

THE REPORT OF THE PLAY- WRITING CLASS, 1925-6 .

At the beginning of the college year the Alumnae Association sponsored a new class—Playwriting.

Nine students took the course. These were Seniors and advanced English students. One had to drop out this Spring because of a too heavy schedule and poor health. Eight finished the entire work.

No credit could be given for the work this year, since it was regarded as an experiment. These students must be advanced English scholars to be able to write plays. It is considered the most difficult of all the creative arts. They had to take precious time from the heavy schedule of credit-given study. When one considers all the sacrifice and hard work of this class of 25-26, one feels too much praise could hardly be given.

The director of the Playwriting course did all she could to make the course intensive and to spare the students. By fifteen to twenty hours weekly of outside preparation on her part, and by individual letters on the different plays she was able by one lecture weekly to the assembled class to give them as much as if she had given daily lectures. After four months the plays were written which were produced February 20th at the college by the Blackfriars, who also took them to Charlotte and to Atlanta with much success. During the Spring term the one-act plays have been excellent, and work on three-act plays was begun. One of the students has written a long play which is of fine quality. Others expect to finish their plays in time to enter them in the Play Contest this Fall.

Of the first plays produced some of the comments were particularly gratifying. Dr. McCain wrote that during his experience at the college nothing had aroused more enthusiasm. A Harvard graduate wrote that during his three years at Harvard he had seen all of the productions of the famous 47 Workshop, and none were better and few as good as this first Playbill of Agnes Scott. When the plays were produced in Charlotte a graduate of the University of North Carolina said the plays were as good as those of the Carolina Playmakers who have been working seven years. When they were produced in Atlanta, one of the Drama League officers declared they were the best amateur plays she had ever seen.

The present director has agreed to take the class for another term. The course has been approved by the Faculty and admitted into the curriculum with one hour's credit. The girls who have signed for the class are of unusual ability. It is hoped that some real achievement will result.

The Alumnae Association, in inaugurating such a class, has builded perhaps better than they knew. If these nine girls go home with intelligent love and equipment for a better theatre, for wanting to see and write plays of life they understand, and to make the South really live as she should in dramatic literature, they will go far in establishing in the South one of the greatest of the fine arts and in giving the world a true picture of our own wonderful land.

A word of appreciation should be given to Miss Louise McKinney, of the English Department, for her great interest in and help in arranging the schedules so that the students could enter the class, and for her continued inspirational encouragement; to Dr. Goods for his interest and kindly advice and help; to Dr. McCain, Dean Hopkins, and to each member of the faculty for their approval and encouragement which have meant so much; finally, and in greatest measure, to Miss Gooch and the Blackfriars without whose wholehearted cooperation our plays could never have reached the public.

This report is, therefore, a word of congratulation to the Alumnae for having established in the college a dramatic workshop of real significance. Of their many fine achievements the Alumnae will find this of enduring value since it touches and colors not only the individual, but the community and the country. Let us look forward to the time when we shall have our own theatre on the campus, and our Dramatic Workshop will be known to the nation over.

Respectfully submitted,
 NAN BAGBY STEPHENS,

Director Course of Playwriting, Agnes Scott College.

After the reading of this report, it was voted that the secretary be authorized to write a note of appreciation to Miss Stephens for all she had done for her class throughout the year.

It seems fitting to report to the General Association that the Playwriting course inaugurated last year under the auspices of the Alumnae Association has been most successful in every respect, due to the able and talented leadership of Miss Nan Stephens. The bill of four one-act plays recently presented at the College, at Charlotte, N. C., and in Atlanta, are abundant evidence of that fact. They received wide-spread praise and commendation.

The College, in recognition and appreciation of this course, has incorporated it in the curriculum and assumed the expense. The Alumnae Association has a right to feel proud of its accomplishment.

In no sense an official committee, but as an interested member of the Association, I volunteered to raise the money necessary to finance this course for the trial year—$500.00. I am glad to be able to report that the amount has been raised from the following sources:

General Association	$250.00
Decatur Club	100.00
Charlotte Club	75.00
Individuals	75.00
	—————
	$500.00

Respectfully submitted,
 MARY WALLACE KIRK,

REPORT OF TREASURER

Receipts

Balance on hand Sept, 1925	$ 206.45
Rent from Rooms	269.84
Rent from Tea Room	400.00
Tea Room Profits	1,022.07
Dues	834.95
College After-College Courses	101.50
Gifts for Playwriting Course	200.00
Decatur Club Rummage Sale	80.24
Gift to House Fund	50.00
Loan to Tea Room returned	75.00
Miscellaneous	46.90
Gifts and Pledges on Alumnae
House	1,181.42
Life Membership (Savings Acc't.)	37.50
Total	$4,505.87

Disbursements

Secretary's Salary	$ 675.00
Office Supplies	83.81
Stationery, Printing, Postage	629.51
Furnishing and Upkeep of House	404.86
Maid	175.00
Miscellaneous	110.10
Dues and Traveling Expenses	85.00
Loan to Tea Room	75.00
Playwriting Course	500.00
Pledge to A. A. U. W.	100.00
Final Payment on Alumnae House	1,000.00
Life Membership (Savings Acc't.)	37.50
On Hand	630.09
Total	$4,505.87

The Finance Committee recommends the following budget for the year 1926-27:

Receipts

On hand (estimated)	$ 200.00
Tea Room Rent	400.00
Tea Room Profits	880.00
Rent from Rooms	250.00
Dues	800.00
College After-College	100.00
Miscellaneous	25.00
Total	$2,655.00

Disbursements

Secretary -----	$ 900.00
Office Supplies, Printing, Postage, Stationery -----	800.00
Maid -----	200.00
Furnishings and Upkeep of House	475.00
Dues -----	25.00
Traveling Expenses -----	50.00
Entertainment -----	25.00
Miscellaneous -----	180.00
<hr/>
Total -----	$2,655.00

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET T. PHYTHIAN,
Treasurer.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MINUTES

The Executive Committee of the Alumnae Association had its annual May meeting in the Anna Young Alumnae House on May 20, 1926. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Donaldson. The minutes of the last meeting were not read, as they had been published in the Quarterly. The detailed report of the Treasurer was postponed until the general meeting. The budget for 1926-27 was approved and accepted as presented by the Treasurer. Mrs. Donaldson reported a request from the Student Annual staff that the annual next year be dedicated to the Alumnae and that the Alumnae have four pages of pictures of outstanding alumnae. As the cost of these pages would be $80.00, it was moved that $80.00 be added to the miscellaneous fund in the budget for this purpose. The motion was seconded and carried. A discussion followed as to how the Alumnae whose pictures were to appear in the annual were to be chosen. It was moved that a committee from the Association should meet with the student annual staff to decide how the choice should be made. This committee was composed of Margaret Bland and Ruth (Slack) Smith.

Mrs. Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott in her report from the Tea Room Committee spoke of the need of linoleum for the Tea Room and kitchen floors, and suggested that a sinking fund be created by which the linoleum could eventually be bought. Mrs. Carol (Stearns) Wey moved that since there was an unused surplus in the budget this year, the linoleum be bought this summer. This motion was seconded and carried.

Mrs. Carol (Stearns) Wey then gave the report from the Alumnae Trustee. It is the policy of the Board of Trustees to have two alumnae members, one serving for three years, and one serving for two years, one elected from the alumnae at large, one to represent the Alumnae Association. The following resolution as to election of the member representing the Alumnae Association was read:

"The Alumnae Association of Agnes Scott College, believing that close contact between its active members and the Board of Trustees of the College is of great value to both bodies, the Executive Committee of the Association, at its regular meeting on May 20th, 1926, adopted the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That the Alumnae Association of Agnes Scott College recommends to the Board of Trustees of the College that the retiring President of the Alumnae Association be elected by the Trustees as the Alumnae Trustee for the two-year term.

"Resolved further, That the Alumnae Association recommends, whenever advisable, the President of the Association be invited to attend meetings of the Board of Trustees, provided that such attendance does not conflict with the policy of the Board relative to presence of non-members at its meetings.

"Resolved, That Mrs. Carol S. Wey, the present Alumnae Trustee for the two-year term, be authorized and is directed to present these recommendations on behalf of the Alumnae Association, to the Board of Trustees at its next regular meeting."

MARGARET BLAND,
Secretary Alumnae Association.

After a discussion, it was moved that this resolution be adopted. It was seconded and carried.

Committee reports, with the exception of resolutions, were postponed until the general meeting.

Mrs. Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott read a recommendation that each year Homecoming Week at the Alumnae House be observed and that the party on Miss Anna Young's birthday be made a permanent feature, suggesting that people desiring to give gifts to the House give them at that time. It was moved that the recommendation be adopted. The motion was seconded and carried.

It was reported that a new Agnes Scott club had been organized in Asheville, N. C., making nine Agnes Scott clubs for next year.

The report of the Curriculum committee was presented, but not read in detail.

The meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
MARGARET BLAND, '20,
Secretary.

A motion was made that the reports be accepted. The motion was seconded and carried.

Mrs. Donaldson reported that the Association had paid a pledge of $100 to the A. A. U. W.

Votes had been cast at the beginning of the meeting for the new officers, so the Ballot committee, Anna Meade, '23, chairman, had the announcement of the new officers ready as soon as the business was over. The following officers were elected for the next years:

First Vice-President—ALLIE (CANDLER) GUY, '13.

Second Vice-President—ANNIE POPE (BRYAN) SCOTT, '15.

Secretary—MARTHA STANSFIELD, '21.

Treasurer—DICK SCANDRETT, '24.

Chairmen of Standing Committees:

Publicity—ELIZABETH WILSON, '22.

Preparatory Schools—HILDA MCCONNELL, '23.

Curriculum—LAURA STOCKTON MOLLOY, '20.

House and Tea Room—MARGARET PHYTHIAN, '16.

Local Clubs—MARY KNIGHT, '22.

Vocational Guidance—QUENELLE HARROLD, '23.

Beautifying Grounds and Buildings—EILEEN (DODD) SAMS, '23.

Entertainment—AIMEE D. (GLOVER) LITTLE, '21.

Class Organization and Records—ELIZABETH HOKE, '23.

Alumnae Aid League—DAISY FRANCES SMITH, '24.

The minutes of the Executive Committee were read. A speech was demanded from the new president, and then the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET BLAND, '20,
Secretary.

AS THIS GOES TO PRESS—

The announcement has just arrived of the marriage of Elizabeth Heidt Moore, '26, and Jacob C. Harris, of Decatur, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live on King's Highway, in Decatur.

Florence Morairty, ex-'26 (Mrs. J. Wesley Honour, Jr.), of Jacksonville, Fla., announces the birth of a daughter on November 10, which has been named Katherine Anne.

On account of the illness of his son, President Neillson of Smith College, who was to have lectured at Agnes Scott on November 15, has had to cancel his engagement. Captain Amundsen has changed his lecture date from December 10, to February 12, 1927.

Juliet Crenshaw, ex-'26 (Mrs. Charles Thiot Winship), has returned from Paris and is at home in Atlanta.

Annie Earle Farmer ("Pete"), ex-'23, was married on October 20, 1926, to Mr. Calvin Fuller Teague, of Sanford, Fla.

Sarah Moorehouse, ex-'25, was married on September 23, 1926, to Ensign Louise Marcel LeHardy, U. S. N., at her home in Savannah, Ga. After a wedding trip to Baltimore and Annapolis, they sailed for Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, where Ensign LeHardy is stationed for two years.

The
Agnes Scott
Alumnae Quarterly

APRIL
1927

Published by the

Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

Published in Nov., Jan., April and June by the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association.

Vol. V

APRIL, 1927

No. 2

Entered as second class matter under the Act of Congress, August, 1912.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Lowry Science Hall.....	Frontispiece
The Woman's College of the Future.....	Page 3
The New York Alumnae Take Charge.....	Page 4
The Art of Thought.....	Page 5
Agnes Scott at International House.....	Page 6
Romancia.....	Page 7
The Coming Generation.....	Page 8
Founder's Day Radio Program Reaches Alumnae.....	Page 9
Woodrow Wilson Foundation Awards.....	Page 11
College Calendar.....	Page 11
Who Comes to Reunions This May, Anyway?.....	Page 12
Open Forum.....	Page 13
Class Reunions.....	Page 14
News From the Campus:
Allie (Candler) Guy, New Association President.....	Page 15
Tabard Inn Book Shop.....	Page 15
Convention of Alumnae Secretaries.....	Page 15
Intercollegiate Debates.....	Page 15
Alumnae House Gifts.....	Page 15
Alumnae Gifts to Student Body.....	Page 15
Agnes Scott Local Alumnae Clubs.....	Page 16
Alumnae House Guests.....	Page 17
Lost Alumnae Column.....	Page 17
Concerning Ourselves.....	Page 19

LOWRY SCIENCE HALL

THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE FUTURE

Wherever college graduates gather together in a thoughtful mood, there you will find today serious questions of the future of the American college. We are used to taking this institution for granted, forgetting that it is comparatively young as an educational device, that it is almost exclusively American, and that it has yet to justify its existence by the test of its fruits. In America alone has it become almost a social necessity that young men and women shall spend four years in semi-monastic seclusion, their serious efforts divorced with great care from whatever is to be their future sphere of activity.

Small wonder that the voice of protest is heard in the land, that the most thoughtful graduates of American colleges question most seriously their whole plan and set-up even while they still illogically love and would serve them. This is true of both men's and women's colleges; we are here concerned with the definite problem as it applies to such a college as Agnes Scott.

Perhaps the fairest method of procedure is to list the basic criticisms which are made against the conventional type of woman's college of which Agnes Scott is a fair example. Everything said here could be said with equal force about practically all the older and "best" women's colleges. The exceptions are honorable but scarce.

The most common complaint is that college does not prepare its students for the life they are to lead, either for the work of the homemaker which a large majority of women still need to master, or for the vocations outside the home which are increasingly the choice of women, before or after marriage. When we realize that census figures bear out the astonishing fact that married women who work are increasing in number five times as fast as their unmarried sisters, is it strange that college graduate are asking questions? It is not entirely a question of vocational training. It is rather challenging the whole principle upon which our college curricula are made up.

Another frequent criticism lays emphasis upon the failure of college training to give students the knowledge every mature person needs of the world in which he lives, of the society in which his lot is cast, and to which he must adjust himself. And even more serious, our graduates come out ignorant of themselves, of the bodies they inhabit, of the emotions which give drive to their lives, and of the spirit which gives meaning to the whole performance. This is, in the judgment of many observers, the most serious indictment we can make of our colleges. Those who have to deal with fresh graduates know how abysmal is the ignorance of fine young people about almost everything which makes for a successful adjustment to life.

Closely allied to this is the charge of undue emphasis in our education upon the past, and upon the mind, which we are beginning to recognize with modern psychologists, as only one, and that not the most important of the factors that make up personality. Probably it is too much to expect the immediate adoption of the discoveries of psychology in the field of advanced education, and yet it has to come!

May we now assume that there is at least some measure of truth in these criticisms, and ask ourselves what changes they suggest for the future? The task is not an easy one, and great humility is the necessary part of the prophet. A beginning has been made, however, in certain women's colleges and everywhere there is the consciousness that changes are due, and overdue, as we learn more of the real task of education, and its power for good and ill. Let us make no mistake, the tide is moving, and we must be alive to its direction.

Very briefly it may be said that our future college program must be built, not as now, upon a curriculum largely inherited from the past, but upon a study of what our graduates are actually doing today, based upon the experimental frame of mind which sometimes seems the best fruit of an education.

The experiments being made at Vassar and Smith to correlate college with home problems are very significant; Anitioch College is blazing a new trail; tentatively, colleges are trying to dovetail college courses with professional school requirements. These are straws which show the direction of the wind. Fame awaits the college which will boldly take the plunge into a thoroughly modern curriculum.

All of which is very difficult to see in terms of a workable program. Yet it is not as hard as that other change which some moderns want to see happen; a college which will honestly endeavor to train each student, not only as a mentality, with a body recognized by gym and exercise at stated intervals and a soul provided with Chapel and Bible classes, but as a personality which is passing through its most critical years. During the college age, a girl should be learning not only to use her mind, but far more important, to control her emotions, to live with others, to understand her own powers and limitations, in short, as a mature person to know her way about a grown-up universe, which expects social conduct and an adult personality.

It would be unfair to deny that some of these results are now being produced often by what are ironically called "extra-curricular" activities, in other words, the most vital needs of students have burst through in spite of the system, which is by the way of being an argument for the change we are pleading for.

We may sum it all up in a word. The people who are doing the world's work today are hungry for a greater knowledge of the basic values of life and for a satisfying understanding of their own selves; can our colleges equip their students with the basic facts, and the necessary tools to achieve this understanding in ever greater degree as they grow older? That is the final test of education.

MARY CADY.

THE NEW YORK ALUMNAE TAKE CHARGE

This issue of the Quarterly inaugurates the work of Elizabeth Wilson, '22, chairman of the publicity committee of the Alumnae Association, and Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12, the second in command, and is practically all the work of alumnae now in New York. Rather than a collection of scattered articles, the contents of this April Quarterly are all built around the single motif of the advancement of education.

Miss Mary Cady, whose article, "The Woman's College of the Future," leads in the table of contents, was for several years professor of history at Agnes Scott, and is well known among the alumnae. Since January 1st, 1927, Miss Cady has been general secretary of the Central Branch of the Y. W. C. A. in New York City.

Mrs. Hazen Smith (Ruth Slack), author of "The Art of Thought," is a graduate of Agnes Scott in the class of 1912. She is at present studying in the field of vocational guidance at Columbia University.

The two little girls in "The Coming Generation" are the daughters of Mrs. Henry Noble (Martha Rogers, '14), now a student at Columbia University.

The article on "Agnes Scott at International House" was written by one of Agnes Scott's own graduates who is studying there—Katherine Seay, '18.

Atlanta refused to let New York have it all her own way, however. "Class Reunions in May" is the contribution of Georgia May Little, '25, who has just returned to her home in Atlanta after a year in California.

THE ART OF THOUGHT

Do you remember how we used to play "Truth" when we were children—tell your friends the mean things you knew about them and then end up by everybody getting mad? We tried very much the same thing recently at International House when in one of our groups we asked the students from the Orient to tell us frankly what they thought of American students—not compliments, but constructive criticism. Everyone went into it in good spirit and it ended quite differently from our childish game of "Truth," for the Orientals were exceedingly polite and the Americans were glad of the chance to see ourselves as others see us so that we might remedy our faults and correct wrong impressions.

The criticisms offered we felt were justly deserved though not always peculiar to American students. Two which seemed to strike deeply were made by a Chinese man and a Japanese girl. The criticism of the Chinese was that among American students there was too much activity and too little thinking. The Japanese girl with much hesitancy ventured to say that Americans did not know how to ask intelligent questions, that most of the questions asked her were in regard to the customs or dress of her country, things which any of our public school children should have known.

It is true that we are so busy doing things that we have little time for thought. More than once when in conversation with these foreign students I have been painfully aware of the narrow provincialism of my own thinking, for, as the Japanese girl said, there are times when I am at a loss to know how to ask intelligent questions.

College years are supposed to serve as a key to open the gateway leading into the realm of thought, but alas! only a few enter, for the majority merely gaze across as the gate swings to, and are content to live their lives without even passing beyond its portals. I wonder if most of us are not in this group?

Miss Leslie Blanchard set me thinking of these same things a few days ago when she talked at Teachers' College chapel. Some of you probably remember Miss Blanchard from college days and Blue Ridge conferences, for she is National Secretary of the Student Y. W. C. A., and you may be interested in what she had to say on the "art of thought." She prefaced her talk by quoting a bit of verse:

"Cows have such a serious look,
They must be thinking;
But I don't know—
I've seen the very same look on men."

(She called it "verse," but I was immediately reminded of a conundrum current a year ago: What is the difference between a cow chewing her cud and a flapper chewing gum? Answer: The intelligent expression on the face of the cow.)

Miss Blanchard said our thoughts lack spaciousness. They are short tethered for we do not reach out beyond our own limited range. Because we do not take the leisure to allow our short thoughts to incubate there are no new insights born within us and we become dogmatic. Reflecting the trend of American life today—so much of our thinking is economic. It is self-centered and has to do with our immediate needs, with our comfort and security. That is apt to be a weakness with our Southern college women for we seldom think beyond our own family, our own home, our friends, and what concerns them; we have no world-thoughts. We never know the intense activities of the imagination that will enable us to find new insights and illuminations. We do not abandon ourselves to new ranges of thought because too often we are limited by the walls of our office, or class room or home. Should we dare venture beyond our ego centric sphere we are not willing to face the consequences, our complacency is disturbed and our apathy broken. A Soviet officer testing the loyalty of a Russian peasant once said, "If you had two million rubles what would you do with them?" "I would first give one million to the government and keep the other for myself," was the reply. "If you had two houses what would you do?" "I would give one to the government and keep the other for myself." "Well, if you had two pairs of pants what would you do?" The peasant hesitated, for he had the two pairs of pants. Do not we, too, hesitate to apply our theories to actualities?

Our thoughts rarely attain simplicity and unity. We are furious in our activity on many subjects but never establish a wide range of associated ideas on any one subject. We lack integration because to acquire it demands too much mental discipline. We should master the art of thought that enables us to be satisfying to ourselves and socially useful. It is a slow process, demanding determined discipline of self and the abandoning of any dogmatic ideas, but let us resolve to follow new roads of mental experience, not troubled by the new, not impatient with the old.

RUTH (SLACK) SMITH, '12.

AGNES SCOTT AT INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

The five questions which students today are most interested in discussing, as was evident from the National Student Conference in Milwaukee, are concerned with international relations, inter-racial relations, war, industrial relations, and religion. Finding these questions so closely interrelated, and impatient with an attitude which expresses itself only in words, students are making experiments along all these lines, testing out their theories in the laboratory of life. Some have gone into industry for several weeks or months; others have joined interracial discussion groups; others have become members of cosmopolitan clubs, or better still, have gone on pilgrimages of friendship to Europe or the Orient, as a means of promoting understanding and sympathy between students of different countries.

One of the most significant experiments in the realm of international and inter-racial relationships is going on at International House, a dormitory built by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the foreign students in New York. Five hundred and twenty-five students, from sixty different countries, are living in the building. Of these, two-thirds are men, one-third women. The representation from the United States is limited to one-fourth of the total number. There are two separate dormitories, one for men and one for women, with a cafeteria, social rooms and a lobby which are used by all.

Located as it is on Riverside Drive, with its beautiful furnishings of the Colonial period, residence in International House is nevertheless not so expensive as to be beyond the pocketbook even of students who are working their way through college. The deed of gift and articles of incorporation require it to be self-supporting, but not a money-making institution.

Meetings, discussions, and entertainments of all kinds are held each week, to which all residents of the House are invited. Programs are put on by the different national groups and there are lectures and discussions involving all the problems of the universe.

Agnes Scott's representation at International House is, appropriately, international: Mrs. Hazen Smith (Ruth Slack) '12, from LaGrange, Ga., Katherine Seay, '18, from Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Pilley Kim Choi, '26, from Korea. Ruth Slack is studying Vocational Guidance, Katherine Seay is majoring in Religious Education, and is planning to continue her work as a Y. W. C. A. student secretary; Mrs. Choi is studying secondary education at Teachers' College, with the intention of returning to Korea next year to teach.

ROMANCIA

FRANKIE MCKEE, '19

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss McKee was editor for several years of one of the well-known romance magazines published in New York.)

"H—————, Texas, July 29, 19——.

Editor Heartbeats: (We'll call it for the element of suspense.)

I wish to say a few words in praise of your magazine. I am a great reader and enjoy reading good stories. I find Heartbeats is hard to beat.

This last number was O. K. all the way through. Yet three stories appealed to me more than the others. The first one, "The Flame of Love," goes to prove any one can culture and refine themselves if they care to, as Jack Harper (hero) did. Many fine characters are hidden by being uncultured and lack of refinement.

Next, "Taken by Storm" gives us a picture of real love such as Esther (heroine) in this story had for Bob (hero). She was willing to give up everything for love of him, she was willing to go all the way, give up everything for him. That is love, nothing short.

Then your continued story, "The Love He Scorned," by R. M. A., an author who knows her type of characters she is writing about, which takes to make an interesting story.

Which goes to show also that Heartbeats editors are on the job (so to speak). There is so many of us in life who are misunderstood. That is why I like Heartbeats so well. Its stories are so human and real. And I say long live Heartbeats!

MRS. J. H—————."

While Mrs. J. H. is typical of what we chose to call earnestly "our audience," married women passed by romance, the other type we catered to was the starved-for-romance city girl,—the girl whose patent-leather-haired-beau very likely took her to the nearby movie. But she never, never had a man of the world, breathing dollar-marks, tender and sleekly handsome, run her down in his Rolls-Royce, fall madly in love with her pure, flower-like beauty and carry her off (in his arms) to convalesce in the left wing of a vine-covered stone mansion. Oh, those left wings! How sweet in memory! Always fragrant with the scent of white lilacs and proper under the understanding eye of an easy-to-weep, baglike caretaker named Mother Griggs.

With all of this it wasn't a business of talking down to our faithful readers, who took the yarns quite as seriously as we intended they should. Even before the manuscripts were carried away, meticulously edited, and given over to the unfeeling printer, many were well salted with editorial tears. "Which goes to show," as Mrs. J. H. proves, sob-sisters are born, not made. Days are by no means all lachrymose episodes for editors. Indeed, there are times when the welkin rings with laughter. Invariably does a shout of mirth blast the high heavens when romance runs wild, as for example:

"Fay knew she loved him. She forgot to be conventional. She forgot the tenets of the school in which she had been reared. She did a bold, an astonishingly bold thing. She put out her hand—her little cold trembling hand, and touched Darwell on the arm."

Another excerpt that we loved (these are verbatim) makes no bones about the modern young man:

"Roderick went out of doors and concealed himself in the most secluded part of the garden to think. The process was painful in the extreme."

Yet another author, hearing the jingle of two cents a word, should have his rate doubled for:

"You worm!" cried his sister in withering scorn.

"You think so!" Arthur wriggled—as is natural, of course, to a worm.

Whether or not love stories are the proper food for the coming generation is a mooted question. I, for one, can see no harm in our youth—and our married women of dreary outlook—having a heart throb over such noble sentiments, as:

"You have promised to marry me, and I'm going to keep you to your word. Will you jilt me now when I am overwhelmed with sorrow?"

Ada might easily have told him that he had practically jilted her by not appearing at the altar; but she could not be so ungracious.

THE COMING GENERATION

A great deal in curricula is like our appendices, not only unnecessary, but often very troublesome. We have all felt like saying "Why?" to many of the courses of study we have had. My little daughters this year are in a small private school. At the first of the year, they had a little—not much—work on the multiplication tables. Never have they said them up and down, backward and forward, yet they do multiplication and division just as well as any children their ages that I know. Why all the drill and boredom of tables, then?

They spend very little time comparatively on the three R's, but they have spent a great deal of time cutting and nailing wood into molds and dolls, making clay bricks and Abraham's house, court and all, and dressing his family. Can you say that they have not learned an unforgettable amount of co-operation, history, muscle control and emotional control? They have learned to keep out of each other's way, to help the one who was behind, to be polite even when impatient, to wait one's turn. They have exercised all sorts of muscles sawing and nailing; they have acquired some judgement of proportion, lines and color; and perhaps a little history of the early Hebrews.

They are studying French and learning to read it by being in a French play. They have gymnasium where they do dances, personifying fire and water. In singing they have just had "Way Down Upon the Sewanee Riber-r-r." Instead of writing they manuscript, which is all straight lines and circles like typewriting; they learn to do it so readily and readably.

One more phase includes butter making and cheese making, visits to the dairy. Just lately they have been on a real sightseeing trip, and have written stories about it. The school prints its own paper (seventh grade) but nearly all the children have contributions in it.

Even in the lower grades you can see what new ideas in education are doing to acquaint children with their own emotions, with facts of their environment and parts of life itself. Education everywhere is advancing by leaps and bounds, so fast that it is hard to keep up with it. Some sort of criteria is needed to judge all the fads and fancies, so that we can know just how much of a fad a new idea is.

Parents these days are realizing how necessary it is for them to know what their children are doing; how necessary it is to become acquainted with new ideas. They say "How are we to know a good plan from a bad one? How are we to tell what our children will need fifteen or twenty years from now?" We cannot tell, of course, but we can give them all the knowledge we can, and along with it, and more important than the amount of knowledge, we can teach them ways of using what they acquire, and as time goes on, how to adjust the use of that knowledge to their changing environments.

FOUNDER'S DAY RADIO PROGRAM REACHES ALUMNAE

On February 22nd, Agnes Scott put on her second annual Founder's Day radio program for the alumnae. President McCain, Dean Hopkins, Miss McKinney, professor of English, and Polly Stone, general alumnae secretary, made short talks, and the college glee club sang and sang! They were never better! Mrs. Lewis Johnson (Gussie O'Neal), of the voice department at the college, trained the glee club for this occasion.

The telegrams and phone calls which began to pour in almost as soon as the program started were so very interesting to those of us at the college and to the scattered alumnae too, that we regretted exceedingly that the radio announcer did not have time to read them all back over the air. You alumnae who wired Dr. McCain then would certainly have been pleased if you could have been in the Biltmore studio that night and seen how thrilled we were over each telegram. They were passed eagerly from hand to hand, and Miss Hopkins and Miss McKinney were in one continual, broad, beaming smile as name after familiar name appeared, and the wording of the telegrams showed the deep love for Agnes Scott which prompted their sending.

One of the most interesting messages was from little Rebekah Scott, month-old daughter of Marie (McIntyre) Scott, '12, and great granddaughter of the original Agnes Scott, who had her daddy phone Dr. McCain that she was listening in with great delight. She sent her love and best wishes to any other members of the class of '49 who might be listening in too, and ventured to wonder if there was going to be a bed-time story somewhere on the program.

Emily (Divver) Moorer and Annie Aunspaugh listened in together in Greenwood, S. C., and wrote that they lived again the old years at Agnes Scott Institute when they heard the familiar tones of Miss Hopkins' and Miss McKinney's voices.

In many places, groups of alumnae, prospective students, parents of students here now, and other friends met and enjoyed the evening's program together. Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Brown of Hendersonville, N. C., invited any alumnae there to join them at their home for the evening. Ellen Fain, '26, arranged transportation to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Brown.

The Memphis, Tennessee, alumnae club wired cheerfully, "We are enjoying program, static and ourselves."

But it will never do to start quoting the telegrams! There were too many of them and they are all so interesting that it will be hard to tell when to stop. Two mornings after the radio program, Miss Hopkins read all the telegrams in chapel so that the student body and faculty might hear them. Sixteen states were represented in the messages. Among the telegrams, letters and phone calls received were those from Alabama—Anniston—Fannie McCaa.

 Birmingham—Birmingham Alumnae Club.
 Courtland—Katie Frank Gilchrist.
 Huntsville—Kathrine Pitman.
 Marion—Cornelia Cooper at Judson College.
 Minter—Georgia Wills (Kyser) Youngblood.
 Piedmont—Blanche Haslam.

- Arkansas—Hot Springs—Josephine Brown.
- Florida—Jacksonville—Gertrude (Briesnick) Ross.
- Georgia—Atlanta—Lucile (Phippen) Shingler, Elizabeth (Tuller) Nicolson, Jr., Emma Wesley.
- Augusta—Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Jennings.
- Bainbridge—Grace Carr.
- Columbus—Hattie Lou (Miller) Martin.
- Crawfordville—Mrs. A. G. Golucke.
- Decatur—Marie (McIntyre) Scott.
- Fairburn—Essie (Roberts) DuPre.
- Greensboro—Martha Pennington.
- Hawkinsville—Rena (Brandon) Lawson.
- Stone Mountain—Janie M. Maddox.
- Illinois—Des Plaines—Charis (Hood) Barwick.
- Decatur—Amelia (George) Montgomery.
- Kentucky—Hickman—Mary Colley.
- Louisiana—Baton Rouge—May (McKowen) Taylor, Julia (Heaton) Coleman, and Frances Harper.
- Michigan—Detroit—Joy (Patton) Thompson.
- Mississippi—Crystal Springs—Annie Tait Jenkins.
- Harrison—Sarah K. Till.
- West Point—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark.
- Missouri—St. Louis—Lillian and Lonetta Patterson.
- St. Joseph—Cora (Connett) Ozenberger.
- North Carolina—Banner Elk—Margaret Tufts.
- Chapel Hill—Margaret Bland.
- Charlotte—Mary Keesler.
- Greensboro—Joe Tomlinson.
- Hendersonville—Ellen Fain.
- Raleigh—R. B. Morrison, Frances Steward Morrison, and Elsie (Estes) Clark.
- Winston-Salem—Juliet (Foster) Speer, Ruth (Anderson) O'Neal, Grace
Johnston, Mrs. Elizabeth Ready.
- Ohio—Cincinnati—Alumnae group.
- South Carolina—Garnett—Agnes (Wiley) Marshall.
- Greenwood—Annie E. Aunspaugh and Emily (Divver) Moorcer.
- Greenville—Marjorie (Moore) McAulay.
- Rock Hill—Elizabeth Eggleston and Sarah Cragwell.
- Union—Victoria Howie.
- Tennessee—Chattanooga—Elizabeth (Stoops) Sibold.
- Knoxville—Frances Stuart.
- Memphis—Alumnae Club.
- Nashville—Lavalette (Sloan) Tucker and Beth McClure.
- Virginia—Cape Charles—Mary Evelyn King.
- Churchland—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Peake.
- Roanoke—Ruth (Laughon) Dyer.
- Tazewell—Harriet (Scott) Bowen.
- West Virginia—Charleston—Mary (Wells) Kuykendall, Edith Kearns, Mrs. Albert
Kerns, Dr. and Mrs. John Thames, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Adkins, Mrs.
Cora McLellan, and Mr. J. B. Kuykendall.
- Huntington—Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Calley (nephew and niece of Miss Hopkins).

WOODROW WILSON FOUNDATION AWARD ANNOUNCEMENT

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation is offering two Woodrow Wilson awards of twenty-five thousand each for the two best articles of two thousand five hundred words on "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me."

This award is to be made in order to bring to young people of the United States a closer knowledge of the ideals and principles of our great war president. The contest is open to all young men and women in the country who have passed their twentieth birthday and have not yet reached their thirty-fifth. The papers may be written in an easy, natural style, since they are to be judged by the ideas contained rather than for literary style. No lengthy quotation may be given. Three excellent books by Mr. Wilson which will help contestants very much are "An Old Master," "When a Man Comes to Himself," and "Mere Literature." On or before October 1st, 1927, all papers must be in the hands of the judges at The Woodrow Wilson Foundation Award, 17 E. 42nd St., New York City. Papers must be typed, written on one side only, and sent unrolled to the judges. Any further information about the contest may be had by writing to the above address. It is to be hoped that a number of Agnes Scott's alumnae will interest themselves in this award, and write on the subject. Our own Mrs. Sam Inman of Atlanta is in charge of the contest in this part of the south, and is very anxious for Agnes Scott girls to compete.

COLLEGE CALENDAR

- February 12—Capt. Roald Amundsen, lecture: "By Airship From Rome to Nome."
 February 22—Founder's Day. Radio program broadcast.
 February 26—One-act plays given by Blackfriars, written by Miss Nan Stephens' play-writing class.
 March 10—Mrs. Maud Wood Park, lecture "Woman's Suffrage."
 March 12—Alumnae tea for Senior class.
 March 18—Intercollegiate debates. Agnes Scott debates Sophie Newcomb at Agnes Scott and Randolph-Macon in Lynchburg, Va.
 March 24—Miss Louise Driscoll, poet; a lecture.
 March 26—Decatur Alumnae Chapter present plays.
 March 30-April 4—Spring holidays.
 April 9—University of Florida Glee Club.
 April 13—A. A. U. W. meeting at Agnes Scott.
 April 23—Junior Class Circus.
 April 25-30—Metropolitan Opera Company week of grand opera in Atlanta.
 May 7—May Day dances in afternoon; senior opera at night.
 May 28-31—Commencement and reunions!
 May 28—Alumnae luncheon given by trustees. Blackfriar play.
 May 29—Baccalaureate sermon: Dr. Frank Morgan, Athens, Ga.
 May 30—Senior Class Day-Alumnae Day: Reunion class luncheons.
 May 30—Graduation exercises. Address by Dr. John A. Findley, editor of New York Times.

WHO COMES TO CLASS REUNIONS THIS MAY, ANYWAY?

If you belong to any of the classes given below, you are one of the ones who come to class reunions. And that is just the way the girls are coming back this year, too: "any way!" The important thing is to get here. Harriet (Scott) Bowen is motoring down from Virginia; Annie (Wiley) Preston is sailing across the Pacific Ocean; Dick Scandrett is going to walk on her own two feet over from Inman Hall. That's the way to get here—the best one that will bring you from whatever corner of this globe you've tucked yourself into! "Any way!" Come rolling up in a wheelbarrow if that is the only thing that will bring you. Emory University has provided a lake for the convenience of members of '07 who will come in their hydroplanes; if any alumnae expecting to return in that way will notify the alumnae office, they shall certainly find a lake of the proper proportions waiting them on May 28th when they come within sight of Agnes Scott campus.

According to the old plan of class reunions, a class comes back its first year out, its third year out, its fifth year out, and every fifth year thereafter. By this plan the following classes would come back to the college this year:

'97	'17
'02	'22
'07	'24
'12	'26

All the members of the classes enumerated above are to gather at Agnes Scott again this May—28th to 31st are the dates!

But this year, more are coming!

The Dix system of reunions, which has been adopted by many colleges already, is to be put into working order at Agnes Scott this year, it was decided at the February meeting of the Alumnae Association Executive Committee. The new classes which this new system will call back to reunion this year are:

'94	'13
'95	'14
	'15

An explanation of the Dix system is in order here. It is a plan of reunions thought out by the late Mr. Edwin Asa Dix, a Princeton alumnus, and the secretary of his class.

Since there are five-year intervals between the graduation of all the classes who come back at one time to a reunion, obviously nobody who comes back knows anybody else who comes back outside of her own class. The class of '17, for instance, never saw any of the girls of '12, '02, '07, '22 or '97—the classes who come back to reunion when '17 does. How much nicer it would be, Mr. Dix thought, if returning alumnae had the joy of seeing again not only classmates, but friends in other classes who were in college at the same time! By the system he worked out, groups of four classes who were in college at the same time return the same year. For example, the first time a class returns for a reunion, they find at the college all the classes who were in college when they were freshmen. '17 returning would find '16, '15, and '14. After five years, '17 returns again for reunion and finds this time all the classes who were here when '17 was a sophomore, i. e., '15, '16, and '18. Five years later when '17 comes back, it finds '16, '18, and '19. So that in four reunions, any single class sees every class that was in college when it was. So many of a girl's best friends are among girls in other classes that this plan should work splendidly at Agnes Scott. We are trying it for the first time this year; on the numbers from '94, '95, '13, '14, and '15 who return rest the success of the plan.

OPEN FORUM

WE DISCUSS THE AGNES SCOTT CURRICULUM

"Hasn't the alumna from North Carolina in the Forum opened a hornet's nest?"

"While I was at Agnes Scott, the course out of which I got the most value was one I had in Home Economics. After all, of what avail is one's classical knowledge when Johnny has a tantrum or the head-of-the-house is peevish from too much dinner the night before?"

"Many of the alumnae with whom I have talked agree that the most classic course Agnes Scott could give would be one of 'Home'—not just children or food, but 'Home' in all its moral, social, civic and economic aspects. With all the forces that are threatening homes today, can Agnes Scott afford to let her girls go out to make homes without giving them the opportunity to understand the relationship they ought to have to the rest of the community? They must know enough about managing their homes so that they may become worthy members of today's society.

"We more or less brag on the large percentage of our graduates who marry and have children, yet we are not keeping up with the Eastern colleges who are making a real effort along this line. Do let us try to impress our Alma Mater with the fact that many of us consider this a real issue."

MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF '14.

This Atlanta alumna agrees with North Carolina:

"The Forum in the Quarterly for November hit me the hardest, for I had last year been talking with some of the alumnae in my town about just the same sort of thing that North Carolina wrote about. I found not a single mother who wasn't tremendously interested and who didn't wish that she had had more of that sort of thing at Agnes Scott. I know the college objections to it, but after all, education needs not only to be cultural but to aid one in all sorts of social adjustments, and certainly the most important of those are of husband and wife, and parents and children.

"Where the family is the very foundation of our civilization, it does seem as though it ought to hold a place of real importance in all education."

And from Tennessee comes the following:

"It's rather pathetic, isn't it, to see what happens to the minds of most of the alumnae who marry? Mellin's food, cook's day off, silver polish formulas, how to arrange flowers in vases, and to make mustard plasters—of these are their lives made up. I find it hard to believe it of girls who studied with me at Agnes Scott, who got a real thrill out of mastering difficult mathematics problems, who began to understand a little of the universality of thought and feelings through their study of other languages, who through those fascinating history courses saw in a big way how the races have marched forward to where we stand today. I cannot realize that today, only a few years later, some of those same girls are advocating pushing into secondary places these cultural courses, and substituting cooking, sewing, household chemistry, and the care and feeding of infants. There are scores of women's magazines that offer in each issue menus planned for every meal, for every size family, for every size pocketbook, for every section of the country; ready-made dresses can be purchased in any town, and the monumental Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward catalogues we have with us always; it is neither necessary nor efficient for every housewife in the country to go back to chemical bases and prepare her own household compounds. This is an age of specialization. And one Dr. Holt has prepared a very good book on babies. No, I am not an old maid school teacher. I have a husband, three children, an eight-room house, and a cook to manage. I manage them.

"There are state colleges where cooking and cleaning and sewing are taught. They have many students. They are doing a splendid work. Their doors are open to any whose ambition leads them in that direction.

"During the freshman year at Agnes Scott when I was a student there, at some time during the second semester a theme was required of the purpose of a liberal arts college. We had a number of essays on the subject to read beforehand, and then we were to formulate our own personal idea. 'To know the best that has been said and thought in the world.' That is the purpose that the courses at Agnes Scott are leading towards now, and I for one should be distressed to see the college sidestep to include in its curriculum methods of felling a seam, taking up grease spots from carpets, or baking potatoes with the smallest amount of waste. Of course we have to know these things! We have to know how to darn our stockings and brush our teeth, too, but these are not the subjects to be taught in a liberal arts college. Education is to enable us 'to see the big things, big, and the little things, little.' Are the alumnae who clamor for household courses doing this, I wonder?"

CLASS REUNIONS IN MAY

Perhaps you hadn't noticed it, but all sorts of spring-like things are beginning to happen. New hats, for instance, and flowering almond in bloom, and little fuzzy chickens for sale in the ten cent stores. Remember how you used to struggle with your conscience about this time of the year and end the struggle by going to walk even if you did have a book signed up in the library? Or if you had taken as much exercise as your card would hold, and if it was unusually warm and balmy you and somebody else would take pillows out on the campus and pretend to do a little studying "in the great outdoors." The trees would be just faintly green and all the funny little bugs would be crawling out to see why the sun was so bright. The squirrels get unusually frisky about this time, too, and do diverting and hair-raising stunts on the telephone wires. Later on it gets really warm; doors and windows are left open and you can hear the pipe organ rumbling the length of the campus, to say nothing of interesting conversations carried on just outside classroom windows. Do you remember?

Well, if you don't, you never went to Agnes Scott and there's no use your getting homesick, for there will be no perfectly wonderful reunion in store for you at commencement time.

Of course there will be two kinds of reunionists—the official and the unofficial. The official ones will be those who go because everybody else is going and nothing on earth could keep them from being there. The others won't be having real class reunions but that won't make a bit of difference because there will be more people than they can talk to, anyhow. The married ones will brag about their husbands and houses, and the ones who aren't married will brag about the joy of not having any responsibilities. The ones with jobs will compare notes with the lady-like loafers; and each and every one will be sure to tell you that whatever she is doing or planning to do is absolutely the only thing.

Fancy seeing So-And-So whom you haven't seen since such-and-such a year! Won't it be marvelous? Wonder if she has changed much. Even if she has she'll be her old self the minute she puts her foot on the campus . . . You know how it goes . . . And haven't you a big bump of curiosity to see what the younger classes look like? Of course they can't possibly come up to the class of 1492 or 1776 or whichever it is that claims your loyalty; still, they might have their good points and it would be nice to assure yourself that Agnes Scott still has the finest bunch of girls in the world.

NEWS FROM THE CAMPUS

ALLIE (CANDLER) GUY, NEW ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

At the February meeting of the executive committee, Mrs. S. E. Thatcher (Mary West, '15), who was elected president of the Alumnae Association last May, tendered her resignation from that office on account of her health. Mrs. J. Sam Guy (Allie Candler, '13), who was formerly first vice-president, will fill her unexpired term, and Mrs. Milton Scott (Annie Pope Bryan, '15), former 2nd vice-president, automatically became first vice-president to fill Mrs. Guy's vacant place.

At a meeting of the executive committee called by Mrs. Guy on March 18th, Mrs. W. Reynolds Cuthbertson (Julia Hagood, '20), was elected 2nd vice-president, to serve until May, 1928.

Since the November Alumnae Quarterly went to press, the students have opened on the second floor of the new gym building a most attractive little book shop. It is called Tabard Inn, and any afternoon or evening that a body happens to drop in to browse around among the delightful volumes, she is sure to find quite as choice spirits browsing too as ever frequented the old Tabard Inn in Chaucer's day. Books—of poetry, fiction, essays—red books, blue books, brown, or green—fat ones, thin ones—leather bound, paperback—Tabard Inn shelves offer you a wide variety. An astonishingly large number of books have been purchased by students and faculty since the shop opened—but in addition to the buying feature, there is a rent library of current fiction there, and congenial souls are invited to come and spend a free hour whenever they can, curled up in a chair by the window reading, or to browse without buying, to their heart's content. The shop was begun and has been sponsored so far by Hoasc, and is a popular nook for the literature loving student.

Miss Cleo Hearon, head of the history department, has returned from Wesley Memorial Hospital, where she has been for almost eight weeks, suffering from sinus infection. Miss Hearon was prevented from chaperoning the debating team to Randolph-Macon this year on account of her illness.

The general alumnae secretary will attend the annual convention of alumni and alumnae secretaries to be held at the University of North Carolina the last week in April. This convention met at the University of Ohio last spring.

For the first time in the debating history of the College, Agnes Scott went down in a double defeat in the intercollegiate debates this year with Newcomb and Randolph-Macon Colleges. It is an entirely new sensation for Agnes Scott to lose, but we are proving that although fairly beaten on the debating platform this time, we are good sportsmen, and make as good losers as we have made winners in the past.

ALUMNAE HOUSE GIFTS

Among the recent gifts to the Anna Young Alumnae House are a taupe chenille rug for the living room, given by the Atlanta Alumnae Club; a lamp for the living-room table, from the Beardsley Studios, sent by Mrs. Horace Parker, whom many Agnes Scott alumnae will remember as Miss Ruth C. Pope; a Moravian pottery vase, and nest of ashtrays, gifts of the New York Alumnae Club; a silver service tray, gift of the '21 class; a check from Mrs. Span Milner (Ida Brittain); twelve large kodak scrapbooks (in which clippings and kodak pictures of alumnae and their children are to be kept) by Mrs. S. E. Thatcher (Mary West); linen pillowcases, towels, and dresser scarf, by Miss McKinney and Dr. Sweet, and Miss Lillian Smith.

The living room rug is the beginning of the work the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter has undertaken to do on refurbishing the entire living room. An interior decorator from the Brown Decorating Company in Atlanta has submitted a plan which the club proposes to follow in doing over the room.

ALUMNAE GIFTS TO STUDENT BODY

Last year the Alumnae Association sponsored the drama course, under the direction of Miss Nan Stephens. This year this course was included in the regular college curriculum, so since this department no longer needed financial support from the alumnae, they have turned their attention and financial assistance towards another branch of literature. At the February meeting of the executive committee of the association, it was voted to offer a prize of twenty-five dollars for the best piece of verse written by an Agnes Scott student this year. For several years past, Agnes Scott has had a thriving poetry society, which has done splendid work, and received quite a bit of recognition from national critics. The visit of Mr. and Mrs. DuBose Heyward of Charleston to Agnes Scott year before last furnished an impetus toward the production of poetry by our students. Miss Louise Driscoll, a nationally known poet, of Catskill, N. Y., spent several days on the campus during March, and gave a great deal of help to the students interested in poetry. Announcement of the winner of the Alumnae Poetry Prize will be made at Commencement.

Another gift from the alumnae association to the students was a check for twenty-five dollars which the president of the alumnae presented to Louise Bansley, president of the Day Students, in chapel on March 22nd. This money is to be used in helping to furnish the summer house, which has been glassed in and given to the day students to use temporarily until their cottage materializes.

ALUMNAE CLUBS

The news from the local clubs does not come in as promptly as it should, nor in detail. Again let the editor assure the alumnae club secretaries that the Quarterly is only too glad to make room for all the news of meetings, plans, accomplishments, etc., that the clubs will send in to the alumnae office.

The MARIETTA, GEORGIA, Club is well on the way of its second year of work. Hazel (Murphy) Elder is president. Marietta is within an hour's ride of Agnes Scott by trolley, and the club is planning a luncheon at the Anna Young Alumnae House for one of their spring meetings.

Mary Coley Speir is the new president of the CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA, Club. Charlotte is one of the strongest clubs of them all! One of their members—Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson—has been elected a vice president of the Alumnae Association, and another of their members—Came (Burgess) Clarkson—is president of the Charlotte A. A. U. W.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, is the newest club of them all! The Memphis girls got together to hear the radio program on February 22nd, and after looking each other over decided that they liked each other's looks so well that they would form a permanent club, and meet monthly. These are the Memphis alumnae:

Cecile Bowden (Mrs. J. T. Mayfield).
 Nell Coats (Mrs. J. M. Pentecost).
 Jane Curry.
 Elizabeth Hart.
 Sarah Hightower (Mrs. R. M. Barnes).
 Mabel Hyland (Mrs. S. A. Cunningham).
 Charlotte Jackson.
 Concord Leake (Mrs. John A. Austin).
 Margaret Leavitt (Mrs. H. G. Turner).
 Annie Byrd Maxwell.
 Margaret Rowe.
 Elizabeth Shaeffer.
 Margaret Smith (Mrs. J. E. Lyon).
 Elvie Wilson (Mrs. J. H. Wiley).
 Margaret Yeager.

If there should be any other alumnae in Memphis or within a few miles of Memphis who could attend the club meetings, they are asked to get in touch with Margaret Rowe, 1401 Court Ave.

The RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, Club held its first meeting this year on October 11th. The meeting took the form of a luncheon at Miller and Rhoads. Those present were Bessie (Winston) Williams, Louise Sanders, Poky Wight, Nan Lingle, Mary Cunningham, Jean (Robson) Rooney, and Nannie Campbell. The next meeting was on November 8th when the club met for lunch at the Gralyn. "There were nine Agnes Scotters present and one guest, Elizabeth Irwin, who was Fan McCaa's roommate last year. We were very glad our meeting came during Fan's visit to Richmond, and everybody enjoyed seeing her. We read a letter from Polly Stone and roared over the funny parts, shed a few tears once in a while over some very touching parts, and 'reminisced' about many things that happened when we were on the campus. It was one grand hour of 'sociabilities' and good times. The chief interest was news and yet more news. Those present were Fan McCaa, "Crip" Slack, Eloise Knight, Emily Guille, Nan Lingle, Dorothy Turner, Jean (Robson) Rooney, Flo-Wilma (Curtner) Dobson, Nannie Campbell." The Richmond club is a very live organization. A new member is Margaret (McLean) McLaurin who has recently married and moved to Richmond.

"The BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, Club had a lovely dinner-party at the Axis Club on Founder's Day with twenty-odd members present. Sally Horton was toastmistress, and introduced the following speakers: Mary (Bryan) Winn, 'The History of Agnes Scott'; Dorothy (Bowron) Collins, and Elizabeth (Ransom) Hahn, 'How the Girls Celebrate Washington's Birthday at the College Now' (Dot was George, and Lib was Martha one year); Mrs. G. H. Waller (Florence McCormick), 'Agnes Scott of Twenty-Five Years Ago'; and Olivia Swann, 'Agnes Scott Today.' Miss Hopkins' opening talk and the two musical numbers we heard thrilled us very much, but the static was terrible, and we missed a good deal of the program, much to our distress. We had many extemporaneous speeches and a jolly evening, static notwithstanding. Lucile (Little) Morgan was here from Heflin visiting her sister-in-law, Bert Morgan, and her presence added a lot to the occasion. The memorable event of the year so far for us was the visit Mr. Stukes paid us last fall. There was a tea at Vallie Young (White) Archibald's for him, and all of us who had not been back to the college for some time did so enjoy the news Mr. Stukes brought us. Then, too, our own Nell Esslinger was there, and proved to us that all the honors she won in the recent national musical contest were deserved, and then some! Her voice is really lovely, and Birmingham is proud that she has located here. She is the Music Study Club's prize exhibit."

The Agnes Scott alumnae in WASHINGTON, D. C., are making preparations for a local alumnae club there. We have 14 girls living in Washington. They are:

Louise Shipp Chick.
 Eleanor Coleman (Mrs. Roland Burchard).
 Thelma Cook (Mrs. H. Malon Turton).
 Elizabeth Craig.
 Mary Lucy Duncan (Mrs. George Howe).
 Elizabeth Evans (Mrs. Ralph Graves).
 Elizabeth Mabel Freley (Mrs. I. W. Ketchum).
 Jessie Ham.
 Charlotte Higgs.
 Virginia McLaughlin.
 Olivia Russell.
 Josephine Telford.
 Annie Judith Virgin (Mrs. A. V. Hall).
 Willie Wellborn.

Any of these girls who have not already done so are asked to get in touch with Louise Shipp Chick at 306 C St., N. W. Any other alumnae who may be in Washington, please call Louise, too.

The ATLANTA, GEORGIA, Club has made the first large purchase in connection with their undertaking of refurbishing the Anna Young Alumnae House living room. A large taupe chenille rug has been bought, paid for, and put down in the living room. It is a beauty, and gives us just a foretaste of what the entire room will look like when the Atlanta club has finished with it. The Atlanta club has a large membership, and is growing steadily.

The DECATUR, GEORGIA, Club came to life in January and has been showing so many signs of growth that it bids fair to rival the Atlanta club! The time of meeting has been changed from the afternoon, to 6 o'clock in the evening, when the club meets in the tea room of the Alumnae House for supper. At the January meeting there were over thirty present. The club is putting on a program of one-act plays on March 26th in the new college gym-auditorium, the proceeds to be used in helping refurbish the Alumnae House. The cast of the three plays, all of which are farces, include: Miss Lucile Alexander, Miss Margaret Phythian, Miss Llewellyn Wilburn, Mrs. Frances (Gilliland) Stukes, Mr. Stukes, Miss Ruth Pirkle, Miss Leone Bowers, Miss Dick Scandrett, Mrs. Martha (Eakes) Matthews, Miss Daisy Frances Smith, Miss Florinne Brown, Miss Ethel Ware, Miss Polly Stone. And, oh, we sigh for the old days when Emma (Jones) Smith and Louise Ware were in Decatur! They were our two stars, par excellence!

"In the spring a livelier iris——"

Speaking of a lively iris!

Is it necessary to say that this number of the Quarterly has a violently purple cover? Unless you are blind you cannot fail to note the change from drab brown. There may be some of you who were struck blind by the shock as you pulled your Quarterly from its usual demure cream outside wrapper. Well, what do you think of it? Comments are welcomed. Express your delight, horror, or indifference in a letter to the editor and she will see what can be done about it before the next Quarterly comes out. But mind, she makes no promises! She's rather partial to purple, herself.

ALUMNAE HOUSE GUESTS

Among the recent signatures in the Anna Young Alumnae House guest book are those of:

- Mary Ann McKinney, Nacogdoches, Texas.
- Lucy Naive, Clarksville, Tenn.
- Mary Cole, Richmond, Va.
- Marie Warren Potter, New York City.
- Martha (Brenner) Shryock and Mr. Shryock, Evanston, Ill.
- Otis L. Brenner, Augusta, Ga.
- Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Dexter, Union Grove, Wis.
- Mrs. Wm. C. Coart, New York City.
- E. L. Gash, New Orleans, La.
- Henry Howson, Philadelphia, Pa.
- R. L. Grundoe, Geneva, Switzerland.
- Theresa Newton, Madison, Ga.
- Mary Coley Speir, Charlotte, N. C.
- Amy H. Jones, New York City.
- Rebekah (Candler) Goodman, Lakeland, Fla.

Mrs. Horace Parker (Miss Ruth Cushing Pope), New York City.

- Anne Wiggins, New York City.
- Emma C. Denmark, Greenville, S. C.
- E. O. Heaton, Washington, D. C.
- Mrs. H. McK. Smith, Staunton, Va.
- Sarah Fullbright, Pensacola, Fla.
- Marguerite Dobbs, East Point, Ga.
- Gwynne Cannon, Carrollton, Ga.
- Dr. Wm. Ray Dobbins, Birmingham, Ala.
- Dr. R. P. Stephens, Athens, Ga.
- Malcolm E. Little, New York City.
- Eula L. Jarnagin, Chattanooga, Tenn.
- Tommie P. Duffy, Chattanooga, Tenn.
- E. Bradhead, New York City.
- Lyda Saxon, Rome, Ga.
- Lulie (Morrow) Croft, West Point, Ga.
- John D. Rather, IV, Tuscumbia, Ala.
- Robert Morris Henry, Tuscumbia, Ala.
- Mary Wallace Kirk, Tuscumbia, Ala.
- Judge Wm. Pinckney Greene, Abbeville, S. C.
- George J. Weitzel, Tuscumbia, Ala.
- Martha Lin Manly, Dalton, Ga.
- Nellie Richardson, Hawkinsville, Ga.
- Fredeen Beard, Yazoo City, Miss.
- Catherine Graeber, Yazoo City, Miss.
- Ruby Foster, New Orleans, La.
- Katherine Hardesty, New Orleans, La.
- Louise Driscoll, Catskill, New York.

LOST ALUMNAE

The new directory of Agnes Scott Alumnae of the Institute, Academy, and College is now being made up. In going over the files, we find that quite a number of the addresses are lost, and are appealing to the subscribers to the Quarterly to help find them. If you know anything about any of the girls listed below which would help in locating them, please send it in to the alumnae office at once. Mail returned from:

- Abernathy, Ann, 8 Jefferson Place, Decatur, Ga.
- Anderson, Fannie, Hillsboro, N. C.
- Anderson, Nina, Hillsboro, N. C.
- Barrier, Margaret, 200 Rosemont, Dallas, Texas.
- Benson, Bernice M., Tallapoosa, Ga.
- Boyle, Hortense, Geneva, Ala.
- Brower, Anne, Newnan, Ga.
- Burt, Ruth (Mrs. G. C. Hosch), 4127 Forest Park Blvd., St. Louis, Mo.
- Butler, Lucia (Mrs. S. J. Venable), Chase City, Va.
- Caldwell, Lucy Irvine, Paris, Texas.
- Caldwell, Nell Gene, 532 Clayton St., Montgomery, Ala.
- Carson, Mary V., 1221 W. 4th St., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Carter, Audrey, Valdosta, Ga.
- Copeland (Blanche), Mrs. H. H. Gifford, 3518 Court St., Birmingham, Ala.
- DeZouche, Ruth, 509 3rd Ave., Ottawa, Ill.
- Dickson, Mildred, Shreveport, La.
- Eagan, Evelyn, 1283 4th Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.
- Eames, Jessie, Burlington, N. D.
- Elkins, Willie May, Athens, Ga.
- Engel, Rosalie (Mrs. M. S. Greentree), Miami, Fla.
- Fainbrough, Gertrude, 61 E. Cain St., Atlanta, Ga.

- Forbis, Mary S., Plain Dealing, La.
George, Marie, Dorchester, Mass.
Gordon, Selma, 19 W. 184th St., New York City.
- Guinn, Eugenia (Mrs. T. E. Bush), Birmingham, Ala.
Guy, Helen Marie, 88 Cooper St., Atlanta, Ga.
Hall, Martha (Mrs. J. S. Young), Detroit, Mich.
Hamilton, Louisa Berrien (Mrs. L. B. Lockhart), Atlanta, Ga.
Harper, Marguerite (Mrs. W. M. Burke), Chicago, Ill.
Harrell, Anna Bourne (Mrs. M. E. Ballard), Birmingham, Ala.
Hilliker, Helen, Ann Arbor, Mich.
Hirsch, Celia (Mrs. S. I. Frank), Brooklyn, N. Y.
Hix, Mary Margaret, 526 McDonough St., Montgomery, Ala.
Jones, Louise (Mrs. S. Y. McGiffert), St. Louis, Mo.
Kendrick, Agnes (Mrs. J. H. Jarvis), Knoxville, Tenn.
Lewis, Anna, 53 Adair St., Atlanta, Ga.
Liebheit, Minnie (Mrs. J. B. Segur), Long Island, N. Y.
Liebheit, Olivia (Mrs. R. W. Ure), New York City.
Long, Frances K. Long, Clarksville, Tenn.
McAdams, Josie Hall, 400 Waldo St., Atlanta, Ga.
McCord, Sarah (Mrs. Smith), Decatur, Ga.
McGriff, Ora, Atlanta, Ga.
McLean, Harriet, Gastonia, N. C.
Mabbett, Mamie, Quitman, Ga.
Martin, Nellie Kate, 56 Mathewson Pl., Atlanta, Ga.
Mayer, Josephine, 499 Washington St., Atlanta, Ga.
Moody, Nettie, R. F. D. 3, Tusculumbia, Ala.
Moore, Annette, Marietta, Ga.
Moore, Maggie, Crew St., Atlanta, Ga.
Moore, Sarah Olive (Mrs. R. E. Robinson), Orlando, Fla.
Murphy, Margaret, Atlanta, Ga.
Patterson, Eddith Mae, 26 Gordon Place, Atlanta, Ga.
Patton, Inez, 100 Highland Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Peabody, Josephine, 2500 Peachtree Rd., Atlanta, Ga.
Perry, Edna, 88 San Marco Ave., St. Augustine, Fla.
Phinizy, Louise, Augusta, Ga.
Powell, Ella, 156 E. Pine St., Atlanta, Ga.
Randle, Charlotte, 62 Penn Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Robinson, Marcella (Mrs. B. J. Sams), Covington, Ga.
Russell, Susan, Shreveport, La.
Scharff, Rosalie (Mrs. E. H. Simon), Natchez, Miss.
Shadburn, Celeste (Mrs. C. M. Moon), Geneva Apts., Baltimore, Md.
Shambaugh, Marguerite, Clinton, Iowa.
Shuford, Lucile (Mrs. J. W. Bagby), Columbus, Ga.
Shurman, Annie, New Orleans, La.
- Smith, Evelyn, Wesley Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Sterne, Irene, 527 Washington St., Atlanta, Ga.
Sterne, Fannie, Richmond, Va.
Stevens, Rubie, Griffin, Ga.
Tate, Fay Douglass, Decatur, Ga.
Thomas, Frances, 414 W. 121st St., Chicago, Ill.
Thompson, Jessie, 335 Portland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Tipton, Sallie (Mrs. S. T. Rogers), Washington, Ga.
Wadill, Edith, Danville, Va.
Watson, Enid, 82 W. Harris St., Atlanta, Ga.
Whaley, Rebecca (Mrs. A. C. Rountree), St. Petersburg, Fla.
Williams Mary (Mrs. A. E. Connerley), 903 W. 6th St., Little Rock, Ark.
Lost Institute alumnae:
Almand, Floy (Mrs. J. B. Terrell), Cordele, Ga.
Anderson, O'Dora (Mrs. J. Gelzer, Jr.), Atlanta, Ga.
Armor, Elise (Mrs. C. C. Wills), Greensboro, N. C.
Arnold, Ethel, 38 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga.
Boykin, Belle, Willingham School, Blue Ridge, Ga.
Brown, Ethel A., Cave Mountain, Va.
Buchanan Myrtis (Mrs. A. F. Riffe), 199 Crew St., Atlanta, Ga.
Davis, Rose, 2130 F St., Bakersfield, Calif.
Day, Ninetta (Mrs. W. A. Sharp), College Park, Ga.
Dickson, Bess (Mrs. G. K. Taylor), 615 Cherry St., Bristol, Tenn.
Dobbs, Annie Beall (Mrs. L. F. Belling), Gen. Pershing Drive, New Orleans, La.
Good, Mary (Mrs. F. M. Binford), 511 W. Taylor St., Griffin, Ga.
Guess, Texas (Mrs. Henry Schuter), Route 2, Decatur, Ga.
Hamilton, Isabel (Mrs. D. B. Spratt), 276 Aeline St., Lake City, S. C.
Haygood, Love (Mrs. Will Donaldson), Tucson, Ariz.
Kendall, Louise (Mrs. Francis), 19 W. 44th St., New York City.
Lancaster, Sue, State Normal School, Farmville, Va.
Mayson, Mamie (Mrs. Paul Smith), Decatur, Ga.
Mead, Florence (Mrs. Cheney), 38 Daisy Ave., Long Beach, Calif.
Phillips, Nellie (Mrs. A. C. DeLoach), 808 Piedmont Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Pratt, Nellie (Mrs. J. A. Griffin), Fort Moultrie, S. C.
Pratt, Willie, Valencia Apts., Miami, Fla.
Shonts, Marguerite (Mrs. Rutherford Bingham), Havana, Cuba.
Stone, Annie (Mrs. W. T. Daughtry), 526 Ponce de Leon Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Turner, Audrey (Mrs. M. C. Bennett), 83 Cascade Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
Walden, May Olmsted (Mrs. J. A. Morton), 279 Henderson St., Atlanta, Ga.
Word, Maybeth (Mrs. E. A. Richmond), 55 Petersboro St., Detroit, Mich.

Concerning Ourselves

News of classes up to '00.

Sallie Abbott (Mrs. Nath Thompson) is living at 933 15th St., Augusta, Ga. Her husband is a Methodist minister, so they are often moving.

Stella Austin (Mrs. Milton Leroy Stannard), of Los Angeles, California, visited the College before Christmas with her daughter, Jean.

Mary Barnett (Mrs. A. V. Martin) writes from Clinton, S. C.: "This fall I have spent two delightful afternoons with an old Agnes Scott girl—Mrs. Ernest Mooror, who used to be Emily Divver. We were at Agnes Scott together in 1893, and had not seen each other for thirty-three years until she came to see me this fall. How we talked of auld lang syne! She is living in Greenwood, S. C., less than thirty miles from here. Her son, Ernest, Jr., is a sophomore at the Citadel, in Charleston. My oldest boy is a member of the sophomore class here at Presbyterian College, where my husband is a professor."

Annie Mary Cromartie is Mrs. Alexander McAlister Council, White, Oak, N. C. She has eight children, and has been a widow since September, 1925. Her children are Mrs. George Sloan, Jr., Wilmington, N. C.; Mrs. R. F. Stuart, Rowland, N. C.; Alexander McAlister, Jr., a junior at State College, Raleigh, N. C.; John C., a sophomore at Duke University at Durham, N. C.; and four younger children in High School. "I attended Agnes Scott Institute in its infancy. My regret is that I rarely see any of my college mates."

Marie Goetchius is Mrs. R. H. Orr, Summerville, Ga.

Fay Griffith (Mrs. Ralph Graves) has returned to America after a long stay in Paris.

Ada B. Hooper (Mrs. Chambliss Keith) writes: "My eldest son, Marshall Alston, has just been graduated at the University of Alabama. He was senior manager of the Alabama football team. Charles Hooper is now a freshman at the University. Last summer he visited my old roommate (Midge McAden's) daughters, Sallie and Emma Cothran, in Charlotte, N. C. My third son is Chambliss, Jr." Mr. Hooper is a lawyer in Selma, Ala.

Rosalie Howell is librarian for the Second Corps U. S. Army area at Governors Island, New York.

Georgia Johnson is teaching mathematics in the high school at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Lillie Wade Little (Mrs. Robert Ryals) is living on Clisby Place, Macon, Ga.

A most interesting letter from Anniebelle Monroe (Mrs. J. M. Douglas) to Nellie Louise Mandeville (Mrs. C. K. Henderson), says: "It has been many years since we were at old Agnes Scott Institute. I heard through one of the 'old girls' that you were secretary of the class of '99. I can scarcely lay claim to being ex '99, but as I was there at the institute during the year '95 to '96, I suppose I'm near kin to '99. Mary Wells (Mrs. J. B. Kuykendall), whom you doubtless remember, visited me last year, and she will return in May to see her son, James, graduate. Annie Emery (Mrs. R. O. Flinn) has a son here now, and Louise Inglis (Mrs. Love) and Bess Dickson (Mrs. Taylor) have had sons here. My! but that makes me feel old! Our oldest son we lost. We were married nearly four years before he arrived. My next boy is twelve, and we have a daughter nine years old. Dr. Douglas has the chair of Physics here at Davidson. It is very difficult for me to trace the sons of former school friends, unless I happen to know the maiden name of the mother, or I should say the married names of all the girls! I should like, if you know of any sons in College, for you to send me the names and it will give us great pleasure to have the boys in our home. Miss Vennie Holt's son, Joe Walker, was here three years, was in our home constantly, and just by chance one night I mentioned Agnes Scott. Joe said, 'My Mother used to be a teacher there.' So that brought forth questions and in the crowd of boys around our supper table that Sunday evening, I found three were sons of Agnes Scott classmates. Since then, Dr. Douglas teases me and says that I cross-question every student who comes to call as to his parentage. I was so glad to see a Phi Beta Kappa chapter established at Agnes Scott. That will mean much to the graduates. We had our initiation on Friday night, followed by a lovely banquet. Please let me know of any 'Agnes Scott sons' here at Davidson."

Died: Lula J. Stebbins (Mrs. Stowe), McIntosh, Ga.

Died: Ila Inez Warwick (Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick), Natchez, Miss., on January 21, 1927. She is survived by her husband and two children.

Annie Wiley (Mrs. Fairman Preston) is sailing April 26th on the Empress of Russia from Korea. She will arrive in Vancouver on May 8th and come directly to Agnes Scott. The occasion for Annie's visit is the graduation of her oldest daughter, Miriam, from Agnes Scott the last of May, and her oldest son, John Fairman, Jr.'s, graduation from Darlington Preparatory School in Rome, Ga. Annie's second daughter, Shannon, is a freshman at Agnes Scott. She will bring her youngest son, Rhea, aged four, with her.

1900—Class Secretary, Ethel Alexander (Mrs. Lewis Gaines), 18 Park Lane, Atlanta, Ga.

Jean Ramspeck (Mrs. Wm. Ross Harper), of Philadelphia, has been visiting in Atlanta during March.

Evelyn Tate (Mrs. I. Powell Morton), ex '00, is living at the Gatesworth Hotel, St. Louis, Mo. Her husband is working in architectural marble.

Amy Walden (Mrs. Costen J. Harrell), ex '00, is living at 938 Westover Ave., Norfolk, Va. Her husband is a Methodist minister. They have one son, Julius Walden.

Lillie Ora Lathrop, ex '01, writes from Kansan, Korea, of her work with her nurses. She says that if anyone has a new home they would like to give away, she and her nurses will be glad to accept it.

Hamilton Goss Ansley, the eldest son of Roba Goss (Mrs. Wiley S. Ansley), was married on December 12, 1926, to Dessie Kuhlke, ex '26, of Augusta, Ga.

Mabel Ponder (Mrs. Boothe Ingram) is the superintendent of the Pepperall School in Opelika, Ala.

Jessie Vereen (Mrs. J. H. Smithwick) is living at 5206 Colorado Ave., Washington, D. C. Her husband is Congressman from Florida in the United States Senate. Mary, their daughter, was married on December 15th to Capt. James Moriarity, of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Lucy Goetchius, ex '02, is now Mrs. M. N. Griffin, Rome, Ga.

1903—Class Secretary, Eileen Gober, Cherokee St., Marietta, Ga.

Nan Bagby Stephens has been made national chairman of the campaign to raise funds for the McDowell Colony. In February she was one of four judges at the Intercollegiate Glee Club concert in Greenville, S. C., sponsored by the Greenville Music Club, and including the greater number of colleges and universities in the South. On February 26th the Agnes Scott Blackfriars produced the second annual program of one-act plays by her play-writing class.

In a letter dated December 18, Emily Winn tells very vividly of her return to Chunju. On October 19th they first saw the shores of Korea. "The rice plains were full of golden, ripe grain, and the villages of straw-thatched mud houses were bright with big patches of red peppers spread out to dry on the roofs, and, as always, the most vivid touch of color was the bright red, green, blue, pink, and yellow of the children's clothes. All along the way after we left Taiden, people came down to the road to meet us and welcome us home. There isn't a more beautiful road anywhere than that from Riri to Chunju. When we came to the road that leads to the mission compound, all our Korean friends in Chunju were on the road, and the school boys were lined up in two long lines. During the first week we were invited to every home in the station to some meal, and it was certainly good to be home with our Chunju folks again, to hear all they have been doing during our absence and to tell them about America. The happiest thing that has happened since we got back is hearing that our junior Bible school is to have a new building—the Adah Hamilton Clark Memorial, given by her father, mother and sister." Emily has been teaching for a month in the Teachers' Institute, which graduated two teachers this year.

Mell G. Wright is Mrs. M. P. O'Brien, 1789 Davidson Ave., New York City.

Mattie L. Tilly (Mrs. A. L. McKee), '04, lives at Conley, Ga. Her husband is a farmer. They have two boys and two girls.

Frances Newman, ex '04, and her nephew, Louis Rucker, are traveling in Italy. Her latest book, "The Hard-Boiled Virgin," was one of the best-sellers of the winter.

Amette Crocheron, '06, has resigned her position with the Tuscaloosa Presbytery, and is living at home with her father.

Olive Brown, ex '06, is now Mrs. James H. Nelson, 831 N. Broadway, Minden, La.

Sarah Roals (Mrs. J. D. Spinks), '07, writes: "My three girls and one boy keep me busy, but I find time for work in the Presbyterian auxiliary, Woman's Club, Parent-Teacher Association, Library Board, etc. My flower garden is my chief recreation. Have just had a lovely visit from Dr. and Mrs. Arbuckle, whom all girls and faculty of my date at Agnes Scott will remember with love. Their daughter, Adele, goes to Agnes Scott next year as a freshman."

Jennette Shapard, ex '07, was in Selma, Ala., visiting in November. She has now joined her sister, Annie, '04, who is studying at Columbia University.

Laura Mays and her mother have quite an establishment in Marietta, Ga. They have a large staff of people at work, and Laura does all the designing. She does lingerie, negligees, and children's clothes—the very loveliest hand-made things imaginable.

Elizabeth Shippen is Mrs. Howard Tate. She has two beautiful little girls, Georgia, aged five, and Elizabeth, aged nine months. Mr. Tate is a lawyer in Jasper, Ga.

Katherine Dean (Mrs. Clifford W. Stewart) is prominent in club work in Opelika, Ala. Her husband is cashier of the bank there. They have two children.

Ruth Marion (Mrs. Louis E. Wisdom), '09, has moved to 2903 Mason St., Tampa, Fla.

Katherine Miller, ex '09, is Mrs. P. N. Calhoun, 1936 Chatham Drive, Columbus, Ga.

Sarah Pipes (Mrs. James M. Carson), ex '09, was killed in an automobile accident near Sarasota, Fla., last October.

Roberta Zachry (Mrs. Robert Ingle), ex '09, husband Robert, son Robert, and daughters Ruth and Roberta, have all traveled South in a Ford from their former home in Fulton, N. Y., and are living on Lee St., in Winchester, Va.

1910—Class Secretary, Agnes Nicolassen (Mrs. T. J. Wharton), 1612 6th Ave., Bessemer, Ala.

Annie Smith is general secretary of Y. W. C. A. at Portsmouth, Va.

Mildred Thompson has been honored by being selected as one of the fifteen outstanding alumnae to be represented in the 1927 edition of "The Silhouette."

News of ex-members of '10:

Tommie Dora Barker was recently nominated as vice-president of the American Library Association at the executive session in Chicago. This is the first time in the history of the association that a Southern member has been nominated for an executive office. The election will take place at the annual convention in June in Toronto, but nomination virtually assures election. Miss Barker is now president of the Southeastern Library Association. The honor was conferred on her by the national body in recognition of the extension work which has been accomplished in Atlanta, in expanding from a four-unit organization until today the city boasts one main library, eight branches, and two school departments. She has been head of the Carnegie Library in Atlanta since 1915.

Isabelle Stewart (Mrs. C. D. Terrell) has moved from Cordele to 1323 Union St., Brunswick, Ga. She has registered a daughter, Julia, as a student at Agnes Scott next year.

Ada Williams is Mrs. H. L. Robertson, 508 Hicks St., Waycross, Ga.

1911—Class Secretary, Theodosia Willingham (Mrs. W. W. Anderson), 63 Avery Drive, Atlanta.

Mary Wallace Kirk visited Agnes Scott en route to Charleston, S. C., in March.

News of ex-members of '11:

Annie Campbell (Mrs. Oliver Brawner) has moved from Freeport, Fla., to 20 E. Cervantes St., Pensacola, Fla.

Effie Jean Varner (Mrs. R. W. Baird) is living at 2005 Bay St., Charlotte, N. C.

1912—Class Secretary, Marie MacIntyre (Mrs. John I. Scott), Scottdale, Ga.

Marie MacIntyre (Mrs. John I. Scott) announces the birth of a little daughter, Rebekah Scott, in January.

Maizie Whitfield (Mrs. L. I. Nelson), '12, has moved from Frederick, Md., to 80 Peachtree Hills Ave., Atlanta.

1913—Class Secretary, Allie Candler (Mrs. J. Sam Guy), 1669 North Decatur Road, Druid Hills, Atlanta.

Grace Anderson (Mrs. W. E. Bowers) is still living in Selma, Ala., where her husband is a seedsman. They have two children, Edgar, Jr., and Lydia Eleanor.

Olivia Bogacki (Mrs. A. E. Hill) has moved to Atlanta, and will receive mail care Mrs. R. G. Clay, Cherokee Road.

Frances Dukes (Mrs. P. M. Wynne) and her family are back at home in Miami, Fla. The Miami storm damaged their house some, but not too badly to be repaired. Frances is writing during her spare time, and has been very much encouraged by having several of her things accepted.

Lilly Joiner (Mrs. L. D. B. Williams) has moved to Centenary, S. C.

Janie McGaughy is teaching Bible at Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va.

News of ex-members of '13:

Birdie Smith is Mrs. Fred Houser, 1318 Piedmont Ave., N. E., Atlanta.

Ermine Stanton is living in Havre, Montana. Her address is Box 560.

1914—Class Secretary, Martha Rogers (Mrs. Henry Noble), Westminster Hotel, New York City. Lottie May Blair (Mrs. S. C. Lawton) writes that her address is changed from "Box 1412": "I am no longer in the box, but in our own brand new home, 10 Williams Street."

Florence Brinkley, in "Modern Language Notes" for January, 1927, has published an article clearing up the confusion which has recently arisen concerning the identity of Nathaniel Field, the printer, with Nathan Field, the actor-playwright. It seems that they were sons of the same father, and the similarity of the names has given rise to a great deal of confusion among people studying that period.

Ethel McConnell (Mrs. W. M. Cannon) has recently moved to Opelika, Ala. She is taking an active part in the community life there, and has made many new friends. Her husband has the job that all of us dream of when we are children as the supreme joy; he is head of the ice cream factory!

Mary Pittard is general secretary for the Y. W. C. A. in Athens, Ga.

Martha Rogers (Mrs. Henry Noble) writes from New York: "As is only usual, I had a gorgeous reunion when the Quarterly arrived, and so did most of the other girls here. We had a dinner the night after it came, and it was so interesting to me to see how many Agnes Scott girls are in New York this winter, and the various things they are doing."

News of ex-members of '14:

Erma Harwell (Mrs. A. H. Cook) has just remodeled her beautiful home in Opelika, Ala.

Alma DeVane Roberts is now Mrs. Clifford T. Betts, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Louise Van Dyke has been home on a visit to her family in Chattanooga. She has returned to Paris, where she is correspondent for a number of American newspapers.

1915—Class Secretary, Martha Brenner (Mrs. James Shryock), 1018 N. Main St., Evanston, Ill.

Martha Brenner (Mrs. J. N. Shryock) and her husband visited Mary West (Mrs. S. E. Thatcher) in Atlanta during January, on the way to Augusta, Ga. Martha brought "Jimmie" out to Agnes Scott, and had a great time showing him her old haunts.

Lucy Naive visited Agnes Scott during January.

On account of her health, Mary West (Mrs. S. E. Thatcher) has had to resign from the presidency of the Alumnae Association.

News of ex-members of '15:

Alice Beach, formerly of Springfield, Tenn., is now Mrs. G. E. Fuqua, Adairville, Ky.

Mae Curry (Mrs. Turner Rockwell) has moved to 215 W. Colonial Drive, Orlando, Fla., from Thomasville, Ga.

Lucile Harris (Mrs. W. R. Klingensmith) has moved from Arkansas to 1409 Clug St., Amarillo, Texas.

Gladys McMillan is now Mrs. John Gunn, of Cuthbert, Ga. She visited her old home in Pensacola, Fla., during January.

1916—Class Secretary, Louise Hutcheson, 1841 Pendleton Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Ora Mast Glenn (Mrs. G. A. Roberts) is teaching piano and voice in Lavras Minas, Brazil. "How I should have liked to attend the '16 reunion last May! But Brazil was too far away.

I wrote a letter to our class secretary, but I am afraid it didn't reach her. In December my husband and I had a vacation trip to San Paulo, the big, bustling Chicago of South America. Both of us teach in the class room all day, at meal-times we attempt to teach our sixty small boys table manners, at night we often have glee club practice, and so our busy life goes. Elizabeth Gammon (Mrs. A. L. Davis) and her two girls and boy will soon be coming here to attend mission meeting. Her father is head of the school and work here. Brazil is a beautiful country and its people charming in many ways. Our rainy season has begun, and vegetation is flourishing. How I wish I could send you some of our beautiful carnations for the Alumnae House!"

Charis Hood (Mrs. A. W. Barwick) is living a very busy life in Des Plaines, Ill. "Among the various activities which claim a part of my time is the D. A. R. I have greatly enjoyed my work with it. Have recently contributed two programs myself—one on 'Our American Highlanders,' being a discussion of the Southern mountain folk and the dozen schools maintained wholly or in part by the D. A. R. for them, and another on my visits to 'The Hermitage,' Andrew Jackson's old home in Nashville, Tenn., and to the Stone Mountain Memorial."

News about ex-members of '16:

Eva Powers was married January 21st at her home in Anniston, Ala., to Mr. Thomas Sutherland Abel. They sailed immediately from San Francisco for Hawaii, where they will live. Eva's address is now Schofield Barracks, Honolulu.

Florence Preston is teaching in Atlanta, and living at 974 Ogleshorpe Ave., S. W.

1917—Class Secretary—To be appointed.

The members of '17 are already putting their heads together in making plans for their reunion this May, and they vow that nothing but sickness or sudden death shall keep them from having the largest percentage back to walk off with that attendance cup. Much has happened in the lives of the different class members since the last reunion, and May is the very best time to get together again and find out all about it. If you want to stay in the Alumnae House during commencement, send in your reservation at once to the general secretary before all the rooms are taken.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tucker (Laurie Caldwell) announce the birth of a son, John Hamilton Tucker, on November 14, 1926. The Tuckers have moved to 3403 Palmira St., Tampa, Fla.

Agnes Scott Donaldson is executive secretary of the Business Girls Club of Los Angeles, California. Her address is 1307 N. Allessandro St.

Mary Alice Eakes (Mrs. Lester Rumble) is living in Oxford, Ga., where her husband is the Methodist minister, and teaches in Emory University Academy. Mary Alice has two children, a boy and a girl.

Elizabeth Gammon (Mrs. A. L. Davis) will be home from Brazil on furlough in August. Her address while in America will be Crawfordville, Ga.

Janet Newton's address is 705 Whitaker St., Savannah, Ga.

May Smith is in California.

Sarah Caroline Webster is teaching in the Fulton County High School in Atlanta, and living at 1175 N. Boulevard.

News of ex-members of '17:

Elizabeth Evans is now Mrs. Ralph Graves, 3705 Harrison St., Washington, D. C. She and her husband and mother travelled in Europe all fall, studying conditions of rural life. Her husband is assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine, and wrote the article on Georgia, which appeared in the September issue.

Lucile Harrison, formerly of Arlington, Ga., is Mrs. Beggs, Fort Myers, Fla.

Georgia Hewson is a registered nurse in the French Memorial Hospital in Mokpo, Korea, Asia.

Carolyn Louise Hooper (Mrs. P. L. Pierce) has moved from Birmingham to 497 W. Lee St., Pensacola, Fla.

Grace Lawrence is now Mrs. Jesse Neal George, Corinth, Miss.

Dr. and Mrs. Montague Boyd (Margaret Phillips) announce the birth of Margaret Elizabeth Boyd, January 29, 1927. Margaret's other child, Montague, Jr., was five last November.

Helen Robinson is Mrs. W. P. Gaines, LaFayette, Ala.

Lillian White is Mrs. Wm. H. Felton, Jr., Cartersville, Ga.

1918—Class Secretary, Margaret Leyburn, 110 E. 5th St., Atlanta, Ga.

Elva Brehm (Mrs. Lester W. Florrid) has moved from Atlanta to Box 2647 Miami, Fla.

Myrtis Burnett is Mrs. Paul P. Bellan, 1126 Polk St., Vicksburg, Miss.

Fannie Oliver (Mrs. J. F. Pitman) has been visiting her mother in Montgomery, Ala., during February.

Katherine Seay is studying at the National School of the Y. W. C. A. in New York. She writes: "I am living at the International House, 500 Riverside Drive, just three doors from Ruth (Slack) Smith, and as you know, Mrs. Choi, '26, from Korea is here, too. We have had one delightful meeting of the Agnes Scott Club since I've been here, and are looking forward to another this month."

Martha Grace Young (Mrs. F. W. Pecl), ex '18, is living at 173 Gregory Ave., Dearborn, Mich. Her husband is in the aviation division of the Ford Motor Company. They have one son, born August 31, 1925. "He is the finest boy going—only handicap being his inability to attend Agnes Scott seventeen years from now."

1919—Class Secretary, Almeda Hutchison, 220 S. McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.

Lucy Durr writes: "Last fall I had a trip to Chattanooga to do some Girl Scout work, and incidentally inspect the husbands and children of my old Agnes Scott friends. They all measured up pretty well, and I got a good course on the 'care and feeding of infants' from their conversations. I saw Frances (Thatcher) Moses, Lois (Leavitt) Ragan, and Nancy (Sizer) Taber, Miss Margaret McCallie, Genie (Johnston) Griffin, Minnie Allen, and Dorothy Brown. The children were all beautiful and bright and show promise of wonderful futures. The school in which Miss McCallie and Minnie Allen teach is perfectly charming and they are fascinated with the work. Last summer I went to Camp Nakanawa, where Mary Kate Parks, "Peanut" Rowe and Anne Houston were all councillors. We had a good time reminiscing and trying to learn to dive. This fall I have no particular duties but we are just organizing a Little Theater Guild here in Montgomery and I am very much interested in it. We are quite thrilled over having the organization, as we have attempted it several times."

Shirley Fairley (Mrs. L. F. Hendricks) has moved from Hazlehurst to Jackson, Miss. When Miss Hopkins, Dr. McCain and Mr. Stokes were in Jackson at the recent educational convention there, the Jackson Alumnae gave them a lovely luncheon at the country club.

Louise Marshburn is Mrs. "Kid" Riley, of Miami, Fla.

News of ex-members of '19:

Mary Buchanan (Mrs. W. D. McDermott) has moved from Little Rock, Ark., to 2128 Colcord Ave., Waco, Texas. She has one little daughter, Mary Dees, born September 1, 1924.

Aline Harby (Mrs. Leland Moore) has two little girls, Alice Harby, six, and Luey Campbell, four. Her husband is in the lumber business. They live in her old home, at 121 Calhoun St., Sumter, S. C.

Ruth Lowe is Mrs. S. Warren Irvin, of Charlotte, N. C. She has two small boys, Warren, Jr., and Samuel.

Mary Belle Wylds was married January 15th in Aiken, S. C., to Mr. David Carlisle Way. For several years Mary Belle has been principal of the Goodwin Chapel School near Augusta, Ga. Mr. Way is in the real estate business in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he and Mary Belle will live.

1920—Class Secretary, Mary Burnett (Mrs. W. L. Thorington), Taft, Texas.

Louise Abney is teaching in Athens, Ga., and doing graduate work at the State University there. She is the author of an article recently published in the Journal of the Entomological Society in America. Louise writes that she has the Ph.D. bee in her bonnet, and hopes to be the first in the class of '20 to get that degree.

Beff Allen is still doing child welfare work in Greensboro, Ala.

Mary Burnett (Mrs. W. L. Thorington) announces the birth of her second daughter, Elizabeth Chilton, on March 5th.

Cornelia Hutton (Mrs. John Hazlehurst) has moved from Savannah, Ga., to 121 McQueen St., Sumter, S. C. Her husband is a paved road contractor.

Virginia McLaughlin's address for the winter is 4424 P St., Washington, D. C.

Elizabeth Marsh is teaching at the North Avenue Presbyterian Girls School in Atlanta.

Lillian Patton is teaching Latin in Chattanooga, Tenn., and is one of the most popular teachers in her High School.

Helen Williamson is teaching in Atlanta. Her home address is 1069 Washita Ave., N. E.

News of ex-members of '20:

Miriam Dean (Mrs. M. D. Voellnagle) has moved from Rochester, N. Y., to 611 Huntington Bldg., Miami, Fla.

Died: Lillian Gladys Fargason, of LaFayette, Ala.

Marian Harper (Mrs. D. L. Kellogg) has moved from Windsor, Vt., to 41 S. 7th Ave., LaGrange, Ill. Her husband is consulting engineer for the Western Electric Company in Chicago.

Eleanor Ray Mitchell is now Mrs. Sherry Quarles, 25 Berwyn St., East Orange, N. J.

Olivia Russell is teaching in Washington, D. C. Her address is 2001 O St., N. W.

Lurline Torbert's old nickname of "Sugar" still sticks to her, though she is now Mrs. A. S. Shealey. She has been sick for some time this winter.

1921—Class Secretary, Janef Preston, Agnes Scott College.

The sympathy of '21 is extended to Caroline Agee, who recently lost her mother.

Dorothy Allen is teaching in St. Augustine, Fla. Her address is 28 Saragossa St. She stayed at home last year, and spent the Christmas holidays there this year. Dot likes Florida fine, and enjoys being so near "Sis" Jones.

Charlotte Bell (Mrs. W. A. Linton) and her husband and three boys have moved to Chunju, Korea, where Mr. Linton has been made head of the Boys School.

Thelma Brown is devoting all her time to studying piano.

Eleanor Carpenter is a very enthusiastic member of a harp trio in Louisville, Ky., she writes: "We are playing all over Louisville, at weddings, banquets, etc., sometimes as a trio, sometimes in solo work. We are starting out in a few weeks to towns in Kentucky and Indiana to give regular concerts, and we hope materially to broaden our territory next year. My harp work is without doubt the most thrilling experience I have ever had. It is not only the music which I adore, but I have had such interesting experiences, and contact with a world entirely different from anything I had previously known or imagined. The 1927 convention of the National Association of Harpists meets in Louisville in March. My harp teacher is convention manager, and I am her assistant, so you know I am busy." Eleanor visited Mary Barton and Helen Barton (Mrs. E. McC. Claytor) in Sevanee last June.

Edythe Clark was married in the fall to Mr. Paul Alexander, of Asheville, N. C.

Louise Fluker is teaching Mathematics and Science in the high school at Thomson, Ga., and coaching the girls basketball team.

Mary Louise Green is teaching at Corinth, Miss.

Sarah Harrison is teaching in Miami, Fla.

Anne Hart (Mrs. Murcock Equen) has named her second little daughter Carol, for she was born on Christmas Day, 1926.

Emily Hutter (Mrs. A. P. Stewart) has moved to Chattanooga, Tenn. She is teaching this winter, and living in the Hollywood Apt., on Holly Street.

Genie Johnston (Mrs. George Griffin) came home to Atlanta during January for her sister, Delia's, wedding.

Mary Ann Justice (Mrs. Clarence Miracle) has moved to Fernandina, Fla. Mail will reach her addressed to Box 89.

Jean McAlister's trip to Europe last summer was so delightful that she and her sister, Flax, are already planning another one this coming summer.

Fannje McCaa is at home in Anniston, Ala. Miss Gaylord visited her during January.

Margaret McLaughlin (Mrs. W. F. Hogshead) has been in Richmond, Va., for a serious operation.

Frances Charlotte Markley, with an uncanny ability to get into the very middle of an exciting time, is enjoying herself immensely in China now. The last news from her was of a gay and interesting life in Shanghai—"as far removed as possible from the ordinary conception of mission life." Since the war, the school where she was teaching has been closed, and there is a possibility that she may have to come home, but she hopes to stay on. She is planning a trip in the summer to Korea to see Charlotte (Bell) Linton.

Vienna Mae Murphy is teaching at Richland, Ga.

Rachel Rushton was married on February 17th to Mr. Nathaniel Woodbridge Upham, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sarah Stansell teaches English at the Girls Preparatory School in Chattanooga. She is an active member of the Chattanooga Writers' Club, and writes plays and pageants.

Martha Stansfield will begin work at Chicago University next year for her doctor's degree.

Amy Twitty is teaching the fourth grade in Miami, Fla. She and a friend of hers have an apartment at 1528 S. W. 3rd St. and are having a wonderful winter.

Julia Watkins (Mrs. Harry Huber) is living at 906 Cleveland St., Lake Charles, La. Her husband has the Buick Automobile Agency there.

Helen Wayt has gone on a several months' trip to California, taking a leave of absence from her mission Sunday School which she teaches at two-thirty every Sunday afternoon.

News of ex-members of '21:

Sarah Frances Bowling is Mrs. J. T. Frazer, Opelika, Ala.

Marion Bowling is Mrs. G. L. Jenkins, LaFayette, Ala.

Frances Dearing (Mrs. Sam Burney Hay) has a new daughter, born during February.

Esther Dismukes (Mrs. E. G. McCormick) and her army major husband have moved from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y. Army wives and Methodist preachers' wives are kept moving!

Margaret Leavitt was married November 6th to Mr. Henry Grady Turner. Martha Laing, '21, and Lois (Leavitt) Ragan, ex '19, were attendants. Margaret's new address is Knickerbocker Apt. 3, S. McLean St., Memphis, Tenn.

Edith Roark is teaching Latin in the high school in Franklin, Ky. She spent last summer abroad. Edith has a sister who is a junior at Agnes Scott, and she is planning a visit to her this spring.

1922—Class Secretary, Julia Jameson, 1046 West End Ave., Franklin, Tenn.

'22 is looking forward to its five-year reunion this May, and making plans accordingly! The Agnes Scott campus is the place for every member of old '22 to be during the last week-end in May; don't turn up missing!

Jeannette Archer was married on March ninth to Mr. William Henry Neal. The ceremony was performed in the Anderson Auditorium in Montreat, and Jeannette's sister, Cornelia, ex '24, was her only attendant. Mr. Neal is a graduate of Davidson College, and at present is assistant cashier of the Charlotte National Bank in Charlotte, N. C., where they will make their home. Jeannette visited Atlanta and Agnes Scott the last week in February.

Elizabeth Brown is head of the American Red Cross in Albany, Ga.

Nell Buchanan made a trip South (or, perhaps, since she lives in Virginia, we had better say "further South") in January, stopping at Charlotte, Atlanta, and Birmingham, among other places. Nell will conduct another party abroad this summer.

Cama Burgess (Mrs. Francis Clarkson) and her husband took a second honeymoon trip to New York in the fall. Cama is president of the A. A. U. W. branch in Charlotte. Her little daughter, Sara, has been both walking and talking for some time, and Cama says she does both all day long. Cama and Sara visited Cama's mother in Atlanta during the winter.

With the advent of her twins, Emily Elizabeth and James Moffatt, on November 28th, Eunice Dean (Mrs. Harold Major) claims to have the largest family in '22. At first Hal, Jr., aged not quite two years, had his nose terribly out of joint, but he has gracefully given in now, and yielded up his title as baby of the family. Eunice writes: "I think only in terms of sterilized bottles, milk formulae, weight charts, and feeding schedules. I always thought twins looked something alike, but these babies must be the exception, for they couldn't be more unlike if one had been born in Europe and the other in South America. One is a perfect blonde, and the other a perfect brunette."

Ruth Evans is teaching the fourth grade at St. Augustine, Fla.

Roth Hall (Mrs. Virgil Bryant) writes from the Presbyterian manse in Lexington, Miss.: "You can't imagine how much fun it is to have a natural-born comedian for a son. And he a preacher's son, too! Though little Virgil is scarcely 15 months old, he has quite a repertoire of entertaining stunts, and I enjoy him immensely."

Frances Harper writes a most interesting letter from Baton Rouge, La.: "The intervals between Latin classes are occupied with the other multitudinous activities of school-life: Am going on with my work in History and getting as great a thrill as ever from it. Have just started a Latin Club here; at the first meeting we played games in Latin, and laughed till we cried! The greatest and only trouble about living here is that it is so far from everywhere else. There is so little time to write, and so few Agnes Scotters ever venture over this way. I heard the Founder's Day program, however, over the radio at the home of Mrs. B. B. Taylor (May McKowen, '06), whose eldest son is in my second year class. Julia Heaton was there, too. I am planning to be back at summer school again this year at L. S. U."

Marion Hull's engagement has been announced to Dr. Samuel Leslie Morris, Jr., the wedding to take place May 14th. Dr. Morris is a graduate of Davidson College in the class of '11, a graduate of Harvard Medical School in the class of '16, and was just completing a special training at the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital in Boston when war was declared. He served as a captain in the medical corps, attached to the British expeditionary force in France for the duration of the war. Dr. Morris is now practicing in Atlanta, where he and Marion will make their home.

Julia Jameson visited Dorothy Luten (Mrs. Harold Cave) in Texas last summer. Julia will be a guest at the Anna Young Alumnae House during opera week in Atlanta in April.

Juanita Kelly is teaching again this year at the Cumberland Mountain School at Crossville, Tenn. She spent last summer traveling in Europe.

Mary Knight holds a position with the educational department of Chas. Scribners' Sons in Atlanta.

Lucia Murchison has been in Baltimore since June working on her master's degree in Political Economy at Johns Hopkins. Her address is 1028 Cathedral St.

Emma Proctor is teaching in Lancaster, S. C.

Harriet Scott (Mrs. Gratton Bowen), her husband, small son, Gratton, Jr., and her sister, Dorothy Scott, ex '23, are planning to drive down from Virginia in May to be at Agnes Scott for that 1922 class reunion.

Elizabeth Wilson has been working for several months with the Hearst International Newspaper syndicate, writing articles for the Sunday magazine sections.

News of ex-members of '22:

Ruth Brown is working in the library in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Josephine Gardner is now Mrs. C. J. Stratton, of Greenwood, Miss.

Blanche Louise Hearing, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., is now Mrs. Lyon Perry Wilbur, 5560 Pershing Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Coma McCaskill is circulation manager of a newspaper in Fayetteville, N. C.

Lucy Macrae is living in Wartrace, Tenn. She is now Mrs. James S. Justice.

Lillie Maril (Mrs. C. H. Jacobs) has moved from Savannah, Ga., to 207 S. Melville Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Anne Ruth Moore was recently married at her home in Decatur to Mr. Thomas Philip Crawford, of Gainesville, Ga. Margery (Moore) McAulay, '20, Anne Ruth's sister, was matron of honor.

Rhoda Nichols is a member of the firm of Perrint Aub in Boston, makers of architectural models. Her address is 49 Grave St.

The engagement of Lois Polhill to Mr. Robert Murphy Smith, of Dublin, Ga., has been announced. The marriage will take place in April.

Mary Ransom spent the fall studying at Peabody College, and is now teaching English at Rock Hill, S. C.

Marguerite Sentelle is now Mrs. Otis Fleshman, New Roads, La.

News has just been received at the alumnae office of the death last July from tuberculosis of Bess Brown Telford. Bess' sister had taken her from her home in Kentucky to Denver, Colorado, some time before in a last vain effort to save her life, and it was in Denver that the end came. In her death, '22 has lost one of the gayest and dearest of those who entered college together as happy, carefree freshmen in 1918.

During her father's recent illness at an Atlanta hospital, Allie Louise Travis has been staying at the Alumnae House.

Rosa Wilkins is a student nurse at the Vilhendorf Nurses' Home in Augusta, Ga.

1923—Class Secretary, Emily Guille, 3400 Brook Road, Richmond, Va.

Margaret Brenner lost her father just before Christmas.

Sarah Belle Brodnax (Mrs. Granger Hansell) is living at 77 E. 7th St., Atlanta.

Nannie Campbell's mother, who had not been well for some time, died very suddenly during January.

Phillippa Gilchrist has a leave of absence from the chemistry department at Agnes Scott and will do graduate work at the University of Wisconsin next winter.

Mary Goodrich is living at 1357 Riverside Ave., Jacksonville, Fla. She is teaching.

Brooks Grimes is teaching again this year in Quitman, Ga.

Lucie Howard visited in Atlanta during February. Lucie was on one of her numerous trips to be a bridesmaid. She has long ago gotten past the danger of "three times a bridesmaid."

Jo Logan writes from Appalachia, Va.: "The first thing I had to do after arriving here, besides getting unpacked, settled, and meeting Hugh's congregation, was to learn how to cook. I am fortified with a cook book with over a thousand recipes, so I'm having a grand time, and won't be happy till I've gone all the way through the book and tried them all! Poor Hugh!"

Hall McDougall was married in Memphis on December 22, to Mr. William Westmoreland Terry, of Tampa, Fla.

Martha McIntosh (Mrs. George Nall) announces the arrival of little Alice McIntosh Nall, on February 4th, 1927.

Margaret Turner has spent a good part of the winter in Atlanta, on account of illness. She is at 473 Moreland Ave., N. E.

Alice Virden is teaching the 3rd grade at the Barr School in Jackson, Miss. Her address is 964 N. State St.

News of ex-members of '23:

Sarah Bryan is local director of Girl Scout work in Tampa, Fla.

Margaret Hay writes from her school, just eighteen miles north of San Francisco: "Four days after I landed in America last May, my father fell and broke his leg, then when he recovered, mother fell and broke an ankle, so I spent the summer keeping house, and nursing invalids, and learning to ride horseback, undaunted by the family collection of broken bones. This winter I am learning to speak Italian, in the hopes of walking through the hill towns of Italy next summer."

Annie Byrd Maxwell, ex '23, is teaching expression in Memphis, Tenn. Since leaving Agnes Scott, Annie Byrd has spent a summer studying in Boston at the Curry School of Expression, and has been councillor in camps ranging from Asheville, N. C., to Manitou, Colo. Last summer she visited in Atlanta and Decatur, and of course came over to Agnes Scott.

Caroline Moody (Mrs. Ray Jordan), ex '23, is living at 1616 Walker Ave., Greensboro, N. C., where her husband is pastor for the North Carolina College for Women. They have one little boy, Ray, Jr., who will be two years old in February.

Alex Morrison, ex '23, has spent the past few years in traveling. She has been to Egypt and the Holy Land, and made several trips to Europe.

Clarisse Read (Mrs. C. C. Curnutt), ex '23, who has been living in California ever since her marriage, spent the summer with her mother in Atlanta. Clarisse has two adorable little girls.

Dorothy Scott, ex '23, is teaching again at Grundy Presbyterian School in Virginia.

Christine Sinclair, ex '23 was married on September 30, 1926, to Mr. William Naramore Parsons, Jr. Margaret Parker (Mrs. M. E. Turner), ex '23, Jo Havis, '24, and Alberta Bieser (Mrs. Hodge Havis), ex '24, were among those entertaining for Christine before her marriage. Christine met Mr. Parsons while they were both singing in light opera at the Atlanta Theatre. Jennie (Hall) Lemon's child was flower girl in Christine's wedding.

Frances Stuart, ex '23, writes from Knoxville, Tenn.: "Have driven about six thousand miles this summer through Florida, Georgia, Kentucky and Tennessee. I am starting my fourth year as elementary teacher here in Knoxville. Am enjoying life to the fullest, working hard, and having a good time."

Elizabeth Stroud ex '23, was married on August 20, 1925, to Mr. George Wm. Hamilton. They are living at 601 N. Greenwood Blvd., Greenwood, Miss.

Margaret McLean was married on December 28th to Robert Torrey McLaurin at her home in Winona, Miss. Poor Margaret said that everything in the world happened to keep her marriage from taking place. It was at the time when there were such heavy floods in Mississippi, and Winona was practically cut off from the rest of the world. The bridesmaids' flowers and the reception refreshments were ordered from out of town and almost didn't arrive. The groom arrived, but on account of the roads, there almost wasn't any honeymoon trip. But everything turned out all right at last, and Mr. and Mrs. McLaurin are now safely in Richmond, Va., where Mr. McLaurin is studying medicine.

Mary (Lane) Trimble is now Mrs. F. M. Akers, Jr., 46 Berwick Ave., Atlanta.

Margaret McColgan is studying at Columbia University. Her address is 1230 Amsterdam Ave., New York City.

Died: Annie Elizabeth Miller, December 9, 1926.

Lillian Moore (Mrs. Henry Rice) has moved to 134 1st Ave., Daytona Beach, Fla.

Lois Moriarty is now Mrs. George C. Watkins, Ripley, Tenn.

"Margery Warden died very suddenly last spring after a few days illness with pneumonia. After Margery left Agnes Scott, she studied piano and violin at the Louisville, Ky., conservatory of music, and then went to the Kentucky State University. There, as in Louisville, she made such a reputation for herself in the Little Theater, that three New York producers came to Lexington to see her play in 'Lilium.' She accepted a position with one of them—the Theater Guild in New York—and played in Shaw's 'Caesar and Cleopatra.' Her work was praised by all critics who saw her. She had just started to work on a new play at the time of her death. Her career was most promising. She had found herself, and was making the most of her talents. Death and Margery seem so incompatible, as she was so vitally alive always."

Helen Watkins was married on October 12th to Mr. Clare Hill Draper, Jr. Her address is Virginia Apts., Greenville, S. C.

1924—Class Secretary, Dick Scandrett, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga.

Mabel Akers is teaching at McIntosh, Fla.

Frances Amis has moved to 203 South West Ave., in El Dorado, Ark., where she is teaching this winter.

Emily Arnold is teaching in Chowan College, Murfreesboro, N. C. She received her Master's degree last year at the University of Colorado, where she was a member of the Chi Omega fraternity.

Elizabeth Askew is teaching the eight little children of the managers of the Hershey Chocolate Plantation at Hershey, Cuba. She is learning Spanish, riding horseback, and having a wonderful time. Her eight little pupils represent almost as many nationalities, and she writes that she is becoming quite cosmopolitan.

Virginia Burt and Helen Wright have already reserved their room at the Alumnae House for commencement this year. '24 is planning to have the very biggest attendance of any class back, and the very nicest reunion of them all! Virginia writes: "I am still a leisurely loafer. Have bobbed my long-treasured tresses in the fight of competition with the younger flappers."

Gwynne Cannon is teaching at Carrollton, Ga. She and Marguerite Dobbs and Sara Fullbright, '25, met at the College during March. Gwynne, Marguerite and Louise Hendrix have already engaged their room, too. Those of you who expect to stay in the Alumnae House had better sign up for a room right away, before they are all taken.

Beulah Davidson spends frequent week-ends at the Alumnae House.

Martha Eakes (Mrs. Warren Matthews) writes that she will be a widow until June. Her husband has gone to the University of Chicago for some graduate work in Medicine. Martha is teaching in the Bass Junior High in Atlanta, so she cannot join Mr. Matthews until June. Martha entertained the Decatur '24 club at their February meeting. Vivian Little, Daisy Frances Smith, Dick Scandrett, Beulah Davidson, Frances (Gilliland) Stukes, and Polly Stone were present.

Emmie Ficklen (Mrs. Marvin Harper) and her husband have completed their plans to sail for India in August, where they will do mission work.

Katie Frank Gilchrist writes that she is another member of '24 who will be at the college with bells on for '24's reunion in May.

Frances Gilliland (Mrs. Guerry Stukes) and her husband will spend the summer in Europe.

Josephine Havis has recently undergone a very serious operation for mastoiditis.

Louise Hendrix is teaching at Newnan, Ga.

Kate Higgs is in Tucson, Arizona, again this winter.

Lillian McAlpine was married March 17th at the Home Moravian Church in Winston-Salem, N. C., to Mr. Philip Butler.

Mary Mann was married in December to Dr. Harry Mitchell Boon. They are living at the Italian Villa, 100 Montgomery Ferry Road, Ansley Park, Atlanta.

Mary Moberly is teaching at Laurel, Miss.

Fran Myers (Mrs. George Dickey) is living at 55 W. 11th St., New York City. She writes that she peruses her Boston cook book daily, and is the model wife.

Virginia Ordway is teaching in the High School in Anniston, Ala.

Dick Scandrett spent Christmas with her sister, Lois, in Mobile, Ala., and with Pauline Wheeler, in Cordele, Ga.

Polly Stone spent a few days in New Orleans during February.

Elma Swaney was married during November to Mr. Harry Gibson Nelson. They motored to North Carolina on their honeymoon, and came by Agnes Scott for a few hours. Elma's address is 314 E. 4th St., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Annie Wilson Terry is teaching in her old Alma Mater, the Lanier High School, in Montgomery, Ala. Annie Wilson spent Thanksgiving at the College.

Augusta Thomas is teaching the third and fourth grades at the Thorpe Military Academy at Lake Forest, Ill. She has only eight pupils in all, four in each grade. "At meals, I have charge of a table, and have five little boys to control and teach table manners. They are darling, and although they almost make me lose my mind sometimes, I am crazy about them. I am only thirty miles out of Chicago, and 'oh, girls, that's where my money goes'"

Clara Waldrop is teaching at Newnan, Ga.

News of ex-members of '24:

All of these ex-members who will, are invited to come back this May and help celebrate our fifth year reunion. The dates are May 28-31.

Minnie Allen is teaching the first grade and the art classes at the Bright School in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mary Evelyn Arnold (Mrs. Forrest Barker) is living in Anniston, Ala. Her first baby was born last July.

Josephine Beason is working in Atlanta, and living with her mother on Piedmont Avenue, N. E.

Elizabeth Branch (Mrs. Wilbur King) has moved back to Atlanta.

Annabel Burkehead (Mrs. Ed Greene) is living at 156 Huntington Road, Atlanta.

Augusta Cannon is Mrs. Hungerford, of Macon, Ga.

Elizabeth Dabney was recently married to Mr. George Andre Grabien. Her address is Box 50, Monterey, W. L. Mexico.

Kathleen Denney is Mrs. Will D. Young, Lebanon, Tenn.

Augusta Guerry is teaching at Quitman, Ga.

Catherine Harris was married during the late summer to Mr. C. B. Primm, 2215 Patterson St., Nashville, Tenn. Katie Frank Gilchrist was one of her bridesmaids.

Anne Hatton is Mrs. W. W. Lewis, of Whitmore, S. C.

Dorothy Luten (Mrs. H. S. Cave) has moved from Texas to Roswell, New Mexico.

Elizabeth McCarrick is in charge of the children's department of the Webster branch of the New York Public Library. This is located on New York's East Side, and Elizabeth is doing a splendid work in Americanization, there among the little new citizens. An anthology of children's poems for American holidays, gotten up by her, will be published this spring.

Annie Will Miller is living at 229 Winona Drive, Decatur, Ga.

Ouida Moore is living at 94 Prospect Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Peggy Murphy, formerly of Newnan, Ga., is now Mrs. L. E. Gradick, Berkeley Court Apts., No. 23, Charleston, S. C.

Louise Pappenheimer (Mrs. Maier Finsterwald) of Detroit, Michigan, came south to be in Atlanta with her parents on the 19th of March, the date of her own first wedding anniversary, and of their silver wedding anniversary.

Priscilla Porter is teaching kindergarten in Augusta, Ga. Her address is 2025 Wrightsboro Road.

Sophie Saunders is now Mrs. Walter G. Ames, Newark, N. J.

Peyton Stinson, after seven months in the hospital, is at home for a short while in Greenwood, Miss. She is greatly improved.

Hester Stephenson (Mrs. Emory Phillips) is still living in Pittsburg, Pa. She has a son a year old.

Ruth Gill Price is Mrs. W. E. Greer, Jr., Magnolia, Miss. She is teaching expression.

Frances Waller is now Mrs. Robert Wyatt, Mayfield, Ky.

1925—Class Secretary, Belle Walker, 558 Greene St., Augusta, Ga.

Mary Palmer Caldwell is to be married on April 27th to Mr. Robert Montford McFarland, Jr., of Atlanta. Hilda McConnell, '23, will be maid of honor, and Frances Bitzer, '25, and Josephine Walker, '28, will be bridesmaids.

Elizabeth Cheatham and Georgia Mae Little spent the week-end of February 26th at the Alumnae House.

Agatha Deaver visited the College in January. She is spending the winter in Tampa, Fla.

Isabel Ferguson is at the University of Chicago working for her M. A. in the Department of History. Her address is 1221 E. 57th St.

Sara Fullbright came up from Pensacola in March to visit her family at East Lake, and to meet Marguerite Dobbs and Gwynne Cannon at the College. Sara and Larsen Mattox are teaching in the same high school.

Vera Hickman writes: "I am teaching Math to over two hundred youngsters in Tampa, Fla. It's a wonderful struggle." Vera's address is 2107 Hills Ave.

"Tootsie" Janes is working in the advertising department of Rich's Department Store in Atlanta.

Annie Johnson was married on March 23rd to Mr. Jack Craig Sylvester, at the First Baptist Church in Decatur, Ga.

Sarah Tate, Mary Keesler, Anne McKay, Ruth Johnston, and Martha Lin Manly have been recent guests at the Alumnae House.

Lucile Phippen (Mrs. John Monroe Shingler) has been home from South Carolina for a visit to her parents in Decatur.

Mildred Pitner has been visiting in Fort Lauderdale and Daytona Beach, Fla.

Margaret Rogers was married to Mr. Fleming Law on February 23rd at St. Mark's Methodist Church in Atlanta. Venice Mayson, ex '21, and Harriet Noyes, ex '23, were attendants.

Maria Rose is teaching Mathematics in the Junior High School at Charlotte.

Frances Tennent was married on February 9th in the Greene Street Presbyterian Church in Augusta to Mr. William Douglas Ellis III. Belle Walker, '25, and Harriet Alexander, '28, were maids of honor. After a wedding trip to Cuba, and to New Orleans for Mardi Gras, Frances and her husband are at home at 170 15th St., N. E., Atlanta.

Eugenia Thompson (Mrs. John Marvin Aiken) writes from her new home in Edgewater, Ensley, Ala.: "I do wish you could see our attractive little apartment. Our living room furniture, bedroom furniture and kitchen cabinet and table are all hand-painted; we did it ourselves, so we know for a fact it is! We have a five-room apartment, with furnace heat, which we consider quite wonderful, as Edgewater is just a mining town, and we were not even sure that we would have running water and electric lights. I had a great time cooking my first Thanksgiving dinner, and you have no idea how much fun the first Christmas in your own home can be."

Emily Zellars is teaching in Laurinburg, N. C.

News of ex-members of '25:

Sybil Callahan is teaching in California.

Helen Julia Methvin is teaching at Abbeville, Ga.

Sarah Moorehouse (Mrs. Louis Marcel LeHardy) and her husband were among the guests invited to meet the Duke and Duchess of York at the reception given them on their recent visit to the Canal Zone.

Abby Nichols (Mrs. E. H. Dennett) has moved from Watertown, Mass., to 3459 Piedmont Ave., Oakland, Cal.

Eula Norton is now Mrs. Karl Howe, Birmingham, Ala.

Harriet Payne (Mrs. Britton Johnson) announces the arrival of her son, David Payne, last December.

Harriet Peade is teaching in Tampa, Fla. Her address is 615 Horatio.

Virginia Perkins (Mrs. A. L. Nelson) after the winter in New York, has returned home to Texas.

Agnes Pfohl was married May 27th, 1926, to Mr. Eller. They are living at 117 Belevs St., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mildred Plunket's address is 110 Sunset Drive, Asheville, N. C.

Priscilla Shaw is physical director at the High School, Sumter, S. C.

Mary Evelyn Wright (Mrs. James E. Atkinson) is teaching fifth grade in the public schools of Macon. Her address is 7 Navarro Apts.

1926—Class Secretary, Edyth Carpenter, 2230 S. W., 10th St., Miami, Fla.

The members of '26 have in store for them this coming May one of the greatest experiences in life: coming back to the College for their first reunion! One who has tried them both declares that next to getting married, and going to Heaven when you die, coming back for the first class reunion is the greatest thrill of all! All you members of '26, lay all other plans aside, and make tracks for the Agnes Scott campus the last weekend in May! Feel that thrill of coming back!

Eleanor Berger (Mrs. L. M. Blumenthal) is living at 717 Melville Ave., Baltimore, Md.

Edyth Carpenter is teaching the fourth grade at Miami. Edythe Coleman visited Carp and Gertrude Green in February.

Mrs. Pillee Kim Choi, who is studying at Columbia University this winter, contributed an article to the January copy of "The Korean Student Bulletin," the official organ of the Korean Student Federation of North America. The article dealt with Mrs. Choi's impressions of the international student conference held at Princeton.

Isabell Clarke's engagement has been announced to Mr. Ernest Morrison, of Savannah, Ga., the date of the wedding to be given later.

Frances Cooper has settled down to the serious business of helping the world's wheels go 'round by accepting a position with the D. C. Heath Publishing Company in Atlanta.

Dora Ferrell was married last summer to Mr. Baxter Gentry. They are living at 205 Barry St., Decatur, Ga.

Edith Gilchrist and her sister, Katie Frank, '24, had a splendid trip east and into Canada last summer.

Catherine Graeber is planning a trip to Europe this summer with Nell Buchanan. "Kitty Grabber" came to Agnes Scott to preside at the Newcomb-Agnes Scott Intercollegiate Debate on March 18.

Carrie Graham is substituting in the schools at Norfolk, Va.

Mary Ella Hammond is head of the mathematics department in the Junior High School at Griffin, Ga.

Gladys Harbaugh is teaching at home in Winter Haven, Fla.

Blanche Haslam is teaching in her home town, Piedmont, Ala., this winter. She visited Agnes Scott in the fall.

Charlotte Higgs is at 1102 Virginia Ave., S. W., Washington, D. C.

Sterling Johnson was recently elected president of the Decatur Agnes Scott Alumnae Club.

Frances McColgan is teaching at home in Norton, Va.

Virginia Peeler has been very ill with pneumonia since Christmas, and is convalescing now at Atlantic City. She will be unable to continue her work at Columbia University this spring on account of her health.

Louise Pfeiffer has the prize job of the entire class! She is a member of the office force of the exclusive Jekyl Island Club, eight miles from Brunswick, Ga. This is one of the millionaire clubs in the South, where Northerners spend the winter. Louise writes: "I am having a wonderful time, as I have a room in the club, get the same meals the guests do, and have plenty of time and opportunity to go horseback riding, bicycling and swimming. Dances are given twice a week and movies once a week for the employees. There is a Harvard graduate and another Chicago graduate in the office. The only bad feature to my work is that we are so busy we don't have much time to go to town (Brunswick), and no people are allowed over here on the Island except the guests. There are no young girls here at all, either, and after four years at Agnes Scott where 'there weren't anything else but,' I feel rather lonely."

Kathrine Pitman is teaching at home in Huntsville, Ala.

Ethel Redding is teaching in Natchez, Miss. Ethel lost her father in October.

Ladie Sue Wallace has certainly been a "ladie" of leisure this winter. She spent some time in Florida, and visited Phillippa Gilchrist, '23, at Agnes Scott during January.

News of ex-members of '26:

Corena Berman is studying at Barnard. Her New York address is 839 West End Ave., Apt 2-C.

Elizabeth Beverly is studying at Shorter College, in Rome, Ga.

Lillian Alice Callahan is studying at the University of Oklahoma.

Katherine Cannady is working in Roanoke, Va.

Juliet Crenshaw (Mrs. C. T. Winship) has returned from a trip to Cuba with her husband. She is living in the Ponce de Leon Apts., Atlanta.

Mary Louise Dargan was graduated from Converse College last June. She is at home in Spartanburg this winter, and visited Agnes Scott in February.

Genie Dumas is doing secretarial work in her uncle's office in Mobile, Ala.

Zala Elder is at home in Enid, Okla.

Olive Hall is executive secretary for the Atlanta Civitan Club. She is doing some free-lance publicity on the side, and studying advertising at the Tech night school.

Zona Hamilton is studying in Providence, R. I.

Hazel Annette Hosford is Mrs. Charles F. Knott, 78 Douglas St., N. E., Atlanta.

Dorothy James was married March 2nd to Mr. Allen Meador Farmer at her home in Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer will live in Atlanta.

Dessie Kuhlke was married December twelfth in Edgefield, S. C., to Mr. Hamilton Goss Ansley, of Decatur, Ga., but at present a medical student in the Augusta Medical College.

Frances Lipscomb is teaching in Laurel, Miss. She made a trip to New York Orleans during February.

Sarah McKenzie was graduated in June from Birmingham Southern College.

Lucy Offutt is now Mrs. William Charles Ulrich, Hollywood, Calif.

Grace Overstreet is bookkeeper for the Chevrolet Motor Company, Basley, Ga.

Ernestine Ponder is teaching in Miami, Fla. Her address is 250 N. E. 34th St.

Lydia Rittenburg (Mrs. W. L. Hirschberg) is living in Sumter, S. C., where her husband is a wick manufacturer. She has a son eight months old.

Mildred Scott was graduated from the University of Louisiana last June. She is teaching at Elizabeth, La.

Sarah Spiller (Mrs. J. B. Mitchell, Jr.) is living at 1515 Hinman Ave., Evanston, Ill. Her husband is instructor in Zoology at Northwestern University, and is working for his Ph.D. at Chicago. Sarah has a daughter, Mary Virginia, two years old, and a little son, J. B., III, five months old.

Arnoldina Thornton was graduated from the University of Georgia last June. She is teaching science in the high school at Waycross, Ga.

Norma Tucker is a stenographer for the Southern Bell Telephone Company in Atlanta. She has a sister in the class of '30.

News of ex-members of '27:

Isabelle Breitenbucher was one of the maids of honor at the court of the Mardi Gras Queen at Mobile, Ala.

Martha Rose Childress was married November 27th to Mr. George Marvin Ferris. Mr. Ferris is a civil engineer. They are living at Laurel Heights, Knoxville, Tenn.

Mary Nell Fitts is at Georgia State Womans College, Valdosta, Ga.

Claire Harris is studying at Columbia University. She is living at 216 W. 100th St., Apt. 6-D.

Louisa Kochititsky will be married on March 26th to Mr. R. B. Crawford. Lib Norfleet, '27, and Mary Martha Lybrook, ex '27, are to be in the wedding.

Louise Lewis, of Montezuma, Ga., is studying in New York this winter. Her address is 17 E. 73rd St.

Edith Richards is studying at Alabama College, Montevallo, Ala.

Phyllis Robey (Mrs. Wm. Haddon Snead) announces the birth of her son, William Haddon, Jr., in February, in Lynchburg, Va.

Mary Speir is president of the Charlotte Agnes Scott Alumnae Club. She visited the College in February.

Sue Marie Wilds will be graduated from Brenau in June. She visited Agnes Scott in March.

News of ex-members of '28:

Jane Easter Ball is Mrs. C. Gordon Johnson, Jackson, La.

Purlina Elizabeth Cash is Mrs. James Marvin Gilmer, 395 Spring St., Spartanburg, S. C.

"Toya" Junkin is studying art at the Vesper George School in Boston. Her address is Box 301, Wellesley Farms, Mass.

Katherine Rickards is society editor of the "Palm Beach Post," West Palm Beach, Fla.

Ruth Thomas, after singing last season with the Atlanta light opera company, is at home in Bedford, Va.

News of ex-members of '29:

Julia Dancy Eve's engagement has been announced to Mr. Walter Hartridge Strong, the wedding to take place at home in Savannah, Ga., in June.

Margaret Elise Neal was married November 18th in Washington, D. C., to Thomas Quinn Ashburn, Jr., Lieut. U. S. A. They are living at Fort Howard, Md.

The
Agnes Scott
Alumnae Quarterly

JUNE
1927

Published by the
Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

Published in Nov., Jan., April and June by the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association.

Vol. V

JUNE, 1927

No. 3

Entered as second class matter under the Act of Congress, August, 1912.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Agnes Scott Alumnae Song.....	2
Education for Leisure—Dr. John H. Finley.....	3
A Message From the Alumnae Association President—Allie (Candler) Guy.....	6
What Happened to Us in China.....	7
Attendance Cup Award for 1927.....	8
Alumnae Experiences in the Mississippi Flood.....	9
An Excerpt From the Diary of Agnes Scott Pepys.....	11
Commencement—1927—Reunions.....	14
Agnes Scott Abroad.....	21
June Weddings.....	21
Summer Reading.....	21
Alumnae Luncheon in Macon.....	22
Annual Dedicated to Alumnae.....	22
To Rebuild the Shakespeare Theatre.....	23
Class Reunions.....	23
New Phi Beta Kappa Members.....	23
Scholarships and Prizes.....	23
Alumnae in Academic Procession.....	24
Alumnae House Changes.....	24
“Monday Only at $4.98”.....	24
Alumnae House Guests.....	24
Concerning Ourselves.....	26
Alumnae Association Annual Reports.....	29

AGNES SCOTT ALUMNAE SONG

(This was sung for the first time at the Trustees' luncheon to the Alumnae on May 28th, 1927)

Scattered far and wide thy daughters,
Some across the sea,
Yet our hearts are bound forever
Agnes Scott, to thee!
With each May-time, some returning,
Others absent still,
All thy daughters, near or distant,
With devotion thrill.

Alma Mater, Fostering Mother,
Student days are o'er.
On thy quiet, well-loved campus
We can stay no more.
Though we wander far, dear mem'ries
Of our years here fill
Every heart, and we acclaim thee
Fostering Mother still!

EDUCATION FOR LEISURE

(From the address delivered in the Agnes Scott Auditorium on Commencement Day, May 31, 1927)

JOHN H. FINLEY

I begin with Browning's mill-girl in "Pippa Passes," who had only one holiday, one day of leisure in all the year—Pippa, who in her few hours passed beneath the windows of the supposed "four happiest ones" in the town, to rebuke their intemperate leisure, their vicious idleness, and their inconsiderateness of the unceasing labors of others. You recall the prayer of her one holiday:

"Oh Day, if I squander a wavelet of thee,
A mite of my twelve-hours' treasure
The least of thy gazes or glances,
(Be they grants thou art bound to, or gifts above measure)
One of thy choices, or one of thy chances,
(Be they tasks God imposed thee, or freaks at thy pleasure)
My Day, if I squander such labor or leisure,
Then shame fall on asolo, mischief on me."

And such a prayer needs to be said more religiously than the personal efficiency prayers that are prescribed for labor, for if there are no orisons in our pragmatic educational litany except "laborare est orare," there will be nothing to "leaven what were all earth else with a feel of Heaven."

It is refreshing to catch the voice of Pippa in the midst of the vocational sounds in shop and school, and even in college hall and pedagogical discussion. Everywhere, there is wordy insistence that the school shall train for vocation to make it possible for every boy and girl to do his part, her part, of the increasingly complex and more highly specialized work of the world. But when it is appreciated that, because of the specialization, the multiplication of processes and the consequent division of labor, there can be no possessing joy of handiwork for millions upon millions of workers, no possibility of individual development because of the unending repetition of one simple process, there must come a realization of the importance of filling the time left, especially after these hours of such narrow labor, with such employments of leisure as will make it of little consequence in what specific trade or profession one earns one's living.

Fortunate are they whose lot it is to get the means of livelihood by doing that which they would elect to do if there were no compulsion to do. Happy are they who find the means of intellectual, moral, and even physical development in the very tasks by which they earn that which keeps the soul and body together.

The artisan, or the mechanic, or the day-laborer, on the other hand, must finish his turning one lever a thousand times, or doing his infinitesimal part of making a shoe or a locomotive before he can have any joy of his handiwork, any satisfaction of his friends, any chance to see a painting, or read a book, or walk under the open sky, or know the companionship of trees or of men who have lived in other days,—before he can give attention, as Arnold Bennett, who has no sentimental spirituality, put it, "to the evolution of his immortal soul." Pippa must give her "next twelve-months' toil at wearisome silk-winding, coil on coil," before she can have another twelve hours of freedom such as every young woman here has every day,—twelve hours of freedom to inquire into and enjoy the universe, with its miracles at every turn, its infinite distances.

I have sympathy with every effort to help every man work out his salvation, to evolve his immortal soul, as far as possible through his vocation, to make his business-in-life contribute to the business of life, strongly as I deplore the tendency to make vocation the basis for the estimate of human values, and for social classification.

So far as I know, I was the first to call attention, as I did in an address here several years ago, to the fact that this vocational social classification is primitive, and that according to the Scripture record Adam's descendants had not seen seven generations on the face of the earth before they were divided into cattlemen, musicians, and artisans. For in the fourth chapter of the book of Genesis it is written that Lamech had three sons, Jabal, Jubal, and Tubal-cain,—Jabal, the "father of such as dwell in tents and have cattle;" Jubal, the "father of all such as handle the harp and pipe; and Tubal-cain, an instructor of every artificer of brass and iron."

As I read this record again, I found that there was a sister, a vocationless sister,—the simple statement reads: "And the sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah." The noun "Naamah," it is interesting to note, was a Hebrew word meaning "sweet." What a significant record is this "social register" of the first scriptural inhabitants of the world: the brothers were identified by their callings, their sister by her feminine qualities!

We have need to hear under our windows Pippa singing her New Year's hymn:

"All service ranks alike to Him who sees all."

The only important thing that machinery really does for the world is to give us spare time—if we have sense enough to take it. William James has somewhere given intimation that the quality of a man is best to be discerned through what he does with his holidays. The use of leisure is as important a problem as that of efficiency of labor. For leisure, as I would define it, is not cessation from activity; it is free activity.

Civilization set everybody to work. And hardly was that done when she began to see how fatal to human development it was that everybody should work all the time; and she began to restrict the hours of work,—first for children. Leisure was compelled for them, that they might have a chance to grow, and then to learn the fundamental lessons of the race's experience. (The Greek word for "school" meant originally "leisure.") Then civilization insisted upon leisure for women, and finally for men. The labor day has been gradually shortened and the leisure day commensurately lengthened. And now civilization is undertaking to teach the race to play again,—to play for the forgetting of work and for the preparing for work. Or to translate this sociological generalization into the lines of Pippa's song:

"For, Day, my holiday, if thou ill-usest
Me, who am only Pippa,—old-year's sorrow,
Cast off last night, will come again tomorrow;
Whereas, if thou prove gentle, I shall borrow.
Sufficient strength of thee for new-year's sorrow."

It will be a far more difficult task of civilization to teach men and women to use leisure rightly than to instruct them how to labor efficiently. I am thinking that those trained in Universities and colleges have preëminently this high task, the more difficult of the two. They must not ignore or think superciliously or lightly of the problem of vocation. But they are especially to exemplify and encourage in their own living the best, noblest use of free time.

Dr. Johnson said that "the reason why a man drinks is that he is not interesting enough to himself to pass his leisure time without it." If you make the subject feminine and substitute another wasteful if not intemperate verb, you make like explanation for the spiritual and intellectual improvidence of another large class; and you will understand why so many look with disfavor upon shortening men's hours or relieving women of domestic obligations.

And yet, despite all this abuse of leisure, despite the report that in some communities shortened hours of labor have resulted in lessened per hour efficiency, despite the opinion expressed by one of the highest authorities on nervous diseases, that occupation is essentially more healthful than recreation, vocation than vacation, I contend that the facts call not for the lengthening of the occupational day, but for the higher, fuller, better organized use of the leisure day.

For we all have, or should have, a triune day: a "work-day," in which we do our share of the world's work; a "sleep-day" in which we must physically rest; and a "leisure-day"—a third day in which to cultivate our real selves, to approach our possible perfection. The real test of living is what we do with the third of these days.

I heard Paderewski play once upon a time, in a barn of a place, and I went out with two thoughts. First, the marvel of what a man or a woman can do, and second, the disappointment that he or she does not do more. For most of us waste enough leisure time to make ourselves musicians, artists, scholars, poets, able to minister in our avocation to human happiness even beyond that which we can do in our vocation.

From the summit of the wisdom of his years, and with a contemplative look across the valleys, John Burroughs still says to us on this day:

"A better world I have never wanted. I could not begin to exhaust the knowledge and the delights of this one. I have found in it deep beneath deep, worlds within a world—an endless series of beautiful and wonderful forms forever flowing out of itself. From the highest heavens of the telescope to the minutest organisms of the microscope, all is beautiful and wonderful and passeth understanding."

With this glorious world of inexhaustible knowledge and delights above you, and God in its heaven, you ought to go daily forth to the labors and especially the leisures of your lives with the prayer of the mill-girl Pippa in your hearts:

"O Life, if I squander one wavelet of thee!"

A MESSAGE FROM THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

We have come to the end—not of a perfect year, but of a good year. Perfection would leave nothing for us to strive for: we have much for which to strive. We want to grow, not only in numbers but also in loyalty to and interest in our Alma Mater. The purpose of the Alumnae Association is to maintain the loyalty and interest in the Alma Mater which most of us have as students. As we go afar and have so many other interests, we lose touch and thus lose the interest which was so intense when we left her “sheltering arms.”

As members of the Alumnae Association we receive four Quarterlies which tell us of all the important happenings around the college and give us news of our classmates and friends. We learn the names of those who are doing things on the campus—things that we used to do—and things that are new each year. Thus when we come back we are not strangers; we know what has happened in our absence. We are known by name to the Alumnae Secretary who has written us personal letters as well as sent us bulletins and Quarterlies, and last, but not always least, “dues slips.”

At the May meeting of the Alumnae Association it was voted to raise the dues to two dollars per year. There was not even any discussion about it when it was recommended by the chairman of the Finance Committee; no one present questioned the need or advisability of the raise. When you get your “dues slip” in October, remember what the Association means to you, and send your two dollars as promptly and as loyally as you can—and when you send the check be sure to write a letter. Tell us all about yourself, your family, your work, and what your interests are. Be sure to tell us what you like in the Quarterly and what is not there that you should like to have included in the next issue. Then when you have written that letter, begin at once making your plans to come “home” next commencement in time for the Trustee Luncheon, even though it is not your reunion year. There will be many old friends there that you will be glad to see and it will be a real inspiration to see the Senior class and to welcome them into the Alumnae Association. They want to know you and it helps them to appreciate the “worthwhileness” of the Association when they see how many old girls come back each year.

If you will do all this, next year will be the very best year that we have ever had—not only in numbers—but also in loyalty and close fellowship with our Alma Mater.

ALLIE (CANDLER) GUY,
President Agnes Scott Alumnae Association.

WHAT HAPPENED TO US IN CHINA

During all of the trouble in China, many of us have felt the keenest interest and concern for the safety of our Agnes Scott girls out there. So far as we know, they are all quite safe now, and several of them have had rather interesting, if harrowing, experiences.

Mrs. H. R. Steele, mother-in-law of Elizabeth (Dickson) Steele, ex '23, writes: "The situation is, as you know, very serious. Elizabeth and her husband made a hurried exit from Changchow, taking their trunks, bedding, clothing, their flat silver, and only such things as they could put in the trunks with the articles mentioned. All of their household goods, including William's books, were of necessity left behind. Their greatest loss is William's library, about eight hundred volumes. He had a very good library for a young minister, having gotten valuable books when he was in Scotland, and having taken my best books when he went to his work in China. They say that the Chinese in their poverty, use the books for a slow fire in cooking their rice, so that very few of them will be saved should they ever go back to Changchow.

"They went out one night to a service, and when they returned, the house was a blaze of light and occupied by soldiers. Later in the night the soldiers were ordered out, and they spent the remaining hours of the night in their own rooms. When the Cantonese came into Shanghai and they were warned not to go out of the house, they found it necessary to go to a nearby store to get milk for the baby; it was with difficulty that they made their way through the streets, and when they got to the store it was closed. A Chinese servant went in the back door and got the milk for Dr. Paty's three children and for our baby.

"They are in Kobe, Japan, now, and will be there until something develops as far as the work is concerned. No one can tell when it will be possible or practicable to go back to China. Their address is in care of Sterling Fisher, Kwansei Gakuin, Kobe, Japan. They have had a very serious time, but they have had fine courage."

Elizabeth Dickson was married December 1, 1923, to Mr. Steele, and they left at once for China. After a year in Soochow University, they were given the city of Changchow as their mission field. They have a little daughter, Marianne Moore Steele, eighteen months old. Elizabeth writes that, although much of their furniture was broken up by the Chinese armies, the loyal citizens of Changchow have saved much, and their belongings are scattered out in the homes of their Chinese friends. Their servants have been true to them, and are living in their home protecting it.

Frances (Glasgow) Patterson, '19, has been in China four years. Her father writes: "After spending one year in the language school in Peking, they went to Sutsien, where they have since labored. Latterly, things are quiet at Sutsien, but some time back the city was bombarded, necessitating Frances and her baby's spending twenty-four hours in the cellar for safety, surrounded by about one hundred Chinese women and girls there with her, seeking her protection. An explosion struck within ten feet of the house and shattered all the glass in the windows of the house over their heads. All this in the absence of her husband. They were ordered out of the city by the American Ambassador, reaching the coast safely after a trying trip, and from there to Kobe, Japan, where they are now, safe and well."

"Mr. Patterson, Frances' husband, has accepted for a year the position of secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Washington and Lee University, so they will be in Lexington, Va., with Dr. Glasgow, Frances' father, next year, reaching there July 27th.

Frances Charlotte Markley, '21, reached Shanghai in the early fall of last year, just in time to see a little of peaceful China, and then be plunged so deeply into the uproar that the school where she was teaching—St. Mary's—was forced to close. She worked on in the boys' school across the railroad tracks, still taking her meals in St. Mary's dining hall. One day, after the army of northern China had been retreating rapidly all morning on foot up the railroad track, Frances Charlotte started over to St. Mary's to her dinner to find that it was apparently impossible to get across. A steady stream of soldiers was marching up the tracks. A bystander informed her that she could not cross before nightfall, at least, as there were thousands and thousands more still to pass, and the pursuing army was immediately behind them. For a few minutes Frances Charlotte stood there and watched the soldiers file by, but at last, hunger got the best of her. Going up to one of the officers, she said in her best Chinese, and at the top of her lungs, "I want my dinner, and I eat over there." Her manner was evidently convincing, for the officer stepped immediately forward, held up his hand, and the army of northern China halted to let Frances Charlotte cross to her dinner.

The culmination of a romance begun on the Princeton University campus last year was Frances Charlotte's marriage on April 21st in Shanghai to Mr. Donald Roberts, professor of history at St. John's University, Shanghai.

Margaret Bell (Dunnington) Sloan, '02, who has been in Peking a number of years, writes: "Please change my address to 3290 Bradford Road, Cleveland, Ohio. It must be very thrilling to be in China now, but it isn't fair for me to pose as fleeing before riotous hordes when what I am really doing is living with a husband and three children on a quiet street in the 'hoop-skirts' of Cleveland. My days are passed in prosaic peeling, humdrum Hoovering, stoic scouring, and about a million other things for which I can find no alluring alliteratives. I have been married about twelve years, and my jewels are Margaret, ten and a half, just finishing fifth grade; Dwight, Jr., six and a half, just finishing first grade, and Ruth, three and a half, just about to finish me." Bell lives in a lovely old brick house, where the latchstring is always out to Agnes Scott people.

Mary White Caldwell, ex '23, who is a graduate nurse, now in China, will sail for this country some time during the summer. Letters addressed to her in care of her brother, Edward N. Caldwell, 530 E. Park Ave., Tallahassee, Fla., will be forwarded.

Anna Murcock (Sykes) Bryars, '16, who is stationed in Shanghai, writes that of much more importance in her life than the Chinese revolution is the birth of her first little daughter, Jean Elizabeth, on March 2nd.

Any alumnae who have recent letters from Margaret Winslett, '20, or our other alumnae in China, are asked to send any interesting items about them to the alumnae office for the next Quarterly.

ATTENDANCE CUP AWARD FOR 1927

The coveted loving cup which is awarded at each commencement to the class which has the largest percentage back for reunion was won this year by the class of '26. Out of a class enrollment of seventy-five, thirty-six members returned for reunion. These thirty-six came from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, North and South Carolina, Texas, West Virginia, the District of Columbia, and Canada! Two of the thirty-nine absent members were kept away by too imminent sailing dates for Korea and Europe respectively; thirty of the thirty-nine were outside the state of Georgia, and by far the majority of the absent ones were kept away because the schools in which they are teaching had not yet closed. It was a splendid showing for a first year reunion, and the other classes, although they hated to lose the cup themselves, warmly congratulated '26, and cheered vociferously when '26's percentage of forty-eight was announced and the cup, brimming with grape-juice, and containing thirty-six straws, one for each member present, was presented to Sarah Smith, '26, class president.

Three classes ran '26 a very close race, and since these classes had been out of college a longer time and found it much harder to get back, they deserve most honorable mention. '13 was back 43.8 per cent, '17 had 42.5 per cent and '02 had 40 per cent. Figures for all of the reunion classes follow:

Class	No. Members	No. Back for Reunion	Per Cent	Class	No. Members	No. Back for Reunion	Per Cent
'94	1	0	0	'13	16	7	43.8
'95	5	1	20	'14	23	6	26
'96	5	0	0	'15	25	9	36
'97	3	1	33.3	'17	40	17	42.5
'02	5	2	40	'22	59	8	13.5
'07	6	0	0	'24	57	21	37
'12	12	4	33.3	'26	75	36	48

ALUMNAE EXPERIENCES IN THE MISSISSIPPI FLOOD

(Editor's note: Among the alumnae whose homes were submerged in the waters of the great river are Harriett Ferrington, ex '26, of Pine Bluff, Ark., and Roberta Winter, '27, Leland, Miss. Mary Wood Colley, ex '24, was teaching in Hickman, Ky., when the Mississippi levees began to give way. In a recent letter she tells in a most interesting manner her experiences during that time.)

Our flood is so old now, of course, as to become a legend! But the fact that we were about to be washed off the map, literally speaking, put us on the map in a more figurative sense.

If you have ever read Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi," you came across a description of Hickman as "a pretty little town perched on a handsome hill." Mr. Clemens hints also at the fact that the glory of Hickman belongs to the past—to a dim and glamorous past when the river was alive with steamboats and packets, and gay with showboats. Then it was the central trading point for miles around, and the old Kentucky colonels that we read so much about would send huge shipments of cotton and tobacco, and would themselves dash over to Hickman on their spirited thoroughbreds to see that it was well-done. After the railroads were built, of course a great change came about, but something of the old atmosphere still remains. The fact that they built the business part of the town on the very shores of the river was due to the shipping. Then, in a more prudent mood, they built the residential section on the tiers of hills that rise, like huge stairsteps, above the valley. From the river, the town is remarkably picturesque—and quite like Stockholm.

When the big rise in the river hit Hickman, it was not long until it was turned into a modern Venice. Business went merrily on for a while. We would go in the drugstore and calmly eat ice cream on scaffolds built up to the very counter, the clerks waiting on us in hip-boots. Then we would walk the plank, as it were, when we got ready to cross the street—a narrow and perilous plank, below which swirled the dark and treacherous water.

Still the levee that protects West Hickman had not broken, although the water was seeping through alarmingly, and there seemed no earthly hope for it. The people behind the levee were working frantically to strengthen the little barrier between them and the angry water.

One day a high wind rose and swept the waves on the river against the levee like surf beating on the shore. The river, as viewed from the hill, looked like an angry sea—seemed a monster that up until now had been crouching, biding its time watchfully, ready at any time to spring, and now it rushed on the levee with full force. Lightning struck one of the stores in town, and sent it crashing down into the river. The water swept away the little scaffoldings that had been built in the street, and became an uncontrollable torrent in the streets, four and five feet deep.

But, miraculously, the levee held, and it was the Missouri levee break that saved us, with a disastrous result for Missouri. As the break was at Dorena, right across from Hickman, the work of rescue fell to the lot of Hickman. The rescue workers told wild tales of the things they found—a family that spent the night on a piano; one man on a housetop, with the water about him so swift that it was impossible to reach him; snakes that dropped down in the boats from the trees; one woman who wouldn't leave until she had collected and counted all her chickens that had flown up into the trees; and the poor colored folks who were inconsolable because the rescuers could not take their "houn dawgs."

The refugees kept pouring into Hickman, until it was not long until we had turned our library into a base of clothing supplies. I never shall forget the night that we went over to our auditorium to practice for the commencement play and found waiting for us over a hundred refugees from New Madrid. They had stood up all night the night before in the boat that brought them over to safety. I shall never forget the dazed terror in their eyes, and their fear that even on the hill, they were not wholly safe from the water.

There were two little boys about nine years old whose mothers were dead and whose fathers had put them on the boat, and stayed to protect their property. One of them, Billy, a game little fellow with great dark eyes and curly hair that seemed to be on end as if still from fright, came up to me and whispered, "say, lady, is it safe to sleep here tonight?" After I had assured him that it was, and given him something to eat, I asked him what else he wanted. "Just to go to sleep—and say, lady, I sure wisht I had a story book to read tomorrow." So the two poor little waifs slept, closely huddled together on some straw and blankets on the floor, and the next morning I brought Bill "Robinson Crusoe" (not without a sudden humorous idea of its fitness), only to find that my little Robinson Crusoe had gone with his man Friday on to the refugee camp a little way out of town.

We never did close school, but we taught under severe handicaps, often filling the building at night with beds of straw and blankets for the refugees that kept pouring in. Some of the other teachers and I went over to the camp, where there were over two thousand, and had story and playground hour with the children. We had a drive for toys in Hickman, and felt like Santa Claus himself when we arrived positively laden with things for the children, until we were suddenly besieged by a band of wild Comanches, who all but mobbed us, snatched the toys without a word of thanks, and then rushed off over our prostrate bodies. I am sure the jocular Saint was never subjected to such treatment.

I saw Billy again, and his fat little face beamed when he told me he got the book I sent, and that it was "great stuff." Strange enough, instead of toys, he wanted a pencil and notebook. (Maybe one of his friends was besieging him for letters from a "flood-sufferer"!)

I can not honestly call myself a "flood-sufferer," for as you see, I never did suffer, and was in no actual danger. I merely watched from a vantage point of utter safety on a high hill the sullen waters creep up on those less fortunate. But it was an experience I shall not soon forget, and one I hope never to repeat.

Roberta Winter, '27, from Leland, Miss., writes: "The water has been six feet deep in our house and yard, but most of that has gone down. Within the last few days, however, it has risen two or three inches every day, so by the end of the week we may be submerged again! This is the annual June rise; the crest is due about the 25th of June. The break in the levee is about fifteen miles north of Greenville, which is ten miles due west of us; the river makes a westward bend at this break and the water running through the break is taking a more direct course and has a swifter current than the main stream. It would certainly be queer to find Greenville on an island in the middle of the Mississippi when things get straightened out.

"On the way home from Agnes Scott, we had to come on a funny little train that just crawled all the way, apparently through an ocean with some trees sticking out and houses half submerged or turned over on their sides, or washed away from their chimneys. The sixteen-foot concrete road is a wreck in places, where the current has washed under it and huge pieces have been washed over into the field. Everywhere were men, women and children—white and black—fishing; the largest catch was crawfish—you can't imagine how they swarm.

"The town is overrun with refugees; the tents look like the encamped Philistines. Right outside of town there is a camp for animals! Leland is a high point. We can't get out in the car in any direction, and the train runs only north, so we are here for a nice long stay. Boats run between here and Greenville, and we see an occasional airplane. The water is a foot deep in front of our house, and cars insist on driving through for the thrill.

"Of course our house is a wreck. Not a door will shut and not a drawer will open. We are very thankful to have an upstairs to live in until something can be done about the floors, walls, etc. Mother weeps whenever she looks out on her erstwhile rose garden. Our whole family came through to safety, but we had adventures. We rescued our old yardman from a chair on top of his bed, our cow swam down the alley to safety on the railroad track with the Red Cross; and our bird dog was picked up two weeks later off a bale of cotton way outside town! But so many animals were drowned. Negroes drove in herds of all kinds of animals all morning before the protection levee broke, trying to get them to safety. Nobody dreamed that our levee wouldn't hold, or if it broke that the water would be so deep. So all the women in town went into a frenzy trying to get all the furniture they owned upstairs or on scaffoldings in half an hour—that's how quickly the water rose. Pianos were the worst, of course. A lot of furniture stood in water till it literally fell to pieces. A friend of mother's arrived from the country just before the disaster with two children and a hundred and sixteen young chickens in her car! The latter were put on top of the coal-house as the only available place, and proceeded to fly off into the water every second. If a boat was tied to the stairway (our pier—Everybody in town owned at least one boat by that time), somebody would row out and try to rescue the chickens. And the moos of drowning cows, calves on doorsteps, and mules' heads suddenly appearing in windows!

"The little coast-guards from Gulfport came up to the rescue, and were just as nice as they could be. They came around to every house and rowed the refugees to the railroad to catch the boat north, and after many changes of boat and skiff would settle them on a train about thirty miles north of here where they plied them with large hunkey cheese sandwiches, hot coffee and fresh water—most acceptable!

"The negroes who were rescued are having a great time. It was about a week before they were all classified and listed, and at the end of that time the authorities found one refugee who with his wife and four children had come down from the perfectly dry hills to enjoy the excitement and was peacefully taking a vacation at the expense of the Red Cross!

"You have never listened to anything like the frogs we are surrounded by! And crickets and mosquitoes by the million! Being a 'flood-sufferer' is certainly a great experience!"

AN EXCERPT FROM THE DIARY OF AGNES SCOTT PEPYS DURING THE LAST FEW DAYS OF MAY, 1927

May 27.—Did come to Agnes Scott commencement as I had planned since five years, I being a graduate of that College and it being the year for my class reunion. Did arrive at the front door of the Anna Young Alumnae House at five in the afternoon, and finding the house deserted, walked through to the back door, where what a sight did greet my eyes, and explained the emptiness of the house within! It being the afternoon for the alumnae Baby Show, which had slipped my mind, all the lawn was well-nigh covered with small babies and children, freshly starched and curled all, mothers and nurses sitting on chairs gossiping or exerting themselves to keep their babies from peril of too much vanilla ice cream, falling over backwards in chairs, being knocked down by other children, or breaking the young limbs of themselves and the poplar trees by swinging on them. Harriet (Scott) Bowen's offspring, Grat, Jr., was causing the campus pigeons much terror by chasing them over the lawn and as far up in the air as his four-year old arms would reach, and Sam Guy, Jr. (child of Allie (Candler) Guy, '13), insisted on trying to push a heavy lawnmower across the grass and thus cut all the grass and both his legs off at the same time. Sarah Slaughter, '26, and Margaret Tufts, '26, had the affair in charge, and might easily have been well-nigh distracted with their many duties, but greeted me warmly. Was in time to see the prizes awarded to Anne Wallis McConnell (daughter of Marianne (Strauss) McConnell, '25), whose curls were irresistible, to Frank McNulty, and noted well how proud Louise McNulty, '14, who is the boy's aunt, seemed. And well she might be. Betty Pope Scott (daughter of Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott, '15) won a prize, and Joy Rutland (daughter of Jane (Harwell) Rutland, '17), in organdie dress and bonnet, was considered by all present the prettiest baby, and a choice hard to make among so many.

Learned that the executive committee and council of the Alumnae Association had met on Wednesday, and the Trustees on Friday morning, at all meetings various businesses were discussed and done.

To dinner in the dining room of Rebecca Scott Hall. Bertha Adams, '14, had come from Pine Apple, Ala., and Mildred (Hall) Pearce, '17, from Greenwood, Miss. After dinner to visit the new gym. Saw the swimming pool which indeed is large and very pretty. While in the building, I to the Tabard Inn Book Shop, a cosy place kept by Hoasc. I did there look upon and buy some books. Spent the evening taking the ayre about the campus, meeting old friends with great pleasure. Sarah Till, '22, from Fayette, Miss.; Helen Lane Comfort, '24, and Lil (McAlpine) Butner, '24, a new bride, who did drive down from Winston-Salem, N. C., and so many more whose names I cannot call for the number of them. Helped move two more cots in 1921's room in the Alumnae House where Georgiana (White) Miller, '17; Gjertrud Amundsen, '17; Regina Pinkston, '17, and Vallie Young (White) Archibald, '17, were all staying together, with no room to step scarcely, but much companionship and pleasure. Allie Louise Travis, ex '22, and Nellie Richardson, '26, on cots in the sewing room. We all did talk mightily. And so till twelve at night, when Mary (Kelly) Coleman, '15, and Henrietta (Lambdin) Turner, '15, came in from a playhouse in the city. All lights off and doors locked in Sturgiss Cottage where they were to stay, and a time we had getting in and up the unfamiliar stairs as quietly as possible and without getting shot for burglars by some alumna blunderbuss. Talked over old times a while, and mighty merry we were, and then to bed.

May 28.—Up betimes for a swim in the new pool. Annual meeting of Alumnae Association at 12 noon in the chapel. Among other matters of reports and such like, it was voted on by all present to raise annual dues from $1.50 to $2.00—a step long expected by me and many, since most of the colleges have dues $2.00 and over, and none so small as $1.50. At 1:30 P. M. all of us into Rebecca Scott dining room, to an exceedingly excellent luncheon given by the trustees. Over three hundred and twenty-five alumnae being present, there was much talk and greeting old friends. Word is brought me that one hundred and eleven members of reunion classes are back, and I hasten to join my own classmates and we heartily talk. A good lunch as ever I ate, with spring flowers decking all the table-tops, and what with songs and speeches and one thing and another and most pleasant company and talk, the time passed merrily. Mr. Orr, chairman of the board of trustees, did act as toastmaster, and being exceedingly witty as ever I heard a man, did ramble on most pleasantly. Dr. McCain did welcome us, as did Mrs. Allie (Candler) Guy, to whom Elizabeth Norfleet, president of the class of '27, responded. Great talk went about of the good record made by the class of '27 in that every one of them—and there be one hundred and three—had pledged to join the Alumnae Association. Mrs. Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott called on the reunion classes to rise, which they did most gladly, pushing back chairs and making a great racket as well as show. Mrs. Mary (Barnett) Martin, '93, the first graduate of the College, was called on also, and the champion long distance runner—Mrs. Annie (Wiley) Preston, ex '97, from Korea. Polly Stone, who for two years has been Alumnae secretary, rose to read of some alumnae who are certainly engaged, and some who have already taken the leap into the dark and are but recently married. Besides the Alma Mater, the company sang also new words called "Alumnae Song." The tune I have often heard, yet it is one of the best for a college song, and withal I am well pleased. It appears to me a very good song altogether. Sat late at luncheon, but at last to the campus where the rain having stopped we enter the movies and really take part in a two hundred and fifty foot reel of pictures made of Agnes Scott commencement. Was much excited.

The afternoon over, bethought myself to go to the tea-house for dinner. Comes my old acquaintance and classmate, and dines with me and we are right merry over a good dinner. After dinner we walk to the Bucher Scott auditorium and there see a play, "As You Like It," which, though I saw it lately, yet appears a most excellent play in all respects, it being most proper here and suitable. There is more wit in it than goes to ten new plays. It was well enough done and took very much.

And thence home to my cot in the Alumnae House sewing room, which although not quite as comfortable as my good bed at home of which I think fondly, sleeps very well after an exciting day of parties, plays, and other pleasures.

May 29 (Lord's Day).—Lay late, and when finally arose and dressed in my best, found congenial company in the tea room over breakfast. For a short walk around the campus which is most green and beautiful at this season, and then I spy the academic procession. They formed on Inman verandah and thence towards the Bucher Scott auditorium and go in very orderly. I after them, and there was a good sermon and much company. I was exceedingly taken with the sermon by Dr. Frank Morgan, and I believe the whole chapel, he being but young, but his manner of his delivery I do like exceedingly. His text was on the manner of trusting in God and not in our own riches.

To dinner in Rebecca Scott dining room at one of the alumnae tables with pleasant conversation. After dinner, sipped coffee in the lobby and conversed with alumnae, seniors, and their parents. Miss Hopkins, the dean, did act as hostess. A ride around Atlanta with an alumna who brought her car, back to supper, and then senior vespers, which is most sweet, and sad also, it being the last service of the year, and many eyes wet over the last sweet benediction which the students sing. Passed the evening visiting old friends among the faculty, who were most kind in remembering my maiden name, if not my married one, and in listening politely to my bragging tales of husband and children, which now that I think it over could not possibly have interested them. Ah, well.

May 30. Up and assist in making crepe paper monkey caps as favors for the reunion luncheons, made up in the class colors. A swim before the luncheon, which is at 12:30, in the tea-house. The long tables are gay, and so are we, the luncheon excellent, and we transact class business as well as enjoy ourselves. Luncheon over, to the lawn to take kodak pictures for the class scrapbooks. Thence to the new amphitheatre beyond the athletic field where class day exercises are being held. How many seniors in somber cap and gown, and an equal number of sophomores in spotless white, bearing a daisy chair that did win the admiration of all spectators! Mildred McCain, mascot for '27, did create excitement immediately by falling out of her chair frontward and the chair on top of her. No casualties. The will, prophecy, and poem are read, and a song most dear to us all was sung. It begins—

"Mid the cotton fields of Georgia,
Where the flowers bloom fair and sweet—"

Monday evening to the college glee club concert. I confess I was well enough pleased with hearing it—sweet music and sweet singers. All went exceedingly well. Afterwards to the book-burning in front of Main where a bonfire was already lighted. The seniors and their chosen juniors slipped off for their last ceremony together, but as for me who am an old alumna—home and to bed.

May 31.—Rose betimes and had breakfast in the Tea House as did the world and his wife. A large crowd indeed, but excellent strawberries, waffles, and other dishes, and as always, pleasant company. At ten o'clock to the final graduation exercises. Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times, did speak, and most excellently too, on "Education for Leisure."

So impressed was he with the ceremony where Dean Hopkins puts on each senior her hood, that he knelt before Miss Hopkins, and asked her to put his on in the same manner.

This ends the week-end, and the college year 1927, and as pleasant a reunion as ever was had. And so home, until next reunion, when I shall betake me as fast as ever I can to my dear Agnes Scott again.

“Commencement---1927---Reunion”

THE GAY NINETIES

If the class of 1893, the first class to be graduated from Agnes Scott, had been scheduled for a reunion this year, they would have won the attendance cup offered to the reunion class having the largest number of class members back, for they had 50% returning membership. There are only two members of the class, and one of them—Mary Josephine Barnett (Mrs. A. V. Martin)—was among the alumnae attending the trustees' luncheon on Saturday, May 28th. Mrs. Martin, her husband, who is a professor at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., and their two boys, motored down to Decatur for the commencement week-end.

The class of '94 has only one member—Mary Mel Neel (Mrs. W. J. Kendrick): She had planned to come out from Fort McPherson where her husband, Colonel Kendrick, was stationed, and win the cup for her “class” by a one hundred per cent attendance! But commencement this year has been a very sad time for Mrs. Kendrick. Only a few days before the festivities were to begin, Colonel Kendrick died at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, after a prolonged illness. Her old college friends extend their most heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Kendrick.

Sarah Allen Watlington (Mrs. Stephen T. Barnett) represented the class of '95 at the Trustees' Luncheon. '96, a class of five members, was without a single representative.

'97 had a 33.3 per cent attendance. There were only three members of the class, and Lillie Wade

Little (now Mrs. T. E. Ryals) of Macon, Ga., came up for Monday and Tuesday of commencement to revisit the college and spend those days with her old friend Annie (Wiley) Preston, ex '97, who was here from Korea for the summer.

There is no living member of the class of '98.

Although it was not their reunion year, '99 had two loyal class members on hand for commencement, Lucile Alexander, and Emma Wesley. This class makes the boast of having these two members selected as among the eighteen outstanding alumnae whose pictures appear in this year's “Silhouette.”

'02

Out of a class of five girls who were graduated in '02, two returned for commencement this year. They are Annie Kirk Dowdell (Mrs. W. A. Turner, Jr.) of Newnan, Ga., and Laura Boardman Caldwell (Mrs. A. S. Edmonds) of Portland, Ore. Mrs. Edmonds was on the way to attend her son's graduation at Harvard University.

'12

When the year rolled 'round for our fifteenth reunion they all with one accord began to make excuses, and such good ones that no one could doubt but that for babies and schools and other acquirements of the fifteen years they would have been at A. S. C. twelve strong. Marie (MacIntyre) Scott, Cornelia Cooper, Carol (Stearns) Wey, Fannie G. (Mayson) Donaldson and Julia Pratt (Smith) Slack, ex '12, were all at the Trustees' Luncheon, and three of us gathered together at the Alumnae House on Monday to have our reunion luncheon, which if we lacked a little in numbers compared to some classes, was just as jolly an occasion. We had some letters to read, one from Jannette (Newton) Hart, one from Susette (Joerg) Flournoy, from Antoinette (Blackburn) Rust, Annie Chapin McLain, Ruth (Slack) Smith, studying at Columbia, and many were the tales we told and listened to of days of yore and folks of yore. When the Alumnae tea room had justified its existence once again and the last bit of the delicious luncheon was gone, the class of 1912 was beginning wonderful plans for a 100 per cent reunion next time.

'13

That Dix System! Is it a good one? Just ask 1913! It was one of those classes whose reunion was hurried up a year, and in spite of that fact, and because of that fact, we had a Jimdandy time. To such a great extent that we planned before we disbanded to celebrate our regular old-schedule reunion next year. (This will be the reunion that Lavalette, in her planning, referred to as the one to be held "before the infirmities of age creep upon us." We all thought her spelling so much better than her Trig!) Then we'll get absolutely everybody together and have no doubt about claiming that cup which we had our hands on this year with a forty-four per cent attendance until a few extra members of '26, who were loafing around Atlanta sneaked out to the luncheon and ran up a percentage of forty-eight for their class. Anyway, 1913 ran a close second, and showed the world that there's life in the old girls yet. And in 1940 we're going to be right on hand to see whether '26 can do as well as '13 did at their age.

Everybody missed the ones who couldn't come—Florence Smith, who is so far away in California, but who is going to fly right over to the next reunion and land on the Athletic Field. Who doesn't remember Florence's athletics! Kate Clark hiked off to Europe. And Frances Dukes Wynne and Laura Mel Towers Yager had to make very ill-timed moves from Florida to North Carolina, while Grace Anderson Bowers made the mistake of paying such a long visit to Decatur just before she heard about the Dix System that she couldn't come back. Helen Smith Taylor found home couldn't do without her at the right time, while Lavalette Tucker's young sister-in-law chose Commencement time, of all times, to be married. We almost made her postpone the wedding a year, but couldn't really be quite so cruel. As for Eleanor—whether it can be done or not, we're going to sue the government. Here she was, right with us out at Fort McPherson, making reunion plans, when Uncle Sam gave "Chas." some orders which took them away on the very Friday of Commencement week-end. Of course everyone would have had a better time if all these girls had been with us, but Allie, Louise, Tillie, Mary, Janie, Olivia and Emma Pope tried to do things up in style for them.

The Friday that Eleanor had to leave Mary Enzor Bynum and Lily Joiner Williams arrived to visit Louise Maness Robarts—Mary in her Nash car and Lily via train, after, as she vowed, having left all three of her children in an orphanage for safe-keeping when her trained nurse failed her at the last moment. She declared such was one of her minister husband's privileges, but we all saw pictures, after a little questioning, of a husband suddenly deprived of all privileges and conducting a young institution at home. Saturday, just in time for the big luncheon, Janie McCaughey arrived from Staunton, Va. Then we had to learn to pronounce her name "McGoy" as the people up there do, but we gave Janie a lecture for not changing her name in the approved fashion. Sunday was such a day—except bigger—as we can all remember, and Monday was Reunion Day. This was when our true style showed, for we had our luncheon in the one and only private dining room at the Alumnae House, and we had among our members the president of the Alumnae Association and Dr. Sweet and Miss McKinney as our guests. Other classes have claimed our honorary members since 1913, of course, but we beat 'em all to it with our invitations. When Allie arrived that day she brought the finishing touch for our party—lots of delicious sugared pecans for everybody, with special packages for the visiting class members—from "Mamma Dearie," of course.

Well, the luncheon was next. We re-elected Allie our class president, read the class letters, talked about everybody, partook of delicious food; and then engaged in the delicious pastime of reminding Miss McKinney how we used to run from her before we learned better, of how she doesn't frighten us one bit now, and Allie recalled one terrible experience when she misquoted Shakespeare. After lunch we all had pictures made—just plain (?), still-life, ones this time, as we all appeared in the movies on Saturday. Of course, we all went to the regular college affairs that followed, but commencement afternoon Allie had a theatre party and Mary had another that night. Wednesday the crowd gathered at Emma Pope's for lunch, and had the fun of having Julia Pratt Slack and her three-year old daughter join them. That night found the visitors having to leave, but Allie has promised to figure on that Dix System so we'll soon beat those "infirmities of age" to a regular reunion every year.

'14

What joy it was to feel that once more the class of '14 was back at Agnes Scott! Such a cordial welcome was extended us that we could scarcely realize that thirteen years had slipped by since we held the center of the stage.

We are proud to say that we won a prize even if it was not the loving cup for the best attendance. Louise McNulty's little nephew gave us that distinction at the baby show.

The luncheon Saturday was wonderful. It was arranged so that the members of the different classes sat together. There were present that day, Louise McNulty, Essie (Roberts) DuPre, Linda (Miller) Summer, Mildred (Holmes) Dickert, and Bertha Adams. We were delighted to have also Ruth (McElmurray) Cothran, and Roberta Gallacher, two of '14's ex-members.

On Monday, Martha (Rogers) Noble joined us at our class luncheon. How much we had to talk over! We were so glad, to read the class letters from our absent members. Mildred (Holmes) Dickert lives in Nashville now. She had her nine-year old son with her. He could not see much charm, however, in a girl's school, so preferred his friends in Decatur to us. Martha (Rogers) Noble has just returned from a winter in New York, so she had many interesting experiences to tell us. Linda (Miller) Summer has four little girls whom she expects to send some day to Agnes Scott. Ted (Cobbs) Hogan writes that she is very happy in her own home in Columbia, Mo. She would have liked to have entered her new three weeks old daughter, Madge Harden, in the baby show. We regretted to hear that Nell (Clarke) Murphey's health is not good. Helen (Brown) Webb and Lott (Blair) Lawton were both too busy with their new homes to come. Helen's is still in the process of being built. Lott sent us a picture of hers, which has just been completed. It is a very pretty two-story brick house. Marguerite (Wells) Bishop wrote that the date of her brother's wedding conflicted with commencement. Charlotte Jackson was too busy with her church engagements and Mary Pittard with Y. W. C. A. work. Ruth (Bluc) Barnes had to have her little boy's tonsils removed about the time of commencement. Florence Brinkley and Kathleen Kennedy were still teaching. We are proud to know that Florence represents us on the Goucher College faculty. Kathleen is doing a wonderful work at her mountain school. There was to be a tonsil clinic immediately after the close of her school and she could not leave until that was over. Annie Tate Jenkins came back a year too soon, as she was at commencement last year. "M. B." also sent her regrets.

Now, let every one of us begin planning to be back at the next reunion, because there is nothing else to equal it!

'15

Well, 1915 was back, only two years after its last reunion, the Dix System being responsible for the hurried up affair.

The class sat together at the Trustees' Luncheon on Saturday, and starred in the moving pictures taken just after the luncheon.

Henrietta Lambdin Turner, Mary Hyer Vick, Mary Kelly Coleman, and Lucy Naive were back from out of town; from Atlanta and Decatur came Catherine Parker, Mary Helen Schneider Head, Mary West Thatcher, Grace Reid, and Annie Pope Scott.

The class got together on Monday evening at dinner in the dining room of the Alumnae House, Catherine Parker and Annie Pope Scott being hostesses. On this occasion messages were read from a number of absent members, and also reminiscences were indulged in concerning the good old days at Agnes Scott from 1911-1915.

Some thought how important, or unimportant they considered themselves now, compliments were exchanged on our youthful appearance, and we felt gay, until someone unfortunately introduced for discussion the subject of gray hairs. Gloom reigned until the subject was voted down, and soon the color of our locks was forgotten entirely.

Martha Brenner Shryock was unanimously re-elected class secretary, and when she asks in 1932, "Will you be back for reunion in May?" let's all say, "you may count on me!"

'17

We always love to think of the time when we can go back to old places that we have loved, and see the people we used to know, and talk of what we used to do, and yet when the time comes for that return, we are so often just a bit afraid things and people may be disappointing.

And so an alumna hesitates often to go back for her class reunion. We of the class of '17 have proved to ourselves that it is perfectly safe to return to Agnes Scott again. After ten years we find that dear old Agnes Scott, her faculty, her halls, her grounds, are just as wonderful as they were years ago when we said farewell to our student days and scattered abroad to seek our fortunes and make our careers. We still have our "treasured dreams of times long past," and we have now, too, bright and fresh, the vision of what Agnes Scott is today, and what she is becoming for the future generations of students.

Many are the stories we had to tell of ourselves as sixteen of us gathered at the Trustees' Luncheon on May 28th. Georgiana (White) Miller leads the class with her five handsome children, a real sweetheart for a husband, and a home in Orlando, Fla. Mary (Eakes) Rumble, who has a handsome son and a fine little girl, remarked at the Baby Show that she was glad to see that Agnes Scott grandchildren were really intelligent looking. "You know," said she, "husbands really are bedragging!" Amelia (Alexander) Greenawalt announced that it wouldn't be but eight years before the older of her two daughters would be entering A. S. C.!

Vallie Young (White) Archibald, the same old enthusiastic "V. Y.," has, according to her expression, "a darling little red-headed three-year-old girl." "V. Y." has been teaching in High School this year, too. Mildred (Hall) Pearce and Jane (Harwell) Rutland, each have a little girl about three years old. Rita (Schwartz) Aronstam lives in Atlanta and has two fine children. Willie Belle (Jackson) McWhorter, a bride of about a year, has been living in Atlanta since last fall.

Such is the story—a partial story, of course, since the husbands were not allowed to be present to tell their sides of the happy family tale—such is the story of the married "seventeens" who came back to reunion. The re-union of other half still live in single blessedness; "single" anyhow, "blessedness" more or less!

Gjertrud Amundsen came all the way from her position as club executive of the Harlem Y. W. C. A. of New York City in order to celebrate with her classmates. Janet Newton came from Florida where she is private secretary in the office of a big firm. Regina Pinkston keeps house for her father and says she "just works in his bank." Privately, we believe she is taking training to be that bank's next president. Regina was unanimously elected secretary of the class as Laurie wrote from Tampa that her youngest baby takes up so much of her time and energy that she must resign. "The secretary has resigned; long function the secretary!"

Martha Dennison makes family budgets and shows other people how to raise their children—

as a part of her work with Atlanta's Family Welfare Organization. Everybody knows that '17 still has one representative at Agnes Scott in the person of Augusta Skeen, assistant Professor of chemistry.

Katherine Simpson loves her work of teaching little children in one of the grammar schools of Atlanta. And now we come to the only two "real old-maids" of the class—the only two in the class who have not bobbed their hair! Sarah Webster and Isabel Dew, respectively history and math teachers at Fulton High School. Sarah is going to Harvard summer school this summer, so you may hear by fall that she has deserted the old-maid ranks and left Isabel alone to go on teaching the high school youth in winter and to trip the light fantastic at camp in summer days along with her class in dancing at Camp Junaluska.

This chronicle would not be half complete without telling about our faculty members of '17. Dr. McCain, Mrs. Parry, and Dr. Guy, all graced our class luncheon with their presence. Since Miss McKinney was claimed by the class of '13, whose claim on her was four years ahead of ours, we could not have her for lunch, so we had a little breakfast in the tea room on Monday, and thus persuaded her to have at least one meal with us. Dr. Sweet, having little illness on hand at home-going time, consented to join our party, too. You know, those two don't change a bit! Miss McKinney has the same playful smile as in our days of English XI.

There was not much change in any of the sixteen of us, we proudly told each other. There was a little wiser look, of course, to indicate the passage of time, and a few gray hairs gave signs of wisdom in the heads beneath them, but otherwise a little weight more or a little weight less than in 1917 seemed to be the only change. The same old spirit of college days was ever apparent.

At luncheon there were passed around letters and "family pictures" from many absent ones who longed to be with us, but couldn't because of other demands. Dr. India (Hunt) Balch has married a doctor in Massachusetts. She, by the way, is the member of the class who will represent us among the famous alumnae in the Silhouette this year. She has won distinction in her profession of medicine. Agnes Scott Donaldson's letter from Los Angeles says she is assisting in the experiment with Dr. Miriam Van Waters, teaching delinquent girls to use their freedom. Elizabeth (Gammon) Davis, Brazil, and Ellen (Ramsey) Phillips, Mexico, sent letters and pictures of life at their mission stations. "Spot" Payne, the dignified dean of Lucy Cobb Institute, wired that she started down to reunion, but had car troubles. She got here for commencement day, however. Anne (Kyle) McLaughlin, our recent bride, wrote a card of greeting, saying house-fixing kept her away. Virginia (Scott) Pegues sent her greeting by mail. Two little children kept her busy out there in Texas.

The kodak pictures of Frances (Thatcher) Moses' two daughters and of herself told the tale of another of our number. Louise Ware wired her message from New York City. Mary (Neff) Maddox told about measles and moving which were keeping her away from us, and a later message, bringing the news of the death of her youngest child in an automobile accident in which Mary was also hurt, cast a shadow over our reunion.

Present records show that '17 has twenty-three married members and seventeen unmarried, and thirty children, mostly future Agnes Scotters! Doing pretty well for "higher education," don't you think?

There are two new institutions at the college for which we desire to speak the highest praise. The new reunion scheme suits every one of us exactly, for the joy of meeting again girls of other classes that were at college during our time there comes next to the joy of seeing our own classmates. May the Dix System continue!

Then, the Alumnae House! You who have not come back to college since the alumnae have had a real home of their own do not know the pleasure of the feeling of "belonging," such as comes to those who make this house their headquarters while visiting the college.

It was a memorable tenth anniversary! Let's plan to make our reunion for the fifteenth year just as thrilling!

'22

The class of '22 was terribly surprised and ashamed of itself when it saw what a small percentage of members were back for the reunion, but we soon saw that the old maxim of "quality, if not quantity" held true with us, and that we could have a jolly reunion in spite of the many '22 girls who did not return.

And we had the distinction of having a husband and a small son with us! Harriet (Scott) Bowen had driven down from Virginia with her husband and adorable little son, Grat, Jr., who was the star of the moving-pictures that were taken of the reunion classes Saturday afternoon. Sarah Till came over from Mississippi, and it was quite like old times to see her swinging across the campus again. Louie Dean (Stephens) Hayes drove down from Marietta to show the other members of '22 how wonderfully "happy though married" she looks; Frances Oliver left the financial crises of Plains to take care of themselves as best they could while she enjoyed a holiday from the bank; Laura (Oliver) Fuller brought little Rusty over from Montgomery to show him off to '22; and demonstrate that the second generation is quite as charming as the present one; Mary Knight, our life president, came out from Atlanta in a Roumanian frock that made each of us determine to save up ten years and get one just exactly like it; Ruth Pirkle pulled off her botanical smock and left her slides and microscopes to take part in the reunion; Mary Floding came out from Atlanta; and Allie Louise Travis came up from Covington; and thassall there were—there weren't any more!

But we did have a good time! And though we could shake all the other class members who didn't come back, we left Agnes Scott fully resolved to be a committee of nine determined young women, bent on bringing back to our next reunion such a large percentage of '22-ers that '26 and all other cocky young cup-winning classes should be simply bowled over by our numbers, and not have breath enough left for a gasp as we proudly march off with that attendance cup in 1929!

'24

May, 1924, was anything but a merrie month to the fifty-seven members of the senior class at Agnes Scott. Our four happy years together were over, and we were leaving Agnes Scott, as we tearfully believed then, forever; scattering to the four winds, really to be "parted by land and sea," in the words of our class song—for Vivian Little was leaving immediately for France and Fran Myers was going out to Japan—perhaps forever. Our good-byes were tearful for we felt that in so many cases they were to be final.

And weren't we the silly young things?

For the very next year—May, 1925—twenty-one of those fifty-seven who parted "forever" such a short while ago met again at Agnes Scott to celebrate our first reunion. And again in May, 1927, three years after graduation, twenty-one members of the class of '24 came back to Agnes Scott. Part forever? It simply isn't done. We are already planning for our next reunion—in 1929!

In May, 1927, we came back from six different states and Cuba! Lil McAlpine (who has been Mrs. Philip Butner since March) went from Winston-Salem, N. C., over to Clinton, S. C., where she picked up Helen Lane Comfort and a Chevrolet, and the three of them made the trip on to Decatur together. They arrived Friday afternoon in the midst of the Alumnae Baby Show, and Sarah Till, '22 (Lil's senior sister, who was acting as one of the baby show judges), and Sarah Slaughter and Margaret Tufts, '26, who were handing around ice cream cones, deserted the baby show in a pell-mell rush over the faculty flower garden to greet them. And then Mary Hemphill Greene, wearing a big hat and carrying a big suitcase, came through the temporarily deserted alumnae house, looking for the bunting, the reception committee, and a warm welcome. She found them all three! The members of '24 who had been helping alumnae mammas keep their children from swinging on the limbs of the poplar trees behind Inman and killing themselves and each other, left the alumnae mammas to care for their offsprings as best they could; the clan of '24 was gathering and everybody else was unimportant. Emmie (Ficklen) Harper had finished packing and labeling her trunks for India two weeks before and come down from New Jersey to visit a while with Martha (Eakes) Matthews and Cora Morton in Decatur before the reunion. Katie Frank Gilchrist was already established with Phillippa over in South Side Cottage, and Rebecca Bivings, Vivian Little, Mary (Mann) Boon, and Daisy Frances Smith were all ready to come out from Atlanta on a minute's notice as soon as the vanguard of out-of-town alumnae began ar-iving. Marguerite Dobbs came from East Point to kill two birds with one stone—for '24's reunion, and to see her little sister, Frances, graduated with '27. Frances (Gilliland) Stukes, Dick Scandrett, Polly Stone and Cora Morton were on the campus beforehand to give us the glad hand of welcome, and Catherine (Nash) Goff had a whole string of adoring little Emory University undergraduates ready to run her out to Agnes Scott from the Emory theolog library where she is working.

Mary Evelyn (or "Speedy") King was at Agnes Scott during the first part of May, and had gone over to Alabama to visit Lucy Oliver and go to Nonie Peck's wedding. Speedy had planned to come back to reunion, but she and Lucy were hurt so badly in an automobile accident that she was unable to come.

Annie Wilson Terry was staying with her freshman sister, Mary, in Inman, and Saturday morning Helen Wright and Virginia Burt came staggering up the Alumnae House stairs, under a load of suitcases and hatboxes covered with European labels. Margaret McDow arrived from Mississippi, and Elizabeth Askew from Cuba, and the party was complete!

At the alumnae luncheon on Saturday our large number impressed the smaller classes greatly—until '26 rose with a so much larger number, and impressed us! Saturday afternoon we broke into the movies, issuing from the library door with our most self-conscious swagger and giggling our very silliest as we got close to the camera. How much we shall appreciate the calm and poise of movie actresses after this! For being in the movies is a terrible strain, sisters; we've been in them now and we know. Next reunion we hope some other easier little pastime (such as trial by fire) will be used on returning alumnae.

Saturday night to the Blackfrair play! Sunday to the baccalaureate sermon—and how we swelled with pride to see three of our number, Cora, Daisy Frances, and Vivian—in cap and gown among the faculty as the academic procession wound along under the old oak trees to the auditorium.

For our luncheon on Monday, we had the very center of the tea room, with the other reunion classes grouped around our blue and white table. Blue bowls of ragged robins and swansonia carried out our class colors. Margaret (Powell) Gay, our life president, was unable to get back from Shreveport, La., for the reunion this year, so Dick, the class secretary, beamed at us from the end of our long table. We sang our class song, of course, "Hail Agnes Scott, We Sing to Thee!" and were quite pleased with the respectful admiring attention the other reunion classes gave to it. After the luncheon we took kodak pictures of the group, and then went down to Frances Stukes' house, where she and Lil sang for us. It was just like old times to be again on the Agnes Scott campus listening to the two who sang together through all four of their college years.

Monday afternoon came class day, and we remembered our own when we went through the tall rose-wreathed gates at the side of the library, and Dell read our will, and Mary Greene the prophecy, and Janice read the class poem which begins—

"These four years have had their share of friends—"

Again we shall be "parted by land and sea." Fran (Myers) Dicky is in Japan now with her husband on a short business trip; Elizabeth Henry and Frances (Gilliland) Stukes are sailing on the same boat July first for Europe; Mary Moberly is leaving before the month of June is over to study in Tours, France; and Emmie (Ficklen) Harper and Marvin are sailing in August to realize their dream of mission work in India, with their first furlough five years away. The rest of us have varied plans. Emily Arnold will probably be back at Chowan College next fall; Janice Brown and Mary Green and Marjorie Speake ('25) will live together in New York for a year and study; Virginia Burt left Agnes Scott for Florida to be in Gertrude Green's wedding in Bradenton; Beulah Davidson will be back at Tate; Martha (Eakes) Matthews will join her husband in Chicago in June for a year of work at the University; Cora Morton is to be married in August at home in Athens, Ga., with Dick Scandrett as one of her bridesmaids; Nonie Peck was married on May 24th and has gone to Anniston, Ala., to live; Daisy Frances Smith won a scholarship from the University of Pennsylvania, and will do graduate work in history there next winter; Dick Scandrett and Polly Stone will be back at Agnes Scott.

During the three years we have been out of college various experiences have come to us. Twelve of the fifty-seven have married (two of them with honeymoons in Europe); twelve have done graduate work; ten have had trips abroad; forty have been or are teachers (seven of the forty are on college faculties); two are librarians; and the only way to learn of the many little things that have happened to us all is to come to the next reunion. Would you miss it?

Besides the twelve husbands that '24 welcomes into its circle (last reunion we only had one!), we are now the proud possessors of two babies! But they are both boys, so they can't come to Agnes Scott. Margaret Griffin's baby, Lewis Williams, Jr., and Marian Johnson's son, are our two children.

Too soon our third year reunion is a thing of the past, and we are telling each other good-bye, not "forever" this time, but just for two more years—and they will pass quickly—and then we shall meet again at our beloved Agnes Scott.

'26

Well, we certainly had beginner's luck, didn't we? We think we are a pretty smart class to come back for our very first reunion, when we are so new at the game of being alumnae, and capture the attendance cup from all those other classes who have been alumnae for years and years, know all the ins and outs of reunions, and have so few class members to bring back, too, compared with our seventy-seven! Capturing that cup is a big thrill. It is comparable to winning the cat at the annual Freshman-Sophomore contest of wits, and the other reunion classes will have to forgive us if we feel a little puffed-up about ourselves. When the good old digits that form 1926 are engraved on the side of that cup, and it is back in its place in the Alumnae House living-room for all the world of Agnes Scott to see, we feel that just a tiny little bit of our love and loyalty for our Alma Mater will be shown.

Why, we didn't know we did love that place so much! But after a long, lonely year away from all the other seventy-six who mean so much to the seventy-seventh, and away from that quiet, green, campus, it was with a feeling almost too solemn and lovely to put into words that we came back to Agnes Scott this May. Of all the colleges in the world, this is the one we love best! This is the one we chose from all the rest, and now that we have completed our four joyous years there, and spent one year away from its sheltering arms, we realize just how big a part of all that is best in us is associated with Agnes Scott, and the friends we made there.

So back we came for our first reunion. Lots of us—stacks of us—piles of us—numbers of us—enough of us to put the other class percentages in the shade, while we strutted off with the cup. But, oh, classmates of '26, lots of us came, but not all of us! It made our hearts hurt a little in the midst of all the fun of reunion to think that never again will all of us be together again under the trees of Agnes Scott campus.

In the words of the Toonerville Gazette, "The class of '26 held its first reunion in May, 1927, at Agnes Scott. Dinner on the ground, and a good time was had by all." We really did have dinner on the ground! All the other reunion classes had their Monday luncheons in the Alumnae House, but there were such flocks of them, and such flocks of us, too, that we all couldn't be accommodated there, so we had our class meeting and luncheon on the lawn at Mrs. McKinney's, just across the street. Talk? Mercy, we every one talked as fast as Sarah Smith does ordinarily. Who listened? Ask me another. We gossiped disgracefully about the absent members; the only way not to get talked about at a class reunion is to come to it, and stay to every single thing. The minute a person is absent, "chatter, chatter, chatter," for, in spite of our experience of one whole year out in the wide world, the days "when we were very young" are not far away.

While we sat on Mrs. McKinney's lawn and chattered and sang and enjoyed ourselves immensely, we kept one eye cocked on the Alumnae House across the street where the other reunion classes were indulging in so much hilarity that we expected to see the roof lifted at any minute. And we had a hunch that we won the cup, too, and we wanted to be sure no other class bore it off under our very eyes. And sure enough the door of the Alumnae House burst open, and bookity, bookity, here came the Alumnae Secretary bounding across the street, bearing the loving-cup, filled to the brim with icy-cold grape-juice and "one little straw for the each of us!" We raised a shout that made the oak-leaves over our heads almost flutter off their stems, and then we gathered around Sarah Smith, Madam President, and sipped all that grape-juice up!

So many things happened during that one little week-end of commencement that a detailed account would soon become as bulky as a Funk and Wagnall's unabridged. So many of us live in Atlanta, and have cars, and are hospitable and popular, that the minutes that weren't taken up with class activities were filled with other affairs.

Yessah, the Toonerville Gazette was certainly right: "A good time was had by all!"

AGNES SCOTT ABROAD

Every summer a number of the college faculty, alumnae, and students study or travel abroad. Not a single one who returned last summer failed to tell of the experience of meeting other members of our Agnes Scott family on the beaten path or in some out of the way corner of Europe. It is a delightful surprise to encounter an old college friend abroad, and a very chagrinning experience to learn that you were in Paris or Vienna or Belfast on the very day that some other alumna was there, but neither of you had the faintest notion of the other's whereabouts. One alumna met an old friend in Rome last year, just as she was leaving the station. They had been in the same city a week, each unaware of the presence of the other, and met by chance just too late to see anything of each other.

If all the alumnae who plan European trips will notify the alumnae office, they can learn the names of other alumnae whom they may like to arrange to travel with or meet at some point along the way.

The following Agnes Scott alumnae are now living abroad:

Elizabeth Burke, '16 (Mrs. William C. Burdett), American Consulate, Brussels, Belgium.

Ona Bell Wellborn, ex '01 (Mrs. Homer Brett), American Consulate, Nottingham, England.

Mary Louise Van Dyke, care the New York Times, in Paris.

Cara Hinman, ex '28, Poste Restante, Geneva, Switzerland.

Hortense Pohlman (Mrs. August Sundstrom), Engelbuktsgatan 21, Stockholm, Sweden.

Among the alumnae traveling in Europe this summer will be Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Stukes (Frances Gilliland), '24.

Elizabeth Henry, '24, and Lois Eve, '19.

Nell Buchanan, '22; Jean McAlister, '21; Evelyn Sprinkle, '26; Frances Lincoln, '25.

Quenelle Harrold, '23.

Virginia McLaughlin, '20.

Mary Mobberly, '24.

Mary Ferguson, '27.

Elizabeth Lilly, '27.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harper (Emmie Ficklen), '24.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Patrick McGeachey, Jr. (Beth McClure), '23.

Miss Leslie Gaylord, of the Mathematics Department, will take over a group of students and alumnae, including Mary Shepherd, '28; Mildred Greenleaf, '29; Pernette Adams, '29; Josephine Huntley, '28; Brooks Grimes, '25, and Virginia Grimes, '26.

Mary Louise Green, '21, to Dr. Tom G. Morrow, on June 15, in Corinth, Miss.

Gertrude Green, '26, to Mr. Daniel Simeon Blacklock, on June 4, in Bradenton, Fla. Virginia Burt, '24, and Edythe Coleman, '26, were attendants.

Mary Stewart Hewlett, '23, to Mr. William Alexis Langley, on June 9, in Conyers, Ga. Elizabeth Lockhart Davis, '23, will be matron of honor.

Carolyn Dean Moore, '22, to Mr. William Nathan Gressette, in June, in Eufaula, Ala.

Emilie Erlich, '27, to Mr. C. Clarence Strasburger, on June 8, in Savannah, Ga. Isabelle Clarke, '26, will be maid of honor.

Margaret Hyatt, '25, to Mr. John Albert Walker, in Norton, Va., on June 14th.

Nancy Lou Knight, ex '27, to Mr. Philip Narmon, on June 2, in Safety Harbor, Fla.

Sadie Gober, ex '11, to Mr. Mark Temple, on June 8, in Marietta, Ga.

Lora Lee Turner, ex '27, to Mr. W. E. Bostwick, in June at Emory University, Ga.

Elizabeth McClure, '23, to Mr. Daniel Patrick McGeachey, Jr., on June 15 in Montreat, N. C. Julia Dancy Eve, ex '29, to Mr. Walter Hart-ridge Strong, in June in Savannah, Ga.

Mary Stuart Sims, ex '25, to Mr. Robert Gardner McCamy, on June 4, in Dalton, Ga.

Clara Boynton Cole, '20, to Mr. Milton S. Heath of the University of North Carolina, on June 15, in Atlanta, Ga.

Estelle Gardner, ex '23, to Mr. Arthur Branch Baker, on June 8, at the First Methodist Church, Decatur, Ga.

Other engagements recently announced are:

Fan McCaa, '21, to Mr. John Brown McLaughlin, to be married on July 6, in Anniston, Ala., at the church of St. Michael and All Angels.

Louise Capen, '27, to Dr. Clinton Baker.

Leone Bowers, '26, to Mr. C. W. Hamilton, the marriage to be solemnized in the fall.

Hazel Huff, '26, to Dr. Joseph Clark Monaghan, the wedding to be solemnized at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Atlanta, Ga., June 6.

Cora Morton, '24, to Mr. Frazer Durrett, in August in Athens, Ga. Dick Scandrett, '24, and Reba Bayless, '27, will be bridesmaids.

Eloise Knight, '23, to Mr. Ted Jones on August 17 at Safety Harbor, Fla.

Recent marriages among alumnae include:

Frances Charlotte Markley, '21, to Mr. Donald Roberts, in Shanghai, China, on April 21st.

Margaret Rowe, '19, to Mr. Carrington Jones, on April 20, in Memphis, Tenn.

Nonie Peck, '24, to Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick Booth, on May 24, in Montgomery, Ala.

JUNE WEDDINGS

Years ago, Agnes Scott established the reputation of having the largest percentage of marriages among her graduates of any other A-1 woman's college in the country. We are certainly living up to this reputation, and the following list of engagements and marriages have been announced to take place during the month of June.

SUMMER READING

"Old friends are tried and truest,
Good books, not just the newest."

A breathless, latest-book-out, reading fiend expressed contemptuous surprise on hearing that a friend of hers had not read one of the newest books.

"Why, it has been out since Christmas," she said. "Everybody is reading it and talking of it."

"Have you ever read all of the Divina Commedia, by Dante?" the friend asked. Avid reader admitted that she had not. "It has been out over six hundred years," was the quiet response, "and has had quite a bit of discussion, too."

The books listed below are not all just out. Some are new, but some are old. There are possibly some of the old that may have escaped you, and that you will enjoy during the hours on the front porch this summer.

The Cathedral—Hugh Walpole.

Harmer John—Hugh Walpole (a tale of the cathedral people).

Fantastics and Other Fancies—Lafcadio Hearn. ("These fantastics are my impressions of the strange life of New Orleans.")

Java Head—Joseph Hergersheimer.

Brother Saul—Donn Byrne.

The Romantic Comedians—Ellen Glasgow.

The Last of the Vikings—Johan Bojer.

Changing Winds—St. John Ervine.

The Old French Tale of Aucassin and Nicolette.

Michelangelo, A Record of His Life—R. W. Carden.

Mr. Pepys, An Introduction to the Diary—J. R. Tanner.

Autobiography of a Supertramp—W. H. Davies.
Forsythe Sage—John Galsworthy.

Young Men in Love—Michael Arlen.

The Madonna of the Peachtree—Maurice Hewlett.

ALUMNAE LUNCHEON IN MACON

When the Georgia Education Association held its annual meeting in Macon in April, although the Association is not one of colleges, but grammar and high schools, there were so many Agnes Scott alumnae present that an Agnes Scott luncheon was gotten up. Over a hundred Agnes Scott graduates are teaching in the schools of Georgia.

Anne McKay, '25, and Ruth Johnston, '25, were in charge of the luncheon which was held in a private dining-room of the Dempsey Hotel, convention headquarters. Agnes Scott colors of purple and white were used in the flowers and table decorations.

Dr. McCain had motored down from Atlanta for the meeting, bringing with him Miss Hopkins, Miss Torrance, Miss Smith, Miss Freck, and Polly Stone, alumnae secretary. Mr. Holt was present at the luncheon also. He and Miss Torrance were scheduled for addresses during the afternoon session of the convention.

The alumnae who attended the luncheon were Frances Sprattin, '26; Anne (McClure) Simpson, '16; Belle Cooper, '18; Rusa Wesley, Emma Wesley, Adelaide Cunningham, Emily Spivey, '25; Beulah Davidson, '24; Ethel (McKay) Holmes, ex '15; Debra (Bloch) Wallenstein, ex '17; Alice (Bloch) Cohen, ex '21; Isabel Dew, '17; Sarah Webster, '17; Annis Kelly, ex '15; Rose Wood, '08; Lillian Middlebrooks, '25; Anne McKay, '25; Ruth Johnston, '25; Polly Stone, '24, and the above named faculty members.

ANNUAL DEDICATED TO ALUMNAE

The 1927 issue of the "Silhouette"—the year book gotten out by the student body of Agnes Scott—is dedicated to the alumnae. The ties between student and alumna have been strengthened greatly within the past years since the erection of the Anna Young Alumnae House on the campus, to which so many alumnae so often return. The students are given certain guest privileges in connection with the house which they seem to value highly and which they have never abused in the slightest degree. The alumna returns to Agnes Scott and from her headquarters at the Alumnae House (or the Tea House, as it is known on the campus), gets to know the present generation of students; the student looks forward to the day when she may as an alumna call the Alumnae House her own, and enjoy its many privileges.

And so for five years the ties between student and alumna have gradually grown stronger. The request which came in November from the students that they be allowed to dedicate the "Silhouette" to their "older sisters" is a great compliment to the alumnae and an indication of the cordial relations that exist between these two great units in our college.

Nineteen names were passed on by a committee of the students themselves as alumnae outstanding in some special phase of work. The pictures of these representatives nineteen will appear in the "Silhouette," although the book is lovingly dedicated to all the alumnae. Those whose pictures will be used are:

R. Florence Brinkley.
Mildred Thomson.
Tommie Dora Barker.
Elizabeth McCarrick.
India (Hunt) Balch.
Julia (Ingram) Hazzard.
Janef Preston.
Margaret Bland.
Bessie (Scott) Harmon.
Mary Wallace Kirk.
Quenelle Harrold.
Vivian Little.
Lucile Alexander.
Mary Kirkpatrick.
Nan Bagby Stephens.
Mary Barker.
Rusa Wesley.
Mary (Barnet) Martin.
Allie (Candler) Guy.

TO REBUILD THE SHAKESPEARE THEATRE

American colleges and schools are taking great interest in the effort of the American Shakespeare Foundation to rebuild the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, destroyed by fire last year, at Stratford-on-Avon.

Since 1879 the heart of Shakespeare's town has been the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. From Stratford-on-Avon it has quickened the world with the beauty of Shakespeare's work through the Spring and Summer Festival performances of his plays. Pilgrims come from every land to attend these performances of the master's plays, to rest their eyes on the tranquil Avon, to browse in the Shakespearean library near the Theatre, to catch, perhaps, a vision of Shakespeare by treading the lanes of the town and countryside where he lived most of his life and by pausing in the church before his tomb.

On March 6, 1926, this old Elizabethan town was startled by the alarm of fire; the Memorial Theatre burned to the ground, though the grace of fortune left unharmed the invaluable library of Shakespeareana.

Americans who recognize the debt they owe to Shakespeare for the broadening of their horizons and the enrichment of their lives are invited by the executive committee of the American Shakespeare Foundation, of which Professor George P. Baker of Yale is chairman, to discharge this indebtedness, at least in part, by contributing to the international fund of $2,500,000 required to rebuild and endow the Shakespeare Memorial. America's part of this is $1,000,000. Any who wish to participate in this American gift should send checks to Otto H. Kahn, Treasurer, American Shakespeare Foundation, 150 Nassau Street, New York City. Individual subscriptions range from $1 up.

CLASS REUNIONS

The new schedule of reunions which we are following now was a trifle confusing at first, but we have weathered the first commencement under its plan, and from now on it will be easy to follow. We have all gotten the idea firmly fixed in our minds that we are to come back the first year out, third year, fifth year, and every fifth year thereafter. The first thing to do is to get this old plan of reunion completely out of our thoughts, and for the next ten years to follow the chart given below. This chart is essentially the Dix System, combining with it for the first two years just enough of our old reunion system to adjust us easily to the new.

Reunions in 1927 of '94, '95, '96, '97, '02, '07, '12, '13, '14, '15, '17, '22, '24, '26.

In 1928: '93, '99, '00, '01, '18, '19, '20, '27.

In 1929: '03, '04, '05, '21, '22, '23, '24.

In 1930: '06, '07, '08, '09, '25, '26, '27, '28.

In 1931: '93, '94, '10, '11, '12, '13, '29, '30.

In 1932: '95, '96, '97, '14, '15, '16, '17, '31.

In 1933: '99, '00, '01, '02, '18, '19, '20, '21, '32.

In 1934: '03, '04, '05, '06, '22, '23, '24, '25, '33.

In 1935: '07, '08, '09, '10, '26, '27, '28, '29, '34.

In 1936: '93, '94, '95, '11, '12, '13, '14, '30, '31, '32, '33.

In 1937: '96, '97, '99, '15, '16, '17, '18, '34, '35, '36.

In 1938: '00, '01, '02, '03, '19, '20, '21, '22, '37.

(Note—There is no reunion scheduled for '98, since there is no living member of that class.)

NEW PHI BETA KAPPA MEMBERS

The Beta of Georgia, or Agnes Scott, Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, announced the following new members at the chapel service on May 27th. From the class of 1927:

Reba Bayless, Athens, Tenn.

Frances Buchanan, Macon, Ga.

Kenneth Maner, Atlanta, Ga.

Mamie Shaw, Gainesville, Fla.

Courtney Wilkinson, Lynchburg, Va.

Roberta Winter, Leland, Miss.

Grace Zachry, Atlanta, Ga.

From the faculty, Dr. Mary Stuart MacDougall and Dr. Catherine Torrance, for notable and nationally recognized research work in their respective departments of Biology and Greek.

From the alumnae:

Fannie G. (Mayson) Donaldson, '12.

Carol (Stearns) Wey, '12.

Cornelia Cooper, '12.

Mildred Thomson, '10.

When the chapter was installed at Agnes Scott in 1926, the regulations governing the election of alumnae members required that they should have done work meriting the grade of Phi Beta Kappa while they were in college, that they should have been out of college fifteen years, and during that period have sufficiently identified themselves with educational movements. Mrs. Donaldson and Mrs. Wey are both past presidents of the Alumnae Association, Miss Cooper is at present a member of the faculty at Judson College, Marion, Ala., and Miss Thomson is doing notable work with mental delinquents in St. Paul, Minn.

Members of the class of '27 announced after mid-year examinations in January who are members of Phi Beta Kappa are:

Susan Clayton, Atlanta, Ga.

Mary Lloyd Davis, LaGrange, Ga.

Miriam Preston, Soonchun, Korea.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES

The Quenelle Harrold scholarship for graduate study was awarded this year to Mamie Shaw, of Gainesville, Fla. This scholarship, which is to be given each year to one of the most promising members of the graduating class, is the interest accruing from a sum of ten thousand dollars given last year by Mrs. Thomas Harrold of Americus, Ga., and named for her daughter, Quenelle, a graduate of the class of '23. The winner of the scholarship is to be selected each year by the faculty.

Daisy Frances Smith, '24, will study for her Master's degree next year at the University of Pennsylvania, having won a scholarship there. Daisy Frances will take her work in the department of history, under Professor Edward P. Cheney, whose visit to the college last year the Agnes Scott community will remember most pleasantly.

The prize of twenty-five dollars offered by the Alumnae Association for the best poem written by a student member of the Agnes Scott Poetry Society was won by Elizabeth Troup Norfleet, president of the class of '27. A poem by Virginia Earle, '30, was given honorable mention.

The judges for the contest were Miss Louise Driscoll, of Catskill, N. Y.; Miss Mary Brent Whiteside, of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. William Gilmer Perry, of the English Department of the Georgia School of Technology.

ALUMNAE IN ACADEMIC PROCESSION

Beginning with the commencement exercises of 1928, it is planned to have all the alumnae returning to the college make part of the academic procession for the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday of commencement and for the final commencement exercises on Tuesday. We have wanted this for years, and have tried several times in a half-hearted way to accomplish it, but it is much better to have no alumnae march than to have only some dozen stragglers representing our great alumnae body of several thousand.

All the alumnae who own academic cap and gown are asked to donate them to the alumnae office where they can be kept and rented when needed. Each cap and gown will be marked with the owner's name, and she will always have the privilege of using that one whenever she desires. During the exercises next commencement, we hope to have every returning alumna as a part of the academic procession.

ALUMNAE HOUSE CHANGES

The appearance of the living and dining rooms of the Anna Young Alumnae House has changed completely since the photograph of these rooms as published in the November, 1926, Alumnae Quarterly. The house was five years old in February, 1927; it has been used constantly ever since it was built, and the original furnishings were beginning to be decidedly shabby. Like the wonderful old one-horse shay, everything began to go to pieces at the same moment. We had admired and enthused over our lovely house until it had become a habit, and suddenly we were confronted with the necessity not of replacing a few of the badly worn pieces in the living room, but of refurnishing the living room entirely. And since the French doors into the dining room make it practically one with the living room, we found ourselves with a huge and expensive refurnishing proposition.

The Atlanta Agnes Scott Club rose to the occasion. They took over the living room as their especial care, and challenged the Decatur Alumnae Club to look after the dining room. Since the house itself and the lovely mantle in the living room are colonial, the Atlanta club decided to refurnish the room along those lines. Following the suggestions of the W. E. Browne Decorating Company, to date—June 15—they have bought a new taupe rug, and cretonne curtains with lovely old colonial brass cornices. The House and Tea Room Committee has purchased five-branch brass candlesticks for the mantle, and has had the furniture in the room done over and reupholstered. The gift of Miss Anna Young's mother and sisters to the house this year was new brass andirons and fender.

The Decatur Club, spurred on by the accomplishments of the Atlanta Alumnae, have bought a similar rug, curtains and cornices for the dining room, and a small hook throw-rug to connect the two rooms. These were all in place by commencement and were appreciated and enjoyed greatly by the returning alumnae.

"MONDAY ONLY, AT $4.98"

A linen dress for $4.98 is so infinitely cheaper than one for $5.00! And the purchase of a jar of cold cream for 49 cents instead of 50 convinces any woman that she has superior shopping ability. The daughters of Eve love bargains, and the Alumnae Association is offering a perfectly splendid one.

Annual dues to the Association have formerly been $1.50, and life memberships $37.50. Beginning with the scholastic year 1927-28, annual dues will be advanced to $2.00 and life memberships will take a corresponding climb to $50.00.

But until October 1, 1927, life memberships may still be had for $37.50! If you mail your check during the summer, send it to Polly Stone, Blakely, Ga., and mark the envelope "alumnae business." After September 1, Miss Stone will receive mail again at the college.

$37.50 in annual dues will last not quite nineteen years. If you expect to live longer than that, satisfy your sense of a real bargain by sending your check for 37.50, before October 1st, marked "life membership."

ALUMNAE HOUSE GUESTS

Among the returning alumnae registered at the Alumnae House for commencement are the following names:

Mrs. A. S. Edmonds (Laura Boardman Caldwell), Portland, Ore.

Mrs. S. T. Barnett (Allen Watlington), Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. T. E. Ryals (Lilly Wade Little), Macon, Georgia.

Mrs. Fairman Preston (Annie Wiley), Soonchun, Korea.

Mrs. W. A. Turner, Jr. (Annie Kirk Dowdell), Newnan, Ga.

Cornelia Cooper, Marion, Ala., Judson College.

Mrs. John I. Scott (Marie MacIntyre), Scottsdale, Ga.

Mrs. D. B. Donaldson (Fannie G. Mayson), Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Harold Wey (Carol Stearns), Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Searcy Slack (Julia Pratt Smith), Decatur, Ga.

Mrs. A. E. Hill (Olivia Bogacki), Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. J. Sam Guy (Allie Candler), Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. L. D. Bynum (Mary Lois Enzor), Troy, Alabama.

Mrs. L. D. B. Williams (Lilly Joiner), Centenary, S. C.

Janie McGaughey (Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va.

Mrs. F. H. Robarts (Louise Maness), Decatur, Georgia.

Mrs. Christian W. Dieckman (Emma Pope Moss), Decatur, Ga.

Bertha Adams, Pine Apple, Ala.

Mrs. C. R. Dickert (Mildred Holmes), Chattanooga, Tenn.

- Mrs. J. E. Summer (Linda Miller), Newberry, South Carolina.
 Louise McNulty, Dawson, Ga.
 Mrs. Walter DuPre (Essie Roberts), Atlanta, Georgia.
 Mrs. G. H. Noble, Jr. (Martha Rogers), New York City.
 Mrs. Milton Scott (Annie Pope Bryan), Decatur, Ga.
 Mrs. J. Earle Vick (Mary Hyer), Winter Garden, Fla.
 Mrs. Emmett Lee Coleman (Mary Kelly), Barnesville, Ga.
 Mrs. Hugh Turner (Henrietta Lambdin), McDonough, Ga.
 Lucy Naive, Queens College, Charlotte, N. C.
 Catherine Parker, Atlanta, Ga.
 Grace Reid, Decatur, Ga.
 Mrs. Ben Head (Mary Helen Schneider), Atlanta, Ga.
 Mrs. S. Eugene Thatcher (Mary Nancy West), Atlanta, Ga.
 Mary Floding, Atlanta, Ga.
 Mary Lamar Knight, Atlanta, Ga.
 Frances Oliver, Plains, Ga.
 Mrs. Justin Fuller (Laura Oliver), Birmingham, Ala.
 Ruth Pirkle, Cumming, Ga.
 Mrs. Grat Bowen (Harriet Scott), Wittens Mills, Va.
 Mrs. R. L. Hayes, Jr. (Louie Dean Stephens), Marietta, Ga.
 Sarah Till, Fayette, Miss.
 Allie Louise Travis, Covington, Ga.
 Lois McClain, Jasper, Ga.
 Martha Lin Manly, Dalton, Ga.
 Elizabeth Askew, Hershey Central, Cuba.
 Rebecca Bivings, Atlanta, Ga.
 Virginia Burt, Opelika, Ala.
 Helen Lane Comfort, Clinton, S. C.
 Marguerite Dobbs, East Point, Ga.
 Mrs. Warren Matthews (Martha Eakes), Decatur, Ga.
 Mrs. Marvin Harper (Emmie Ficklen), Orange, New Jersey.
 Katie Gilchrist, Courtland, Ala.
 Mrs. S. G. Stukes (Frances Gilliland), Decatur, Ga.
 Janet Newton, Savannah, Ga.
 Virginia Newton, Athens, Ga.
 Mary Hemphill Greene, Abbeville, S. C.
 Vivian Little, Atlanta, Ga.
 Mrs. Philip Butner (Lillian McAlpine), Winston-Salem, N. C.
 Margaret McDow, Holly Springs, Miss.
 Mrs. H. M. Boon (Mary Mann), Atlanta, Ga.
 Cora Morton, Athens, Ga.
 Mrs. J. H. Goff (Catherine Nash), Atlanta, Ga.
 Dick Scandrett, Cordele, Ga.
 Daisy Frances Smith, Atlanta, Ga.
 Polly Stone, Blakely, Ga.
 Annie Wilson Terry, Millbrook, Ala.
 Helen Wright, Columbia, S. C.
 Frances Arant, Birmingham, Ala.
 Mrs. W. I. Miller (Georgiana White) Orlando, Florida.
 Mrs. Ed Archibald (Vallie Young White), Birmingham, Ala.
 Regina Pinkston, Greenville, Ga.
 Gjertrud Amundsen, New York, N. Y.
 Laidie Sue Wallace, Rutledge, Ga.
 Nellie Richardson, Hawkinsville, Ga.
 Louise Bennett, Atlanta, Ga.
 Lois Bolles, Atlanta, Ga.
 Grace Boone, Lake Wales, Fla.
 Leone Bowers, Decatur, Ga.
 Margaret Bull, Lewisburg, W. Va.
 Mrs. Carl Pirkle (Betty Chapman), Atlanta, Georgia.
 Edythe Coleman, Atlanta, Ga.
 Frances Cooper, Atlanta, Ga.
 Louisa Duls, Charlotte, N. C.
 Ellen Fain, Hendersonville, N. C.
 Mrs. Baxter Gentry (Dora Ferrell), Decatur, Georgia.
 Elise Gay, San Antonio, Texas.
 Elizabeth Gregory, Blackshear, Ga.
 Mary Ella Hammond, Griffin, Ga.
 Eloise Harris, Ensley, Ala.
 Blanche Haslam, Piedmonr, Ala.
 Helena Hermance, Toronto, Ont., Canada.
 Charlotte Higgs, Washington, D. C.
 Hazel Huff, Atlanta, Ga.
 Sterling Johnson, Decatur, Ga.
 Mary Knox, Decatur, Ga.
 Betty Little, Atlanta, Ga.
 Helen Clark Martin, Charleston, S. C.
 Mrs. Jacob Harris (Elizabeth Moore), Decatur, Georgia.
 Grace Augusta Ogden, Atlanta, Ga.
 Florence Perkins, Atlanta, Ga.
 Allene Ramage, Decatur, Ga.
 Sarah Slaughter, Atlanta, Ga.
 Sarah Smith, Atlanta, Ga.
 Frances Spratling, Norcross, Ga.
 Margaret Tufts, Banner Elk, N. C.
 Margaret Whittington, Atlanta, Ga.
 Virginia Wing, Roswell, Ga.
 Rosalie Wootten, Queens College, Charlotte, North Carolina.
 Josephine Schuessler, Charlotte, N. C.
 Grace Ethridge, New York, N. Y.
 Sarah Webster, Atlanta, Ga.
 Mrs. J. W. Greenawalt (Amelia Alexander), Albany, Ga.
 Martha Dennison, Atlanta, Ga.
 Isabel Dew, Atlanta, Ga.
 Mrs. Lester Rumble (Mary Eakes), Oxford, Ga.
 Mrs. S. H. Pearce (Mildred Hall), Greenwood, Mississippi.
 Mrs. J. W. Rutland (Jane Harwell), Atlanta, Georgia.
 Mrs. Fonville McWhorter (Willie Belle Jackson), Atlanta, Ga.
 Mary Spottswood Payne, Athens, Ga.
 Mrs. Louis Aronstam (Rita Schwartz), Atlanta, Ga.
 Katherine Baker Simpson, Decatur, Ga.
 Augusta Skeen, Decatur, Ga.
 Robina Gallacher, Atlanta, Ga.

Concerning Ourselves

Institute

Alma Allbritton is now Mrs. E. L. Jelks, 504 N. Court St., Quitman, Ga.

Willie Allbritton still lives at her old home at 503 N. Court St., in Quitman, Ga. During May she visited friends in Canada.

Mary H. Battey is Mrs. George Bonney, 3 Sutton Place, New York City. She is field secretary of the new interests committee of the A. W. A.

Alva Baum is selling bonds in St. Louis, Mo. She is Mrs. H. Baum, and lives at 917 Goodfellow Ave.

Mary Louise Crenshaw (Mrs. Oscar Palmour) was recently re-elected president of the College Park Woman's Club. She is an outstanding figure in club work in Georgia.

Mary Gwin is Mrs. N. V. Robbins, the wife of a prominent lawyer in Vicksburg, Miss. They have one daughter, and two sons, the eldest thirteen years old. Mary's street address is 1317 Baum Street.

Louise Hurst (Mrs. Frank E. Howald) is spending the summer in Fitzgerald, Ga. After August 1st, she will take the position of Dean of Women at the Allison-Jones School in Santa, Fe, New Mexico.

Margaret Laing is living in Greenville, S. C., and taking a prominent part in the work there of the Little Theatre Guild. She played a leading role in the program of one-act plays put on by the Guild in February.

Bertha Lewis is now Mrs. H. Adamhoff, a concert singer, living at 512 Langhorn Street, S. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Minna Miller is living at her old home on Miller Avenue, in Atlanta, and is manager of "Children's Bookland," the juvenile department at the Miller Book Store.

Estelle Patillo (Mrs. C. E. Boynton) went from Atlanta to Washington, D. C., in May to attend the graduation exercises of Gunston Hall. Her younger daughter, Myra, was a member of the graduating class.

Hortense Pohlman is now Mrs. August Sundstrom, and is living at Engelbuktgatan 21, Stockholm, Sweden. Her oldest son, seventeen years old, is to enter Massachusetts Tech in the fall. Her second boy expects to make his debut as a violinist in the United States in two years. She has one little daughter, ten years old.

Lottie Ramspeck is living in Decatur and enjoying immensely her position as probation officer for the Fulton County Juvenile Court.

Kate Tolleson writes from Monticello, Ga.: "I might be classed among the 'idle poor,' as I do nothing but keep a seven-room house for my father and all the visiting relatives; am retiring regent of the D. A. R. Chapter, teach Bible class in the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church; member of the Kiwanis Club; sew for all the children in the family near and far, and run a farm and raise chickens."

College

Ethel McDonald (Mrs. Castellow), '06, died on May 2nd, in Baltimore, Md.

In Memoriam

Ethel was a member of the Class of 1906—the first class on which Agnes Scott College conferred the regular A. B. degree. Gentle, refined, loyal, devoted, hers was a life well worthy of the trust imposed upon her by her Alma Mater; and as an Alumna of the College, throughout the years she always labored lovingly and gladly for the promotion and development of Agnes Scott.

Ethel McDonald Castellow was born in Cuthbert, Ga., September 25th, 1886, a descendant of two of the most prominent families in that section of the state, being the daughter of Mr. George and Mrs. Gertrude Gunn McDonald, and the granddaughter of two of Randolph County's pioneer settlers, Edward McDonald and John McKenzie Gunn. True to the traditions and principles of her forebears, she always stood for what was truest in her community's welfare. Retiring and modest in her disposition, her many charities were dispensed without ostentation, and were numerous and generous.

She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church and when in health she was active in its work, always liberal in her support of its various causes, at one time serving most efficiently, and successfully as treasurer of the church's funds.

Her most loved public work and one in which she was interested up until the last, was ministering to the happiness of the county's Confederate Veterans, and upholding the work of the U. D. C. Memorial Day, 1927, came just a few days before her death in Baltimore, and in the midst of extremest suffering, she wanted to know what was being done at home about the Memorial Day exercises. Blessed in her babyhood by President Jefferson Davis himself, who laid his hand in benediction upon her tiny head, as she was held in her father's arms, she carried through life a shining devotion to the Southland and to the soldiers of the Lost Cause.

On June 28, 1911, she became the wife of Mr. B. T. Castellow, State's Attorney for the Pataula Judicial Circuit, and through the fifteen years as his wife and mother of one little daughter, Gertrude, she entered into the fullness of loving homemaking with the same sincerity and genuineness of purpose that always characterized her.

The end came gently to her in the early morning of May 2nd, in Baltimore, where she had gone several weeks before in quest of health. Her sister, Mrs. Emilio Suarez, was with her until the last. She has been an intense sufferer for many years, patient, brave, determined in her efforts to win the battle for the sake of her little daughter and the others whom she loved; but the forces against the frail body were too strong for her. The funeral services were held at her mother's home in Cuthbert, on the afternoon of May 4th. Sympathizing friends and relatives from all over the seven counties comprising the Pataula Circuit came to pay a last tribute to her and to her sorrowing husband. The home was a bower of beautiful flowers attesting the love and admiration in which she was held, and she was laid to rest in the family lot at Roseland Cemetery.

Beside her husband and daughter, she is survived by her mother, her sister and one brother, J. E. McDonald, all of Cuthbert.

A college classmate, writing of her since she was taken away, says: "There never was a lovelier person than Ethel—so sweet, unselfish, considerate, so loyal, so conscientious in her work—and with such a high sense of honor in all things and with it all, a brilliant mind and one so capable and efficient. It will always be one of the sweetest privileges of my life to have known her so well."

Farris Davis, ex '08, is editor of "The Kaleidoscope," a bi-monthly magazine devoted to news and views of club and social events in Jacksonville, Fla. The Kaleidoscope is a sixteen page publication with an attractive format. In connection with the magazine, Farris is conducting a Service Bureau, which finds data on any subject for club papers, etc., dresses speeches up for the amateur, handles publicity, and organizes classes in parliamentary law, public speaking, physical culture, dancing and bridge.

Florence Hanson Light (Mrs. A. Harmon Roberts), ex '09, is living at Accotink, Va., where her husband is a dairyman. Florence has five children: Margaret Williams, 11; Alex W. Williams, Jr., 9; Robert Frank Roberts, 3; Richard Light Roberts, 2, and a new baby, Sue Harmon, born during April.

There is a most interesting article in the Christian Science Monitor for March 8, 1927, called "A Newspaper Epic." It is the story of Edith (O'Keefe) Susong, ex '10, and the "Democrat-Sun," the paper she owns and edits in Greenville, Tenn. A special correspondent of the Monitor was sent down to Greenville for the express purpose of interviewing Mrs. Susong. A few quotations from the article will be interesting: "About ten years ago I found myself faced with the necessity for making a living for my two children and myself. I had the title to an unsuccessful weekly newspaper and a mortgage for $3,000. I found that the paper was published in a cellar on a side street, and the equipment was antiquated. Those were busy days. I learned the business from top to bottom. I wrote all the news, wrote and sold the advertising, kept books, handled the circulation, learned to set and distribute type, and on busy days I fed the obsolete country Campbell press with both sides of the paper, folded all the papers by hand, addressed them all by hand, rolled and zoned them, and carried them to the post office alone and unaided. . . . From the first I had an uphill task. The two other Greenville newspapers were located on the principal streets, and had well-equipped plants. . . . Another difficulty I had to meet was the fact that this section is so deeply conservative that the former patrons did not feel a woman could publish a newspaper. . . . After about three years in the cellar, I grew ambitious and formed the plan of entering the daily field. . . . But before I could do this, one of my competitors converted his weekly into a daily—a serious thing for me. The other competitor was harder hit than I by the daily's popularity and failed. I bought his equipment. . . . After the war, advertising fell off, and the daily failed. The same week I bought the plant for $16,500, largely on credit. Even my best friends told me that if a man failed in publishing a daily newspaper, a woman could hardly hope to succeed. . . . But I would not be discouraged, and gradually brought order out of chaos. . . . I began to give Greene County a newspaper that was absolutely independent in politics, boosted the community, and was fair to everyone. I do not believe in destructive criticism. . . . It is my conviction that serious responsibility rests on the shoulders of a newspaper publisher. I have faithfully tried to discharge that responsibility to the best of my ability." Edith has a little son, Alex, and a daughter, Martha Arnold, whom she is raising to take over the "Democrat-Sun" some day.

Flora (Crowe) Whitmire, '10, who lives in Hartford, Conn., has been south on a visit to her old home at Smyrna, Ga.

Mary Wallace Kirk, '11, and her mother were among the out-of-town visitors at Sadie Gober's wedding in Marietta, Ga., on June 8th. They spent some time in Atlanta before the wedding, stopping at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel.

Janie Louise Hunter, ex '12, writes from Gray Court, S. C.: "I am keeping house for my brother and my mother, who is in ill health. I taught two years in the Greenville City schools, but since then it has become necessary for me to stay at home. I find much pleasure in working in my little country church and rural school Improvement Association, and try to do some real community work."

Eleanor (Pinkston) Stokes, '13, has the true army wife attitude towards the many moves that army people are so often forced to make. Just two days before her class reunion at Agnes Scott (and her sister, Regina, was to be here for her class reunion, too!) Major Stokes received orders to leave immediately for Fort Oglethorpe. And, although Eleanor had been looking eagerly forward to her reunion with her classmates, "she's in the army now," and when official orders said "move," move she did. '13 missed her at the reunion, but admired tremendously her implicit obedience to orders. Fort Oglethorpe is a delightful army post in Tennessee, and Eleanor is very pleased with her new home.

Ruth (Brown) Moore's new son, Davis Moore, arrived just too late to be announced in the April Quarterly. He was born on March 29th, and makes Ruth's third child.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hogan on April 21st, a daughter, Madge Harden. Mrs. Hogan was formerly Theodosia Cobbs, of the class of '14, and the arrival of her daughter explains her absence from '14's class reunion this May.

Gertrude (Briesnick) Ross, '15, lost her father in the early spring.

Grace Reid, '15, is staying at home in Decatur, Ga. Occasionally she does a little coaching, but has done no regular school work for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. James Healy Bryars announce the birth of a daughter, Jean Elizabeth, born March 2, 1927, in Shanghai, China. Mrs. Bryars was Anna Sykes, '16.

Lucile (Finney) Peacock, ex '16, is living in Madison, Ga., where her husband is a teacher of Physics and shop. She has two little girls, six and three years old.

Julie (MacIntyre) Gates, ex '16, is living on Dewitt Drive, Genesee Manor, Syracuse, N. Y. Her husband is a lawyer. They have two children, John Edwin Gates, Jr., three years old, and Constance Gates, born during March, 1927.

Miss Nancy Pope Buckley Wright made her arrival on April 18 in Monticello, Ark. Her proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. Foster Wright (de-Vaney Pope, ex '16).

Anne Graham Kyle, '17, was married on April 16 to Mr. Samuel Bryce McLaughlin, at her home in Lynchburg, Va. Annie Aunspaugh, ex '04, violinist, assisted in the program of wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin are now at home in Charlotte, N. C., where Mr. McLaughlin is associated with the Virginia Trust Company.

Margaret Pruden, '17, has been teaching since Christmas at Flora McDonald School, Red Springs, North Carolina.

Ailsie May Cross, ex '18, is teaching in Asheville, N. C. Her permanent address is 1851 Branden Ave., Petersburg, Va.

Lois Eve, '19, is sailing July 1st at midnight from New York for a summer in Europe and cruising on the Mediterranean.

Margaret Rowe, '19, better known as "Peanut," was married on April 20th to Mr. Carrington Jones. They are living at 1906 Trigg Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Elizabeth (Pruden) Fagan, '19, announces the birth of a son on May 17th. He has been named Charles Pruden, for Elizabeth's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Cuthbertson (Jule Hagood, '20) announce the birth of a daughter, Marie Hagood, during March.

Another new baby for the class of '20, is Robert Bruce Brannon, Jr., son of Margaret (Sanders) Brannon, who arrived in March in Calvert, Tex.

Elizabeth (Moss) Harris, '20, writes: "Is it possible that I have not written the alumnae office of the most important event of my life—the arrival of Mary Emily on September 30th last? When the last Quarterly came she was delighted with its outward hue and it suddenly occurred to me that she had never been announced therein. Please reserve a suite at Agnes Scott in 1942 for Mary Emily, Jule Hagood's daughter, Marie, and Gertrude Manly's daughter, Gertrude. It will be history repeating itself for the three of them to be at Agnes Scott together."

Margaret (Shive) Bellingrath is another member of '20 who is occupied with a new baby.

Eunice Legg, ex '20, is secretary-treasurer of the Plainville Brick Company, at Plainville, Ga.

Lois (Compton) Jennings, '21, has moved from Dallas, Texas, to 601 Dayton St., Muskogee, Okla. She visited in Decatur, Ga., during April.

Mary (Wharton) Breazeale, '21, is living at 2803 Estrella St., Tampa, Fla.

Frances (Whitford) Elliott, '21, writes: "I've been living here in New York since my marriage two years ago. And I do wish I could see Georgia again, and dear old Agnes Scott! I don't like the north!" Frances' address is 867 W. 181st St., New York City, Apt. 2-E.

Anna Marie (Landress) Cate, '21, is leading a busy life in Nashville. "Billy, Jr., and little Anna Marie have both had whooping cough, there have been several weddings in the family, and now I am trying to get a little sewing done, along with house-cleaning, fixing flower boxes, cooking and nursing. Billy and Anna Marie have enjoyed being out again this month, after two months of quarantine, and have made three appearances in their Korean costumes. They have had two trips to town to meet friends from Korea who were passing through Nashville. Speaking of Korea, reminds me of Frances Charlotte. I suppose that she has written to some one at Agnes Scott about her engagement to Mr. Donald Roberts, of the history department of St. John's University at Shanghai. She told me they were planning to be married in June, and go to Korea and Japan on their honeymoon. I know that Charlotte (Bell) Linton will be glad to see her."

Augusta Antoinette Laxton, ex '21, is living in Charlotte, N. C. She is a trained nurse.

Claire Louise Scott, ex '21, and president of the Atlanta Agnes Scott Club, was married on May 2, to Mr. Arthur Beall at her home in Atlanta. Lois (MacIntyre) Beall, '20, was Claire Louise's matron of honor, and Frank Beall (Lois' husband) was his brother's best man. Lois and Frank's little son, Frank, was ring-bearer. Mr. Beall is general agent for the Atlantic Life Insurance Company of Richmond, Va. They will live in Atlanta.

Marion Hull, '22, was married on May 14th to Dr. Samuel Leslie Morris. After a honeymoon trip, they are at home in Atlanta. Marion is having a great time fixing her apartment.

Frances (White) Weems, '22, writes that Frances White Weems, Jr., arrived on February 13, 1927, that she is a beautiful little girl, and is already looking forward to entering Agnes Scott in about seventeen years.

Elizabeth Wilson, '22, has moved from Riverside Drive to 610 W. 115th Street, New York City. She is planning to return to Europe in the fall.

The dancing pupils of Evelyn Lovett, ex '22, presented a ballet and pantomime, "The Sleeping Beauty," and an emotional interpretation of the final movement of Beethoven's Kreutzer Sonata during May. The Atlanta Constitution in writing of the program says: "It was characterized by the sound technique in dancing and the fresh and spirited interpretation that have marked the previous recitals of Miss Lovett's pupils. Miss Lovett's dance, developed from the finale presto movement of Beethoven's Kreutzer Sonata, was an impassioned study of dynamic symmetry, expressing at the same time the power of the composer and the lightness of the classical ballet."

Lucile (Little) Morgan, '23, writes in a most threatening vein from Heflin, Ala.: "The next time you let it get into the Quarterly that I am learning to cook, I'll do something terrible to you! Girl, I've been keeping house and cooking for over eighteen months now, and when one has been doing the daily three meals per for that long it doesn't pat one's vanity on the back to have it published abroad that one is still 'learning'! Sounds as if I'm an inhabitant of Moronia to say the least! To tell the truth, I'm leading a very interesting existence for (besides cooking!) I'm taking a course in Art History, and coaching a boy to get through senior high in two years instead of three."

Two of the ex-members of '23 who are living in Charlotte, N. C., are Carolyn (Moody) Jordan, whose husband is pastor of a large Methodist church there, and Louise (Crosland) Huske, who is keeping house in a lovely new home in Myers Park.

Parrish (Little) Jette, ex '23, who went from Agnes Scott to Barnard, is living at 331 W. 24th St., New York City. She is assistant to Dr. E. L. Thorndike at Columbia. Parrish's husband is professor of Chemistry at New York University.

In making a census of marriages, husbands' occupations, babies, trips to Europe, and other interesting items among the members of '24, we discovered that all five of the babies, of which we are so inordinately proud, are boys! Although they can never attend Agnes Scott, the five proud mothers have all promised that they shall have parental consent to marry only Agnes Scott Girls. The five mothers are Marian (Johnson) Merritt, Margaret (Griffin) Williams, Annabel (Burkhead) Greene, Isabel (Sewell) Hancock, and Elvie (Wilson) Riley.

Nonie Peck, '24, finished up her year's work as physical director and basketball coach at the Lanier High in Montgomery on one day and was married the next to Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick Booth of Anniston, Ala. With all the rest of her life to be married in, the members of '24 were perfectly indignant with Nonie for choosing the dates of our class reunion for her wedding, but with that superior air that married alumnae assume toward unwedded alumnae Nonie assured us that May 24 was the very nicest date in all the world and she would not change it for many reunions. Just wait 'till we get our hands on her at our next reunion, though! Nonie's Anniston address is 721 Keith St.

Margaret (Powell) Gay has moved to 417 Rutherford, in Shreveport, La.—a whole house of her own, instead of an apartment.

Annadawn (Watson) Edwards, "the elusive Annadawn," is taking a business course in Birmingham, Ala.

Eleanor Whyte, ex '24, is teaching at Kosciusko, Mississippi.

Josephine (Douglas) Harwell, '25, announces the birth of her daughter, Evalina McClure Harwell, the first part of April. "And besides that event, we are building a house, and are very thrilled over a home and a baby all at once. The house is brick, painted white, and in the French style of architecture. I should love to come down to Agnes Scott and see everybody, but all these husbands, homes and babies I'm accumulating keep me very busy."

And little Peg Hyatt is getting married! The wedding is to be at half after six o'clock in the evening at home in Norton, Va. "The future Mr. Hyatt," alias Mr. John Albert Walker, is from Appalachie, Va., very near Norton, and the town where Jo (Logan) Montgomery, '23, is living.

Alumnae Association

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT, MAY 28th 1927

The report of the President for this year will necessarily be short and more or less incomplete, as the term is incomplete, and was begun in February at the resignation of Mrs. Thatcher as President. This has been a most "resigned" group of officers. The President, the Secretary, and the Chairmen of the Curriculum Committee and Alumnae Aid League have asked the Executive Committee to accept their resignations. These have been regretfully accepted, and appointment of their successors has been made according to the Constitution by the Executive Committee.

All the committees have been active as will be seen by their splendid reports. Through the Publicity Committee and the efforts of the General Secretary, Founder's Day over the radio was again a great success, and brought responses from all directions. An innovation this commencement will be the taking of moving pictures after the Trustees' Luncheon. These films will be kept by the college, and shown at next commencement. Also they may be had by local clubs or groups of alumnae and will undoubtedly prove interesting.

The Association has made two gifts this year to the student body in order to promote interest between the alumnae and students. Twenty-five dollars was given to the Day Students' Association to help furnish their hut, and also a prize of the same amount was offered through the poetry club to the student who should write the best piece of verse during the year. This is to be awarded on commencement day.

The Louise McKinney Play Prize will also be awarded at this time. The Silver Loving Cup for the best attendance for the Class Reunion will be awarded on Monday at the regular Class Day Exercises. Last year this cup was won by the class of 1925.

This year the Alumnae Quarterly will be a quarterly indeed and in fact as well as in name for the first time, the fourth issue containing all the commencement news will go out early in June instead of October as heretofore.

At the last meeting of the Association resolutions were sent to the Board of Trustees asking that, beginning with this year, the President of the Association be invited to attend the meetings of the board, and that the retiring President be made a member of the board for a term of two years. These resolutions were accepted by the Board and under their provision the President attended its meeting on May 27th, finding it both interesting and helpful.

The Association has added almost two hundred new names to its membership this year, under the persistence of hard work of the General Secretary, Miss Stone, and expects to grow much more during the next year. Not only by addition of the largest class in the history of A. S. C. and the largest per cent pledged members of any outgoing class in its history, but also by use of the new Alumnae Register which Miss Stone has been working on diligently all this year. This register will be ready to go out with the fourth Quarterly and will be a great help in every branch of the work. It is confidently expected that next year will be a great year in the life of the Association.

Respectfully submitted,
ALLIE (CANDLER) GUY, '13.

REPORT OF GENERAL SECRETARY

The outstanding achievement of the year, perhaps, from the alumnae office is the completion of the new alumnae register. The old register, published in 1925, has been thoroughly worked over, an attempt made (in the majority of cases successfully made) to verify every address. The old records of the college when it was an institute have been gone carefully over, and five hundred names, unpublished in the former directory, added to the institute alumnae. There are over a thousand cards in the file which has been made for the first time of the old Agnes Scott Academy. In addition to the section for married names of alumnae, and class groups, the new directory will contain also a geographical census of Agnes Scott alumnae throughout the world. This directory will be ready for the press during the month of June.

The secretary has worked with the chairman of the publicity committee in editing the November and April copies of the Alumnae Quarterly. The third magazine will appear in June and will contain write-ups of commencement and reunion.

During the spring, the secretary was sent by the college to the annual college day at New Orleans, and to Charlotte, Concord, and Gastonia, N. C., where she spoke in the preparatory schools to the girls on the subject of going to college.

The work done in the direction of class organization and records and reunions usually speaks for itself at this season of the year. But this year, on account of our adoption of the Dix System, the reunion situation is unique, and the classes of '13, '14, and '15 deserve unusual acclaim for the splendid showing they are making this commencement when their reunion was more or less of a surprise bombshell to them, and many of them had made definite plans to return next year or the next. This is the most difficult year we shall ever have in working into this new reunion system, trying to combine gracefully the old and the new, and the numbers of '13, '14 and '15 who are back are splendid attestation to our alumnae approval of the Dix plan. One hundred and twenty-five alumnae who are members of reunion classes will return to Agnes Scott this year—forty of them are from out of the state, and three from foreign countries.

The secretary attended the national convention of alumni and alumnae secretaries and magazine editors held in Chapel Hill at the University of North Carolina this April. At this meeting she was elected one of the three women trustees of the organization. The other three women are secretaries from Vassar, Mt. Holyoke, and Radcliffe.

As publicity features, the office has worked up the second annual radio program on Founder's Day, heard by alumnae and friends in seventeen different states, and on the afternoon of May 28th, immediately following the trustees' luncheon to the alumnae, moving pictures were taken of the reunion groups.

The accomplishments of the year seem anything but stupendous or satisfying when reviewed in this way, but we feel that the new correct register and the enormous amount of search and research it represents, will compensate for other duties temporarily neglected.

Respectfully submitted,
POLLY STONE,
General Secretary.

REPORT OF TREASURER

Receipts, 1926-27.

On hand	$ 630.09
House rent	400.00
Room rent	207.50
75 per cent of Tea Room profit	1,042.87
Dues	986.59
Life memberships	150.00
College after college	2.00
Gifts	61.50
Miscellaneous	23.57
Payment of loan	30.00

Total

Disbursements, 1926-27.

Secretary	$ 900.00
Postage, printing, stationary	661.18
House furnishings and upkeep	770.47
Maid	160.00
Life memberships (into savings)	150.00
Dues and traveling expenses	76.50
Miscellaneous	88.50
Entertainment	21.03
Gift and prizes	50.00
Loan to Decatur Club	30.00
Use of gift money	55.00

Total

Total on hand

(Note: The June Quarterly expenses have not yet been deducted from this amount.)

PROPOSED BUBGET FOR YEAR 1927-28

Receipts

On hand	$ 200.00
Tea room profit	1,000.00
Tea room rent	400.00
Room rent	250.00
Dues	1,250.00
Miscellaneous	25.00

Total

Disbursements

Secretary	$1,200.00
Office supplies	1,000.00
Maid	200.00
Furnishing and upkeep	475.00
Dues	25.00
Traveling expenses	100.00
Miscellaneous	95.00
Entertainment	30.00

Total

We, the Finance Committee, recommend:

1. That the dues of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association be raised from $1.50 to $2.00, this increase in dues to go into effect beginning with the year September, 1927, to September, 1928.

2. That the dues of each senior class for the year following graduation remain $1.50.

3. That Life Memberships be raised proportionately from $37.50 to $50.00.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MINUTES

The executive committee of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association met Wednesday afternoon, February 23rd at the Anna Young Alumnae House. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Thatcher, at three o'clock.

The chairman of the publicity committee, Elizabeth Wilson, '22, had sent from New York a resolution that the time of the publication of the Quarterly be changed from November, January, March and May to November, January, April and June, in order to get into the last issue of the year all the commencement news. This was voted on by the committee and carried.

The chairman of the preparatory schools committee sent in a report that five of her cities—Little Rock, New Orleans, Wilmington, Jackson, and Chattanooga—had sent in lists of high school seniors to Dr. McCain.

The chairman of the committee on class organizations and reunions recommended that the Dix system of reunions be adopted, by which classes should reunite at the same time with other classes with which they were in college. This was voted on and carried, to be put into operation this commencement.

Margaret Phythian, chairman of the House and Tea Room committee, reported that sugar bowls and teapots had been bought for the Tea Room, that they were intending to start new china for the Tea Room very soon, and that five pairs of curtains had been bought and put up in the upstairs bedrooms. There was some discussion of the stair carpet, which is badly worn, but it was decided that nothing could be done about it until the rug for the living room, already bought by the Atlanta club, was sent out and put down. There has been a little mixup about the old rule of charging two dollars for the use of the private dining room. In the future, all committees are to keep minutes of their meetings, and hand these minutes over to incoming committee chairmen.

The alumnae directory, which was to have appeared in January has not yet been gotten out on account of the tremendous job it was found to be to locate all the former academy students. Work is going on on this, and the directory, as complete as possible, is to be gotten out as soon as possible.

The chairman of the Committee on Beautifying of Grounds and Buildings reported that shrubbery has already been set out around the gymnasium, and that all the shrubbery on the campus has been pruned and fertilized this year. There are no more funds at present, and no more can be done this year.

The faculty advisors of the College Poetry Club have asked the alumnae to offer a small prize this year, to stimulate the work of the girls in the club. After some discussion, twenty-five dollars was voted as the amount that should be offered, announcement of the contest to be made immediately.

A sum of twenty-five dollars was also set aside as a gift to the day students, to be used in furnishing their little hut on the campus.

The coming tea, given by the alumnae to the senior class, was discussed, and since the senior class is so large this year (104 members) a sum of ten dollars was added to the appropriation of the entertainment committee with which to help give the tea.

On account of her health, the president, Mary (West) Thatcher, offered her resignation, which was reluctantly accepted by the committee. Allie Candler Guy, the first vice-president, automatically becomes president.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTHA STANSFIELD, '87,
Secretary.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MINUTES

The executive council of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association met Wednesday afternoon, February 23rd, at the Anna Young Alumnae House at 4 o'clock. Mrs. S. E. Thatcher, president of the association, presided.

Miss Hopkins, reported from the campus that additional mailboxes have been bought for the mail room, so that now there are only two students using each box. A new system of bulletin board, copied from one at Randolph-Macon, has been installed in the library for the use of the day students, where they receive notices and any campus mail. The purchase of a rug and curtains has been made for the day student hut on the campus, the money given by the college. Miss Hopkins read some of the telegrams received after the Founder's Day radio program.

Elsa Jacobsen, president of the Student Government Association, then told a little about the Tabard Inn Book Shop, which has been started and carried on so far by the students, Hoasc sponsoring it specifically. Financially it has been very successful in a small way.

Mrs. Thatcher tendered her resignation as president, which was regretfully received by the committee.

Mrs. Donaldson reported that at the last meeting of the trustees, it was decided to call the two gateways which will be erected at the two main entrances of the new main driveway for Mr. Mandeville, and Dr. Armistead.

Mrs. Guy, from the Atlanta Club, reported that they have raised over three hundred dollars this year. They are now working on re-furnishing the living room of the Alumnae House, and have already bought the rug. The plan they are following more or less closely is by Browne, and calls for fourteen hundred dollars in all.

A report from the Decatur Club is to the effect that that organization has come to life, after deciding to meet at night so that the girls who work in town can attend. At their last meeting for six o'clock dinner here at the Alumnae House there were thirty-odd present. They are putting on a program of one-act plays the last Saturday night in March, and expect to use the money gained from these on the Alumnae House living room in connection with the Atlanta Club.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

The executive committee of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association met Wednesday afternoon, May 23rd, at the Anna Young Alumnae House. In the absence of the president, the first vice-president, Mrs. Milton Scott, presided. After the reports of standing committees the following officers resigned and their successors were appointed according to the constitution of the Executive Committee.

Secretary, replaced by Cora Morton, '24.
Chairman Scholarship Aid League, replaced by Elizabeth Lynn, '27.
Chairman Curriculum Committee, replaced by Katherine Seay, '18.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTHA STANSFIELD,
Secretary.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MINUTES

The Executive Council of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association met Wednesday afternoon, May 23rd, at the Anna Young Alumnae House at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Milton Scott, first vice-president of the association, presided.

Miss Hopkins reported that purchases for next year were to be made in May and not in August as heretofore. Miss Lewis and Miss Miller were appointed as additional members of a committee to see samples sent on May 23rd from Philibosian's, Rich's, High's, Chamberlain's and Davison's. Rugs are needed for the Rebekah Scott lobby. Representatives from these five firms brought samples from the factory, one sample from each group voted on by the committee, and the final decision to be made May 24th.

In the parlors of Main the davenport is to have new springs and upholstering, new draperies and portieres.

Thursday after college closes Miss Hopkins, Dr. McCain, and Mr. Cunningham go over all rooms on campus to see what repairs are needed, duplicate copies of these needs are made and checked off as repairs are made.

Our debating record shows Agnes Scott the winner of the series of debates. At the suggestion of Randolph-Macon, the triangular debate will be discontinued. Sophie Newcomb will debate with Tulane University and have interclass debates.

The Trustees have bought the house beyond Mr. Tart's, Dr. and Mrs. McCain will probably move there and their house will be used for students. A student government representative will be in each house next year. This year there are 370 in dining rooms, next year there will probably be eleven at each table. Some faculty members may "go out."

Miss Hopkins reported an interest in athletics, as shown by Health Week, Play Day, and sending a representative to the National Conference. Dr. Sweet's report of the Health Department for the year is good.

Elsa Jacobsen, outgoing president of Student Government Association, and Janet MacDonald, incoming president of Student Government Association, were present. Miss Jacobsen reported that the book shop will be enlarged next year, the room in Home Economics occasionally used now as a kitchen may be fitted up as a store in which may be bought books such as the Tabard Inn now sells, stationery, soap, etc. The Athletic Association will sponsor this. Miss MacDonald reported that there was a desire to continue debating and if advisable to debate with one northern college. In answer to letters, Goucher had written that she has no intercollegiate debating and Wellesley had written that she had disbanded the debating society.

Miss Bansley, president of the Day Student Association, expressed appreciation for the check given by the Alumnae Association and reported that they had bought a mirror and had six dollars left for the beginning of next year. The Y. W. C. A. had meant more to the day students this year, largely through the work of Augusta Roberts.

Ray Knight, representing Francis Hargis, the incoming president of the Day Student Association, reported that the day students desired a closer contact with boarding students and that they hoped to secure this through the Y. W. C. A. She reported some money on hand for the Day Student Cottage, but that the greater part had been spent for things to be used this year.

Mrs. Wey, representative of the Atlanta Club, reported purchases for the living room, thirty cents in the treasury, and many plans for next year.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTHA STANSFIELD,
Secretary.

GENERAL ASSOCIATION MINUTES

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Association met Saturday afternoon, May 28, in the College Chapel.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Guy, at twelve fifteen.

Reports were given by the President, Secretary, General Secretary, Treasurer, Chairman of House and Tea Room Committee, Chairman Beautifying Buildings and Grounds Committee, Chairman of Entertainment Committee; the General Secretary reported for the Class Organization Committee by saying that the numbers at reunion spoke for themselves; the Secretary read reports sent by chairmen of following committees: Publicity Committee, Preparatory Schools Committee, Curriculum Committee, Vocational Guidance Committee, and Alumnae Scholarship Aid League Committee. Mrs. Thatcher moved reports of standing committees be accepted, voted on and carried.

President suggested that Secretary send Dr. McCain a copy of the report of Curriculum Committee, voted on and carried.

Chairman of Finance Committee submitted proposed budget with recommendations. Recommendations accepted. Mrs. Thatcher suggested a five dollar increase of fund for Entertainment Committee to be taken from the miscellaneous fund, voted on and carried.

Budget as a whole with this one recommendation voted on and carried.

Miss Nan B. Stephens gave the following report for the Playwriting Class: Last year six completed the course, this year nine regularly enrolled and one special student completed the course, writing a total of 20 one-act plays, nine long plays and the dramatization of one long novel. A club has been formed of the alumnae members of these classes to write plays. Miss Stephens suggested that a prize of $10.00 be offered by the Alumnae Association for the best one-act play and a prize of $25.00 for the best long play written during the year and emphasized the importance of having these prizes come from the Alumnae Association and congratulated effort to start a worth-while work. Mrs. Donaldson moved the annual prize be given. This was voted on and carried.

The President announced that she had interviewed Dr. McCain, who said that the college would give $75.00 toward traveling expenses of the General Secretary and add $100.00 to the annual salary of the General Secretary.

Adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTHA STANSFIELD,
Secretary.

HOUSE AND TEA ROOM

Any report of the House and Tea Room Committee must begin with acknowledgement to those who have contributed so largely to the success of the year's work—to Miss Polly Stone, hostess of our house—to Miss Florine Brown, manager, and to Miss Carrie Scandrett, treasurer of our tea room.

Our next acknowledgement must go to the friends, who by their gifts have added so much to the comfort and beauty of our home. From Mrs. Samuel Young and her little granddaughter, Miss Anna Young Eagan, we have the handsome brass fender and andirons for the living room. We feel grateful to a number of individual givers, including several guests of the house who are not alumnae—namely Mrs. Horace Parker, of New York, formerly Miss Ruth Pope of the Agnes Scott faculty, who sent a very lovely lamp for the living room table, and Miss Mary Torrance, who sent vase and candlesticks.

From the home folks our most cherished possession is the beautiful leather guest book which Polly Stone brought from Italy, and which already contains the names of such distinguished guests as the English novelist, Hugh Walpole, the arctic explorer, Roald Amundsen, and the New York poet, Miss Louise Driscoll.

Our former president, Mrs. Thatcher, has presented us with some very useful scrapbooks in which to keep pictures and clippings of various alumnae activities to interest the returning alumnae. From Miss Florine Brown we have some after-dinner coffee spoons; from Miss McKinney, Dr. Sweet and Miss Lillian Smith, some very useful linens, and from an unknown friend two antique vases and a three-branch candlestick.

Several of the Alumnae clubs have shown their love and interest this year in a very substantial way. Early in the year we received from the Marietta club some linens, from the New York Club a vase and some ash trays. The Atlanta club has made a splendid start on their program for refurbishing the living room and we are now the proud possessors of a handsome new chenille rug and window draperies topped by colonial brass cornices. The Decatur Club, inspired by the Atlanta Club, has undertaken to refurbish the dining room. They have contributed rug and draperies to match the living room and also a small hooked step-rug between the two rooms. We are all looking forward with eagerness to the completion of the plans of these two clubs.

At their reunion in 1926, the class of '21 decided to make a gift to the house, and in September they added a lovely silver tray to the dining-room silver service. The gifts of the classes which held reunions this May will be announced in the first issue of the Quarterly in the fall.

The latest gifts to the house are a set of a dozen brass fingerbowls, brought from China by Mrs. Fairman Preston, and a lavender silk coverlet given by Annie Jean Gash.

The home-coming tea on Miss Anna Young's birthday has, on the recommendation of the retiring house committee, been made an annual event. We were most happy to have with us this year Mrs. Young and Mrs. Eagan, and we greatly missed Mrs. Brown, who was kept away by illness. This tea was greatly enjoyed by all present and was made the occasion for presenting a number of the gifts which have been mentioned.

The following items have been cared for by the house committee

Fund from alumnae budget:

Walls and woodwork cleaned.

Outside woodwork repainted.

Sofa and three chairs refinished and upholstered.

Radiator covers for living room, dining room, and hall.

Hall and stair carpet.

Window shades in dining room.

Fund from Tea Room (five per cent of Tea Room profits):

Brass candlesticks for living room.

Five pairs of curtains for bed rooms.

Curtain material for bathroom.

Two dozen individual coffee pots.

Twenty sugar bowls.

Twenty salts and peppers, painted to match sugar bowls.

Percolator.

Two dozen cups and saucers.

Two dozen teaspoons.

Three dozen glasses.

Financial Statement.

Total receipts -----	$10,928.25
Total profits -----	1,390.50
75 per cent of profits to Alumnae Association -----	1,042.87
20 per cent of profits to Miss Brown --	278.11
5 per cent of profits to Tea Room fund (including $44.03, balance on hand, September, 1926) -----	113.55
(Actual profit—5 per cent—for 1926-27 was $113.55.)

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET PHYTHIAN,

Chairman.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

Last year, while working on this same committee under Ruth Scandrett, '22, I wrote to about six colleges getting their plans for vocational guidance. Ruth and Katherine Seay did the same, and Ruth got up a very complete report with recommendations. Frankly, I do not see what else can be done until those recommendations are acted upon, as I think that Agnes Scott is working very efficiently with what machinery she has, and until a definite employment office and vocational guidance office is established with a paid secretary, I do not see what else can be done.

Respectfully submitted,

QUENELLE HARROLD, '23,

Chairman.

CURRICULUM

Acting on the suggestion of Dr. McCain, the Curriculum Committee has made a study of recent developments in educational methods, which have been the outcome of the belief that the modern college must change its methods if it would adequately prepare its students for life. Numerous educators hold that the old watchdog methods of compulsory lectures, frequent quizzes and limited cuts are childish and should be discarded—in part at least—since they lead the student to work for marks instead of knowledge, and feed him a mass of pre-digested information rather than train him to think.

In many of our leading colleges new plans are being introduced, with great success, which put the responsibility of securing an education on the individual student and force him to think—the only effectual means of developing real scholarship.

Instead of the old mass of compulsory work, it is now suggested to the students that they teach themselves, by doing original work, both of research and of creation. To assist them the college puts at their disposal its libraries, its lecture courses, and its professors, who are to assume the role of co-laborers and helpers rather than taskmasters who camp on the students' trail, with the idea that if left unguarded they will get out of all the work they possibly can, and must therefore be watched and driven.

The honors courses now being tried in various Eastern colleges are designed to carry out this idea of giving the student the responsibility of his own intellectual development. At Swathmore College, according to President Aydelotte "If a student is accepted for a given honors course, he is at once handed a statement of the field which he must cover in his last two years. His one and only job is to cover that field in such a fashion as to be prepared to meet the severe examinations which will be given him at the end of his course. During his last two years in college the course and hour system will not exist for him. His instruction is largely individual. He may take advantage of any courses and lectures offered in college. He may be advised to attend some and not to attend too many, but with him rests the final decision. He takes the sole responsibility for the success of his work and that success is measured by examinations conducted not by those professors who have taught him but by men who have been brought in from other schools and colleges. The aim of the examiners is not so much to find out what the student does not know as it is to find out what he does know and then to ascertain how well he knows that. It is the thoroughness of the student's grasp of what he knows best which is the real test of his intellectual power . . . He is encouraged to form the habit of acquiring general knowledge not by attending a wide variety of miscellaneous courses but rather by doing a great deal of general reading. That is a much more economical and a much more intelligent way of getting general information, and the student who has acquired the habit of general reading will continue that habit after his graduation from college, as most college graduates, I am sorry to say, do not.

"I think the most important feature of the whole honors system as it is being worked out in this country, is the fact that it puts more responsibility on the student. We think too much about effective methods of teaching and not enough about effective methods of learning. No matter how good our teaching may be, each student must take the responsibility for his own education, and the sooner he finds that out the better for him."

"School and Society" of April 10, 1926, gives the following description of honors courses at the University of Wisconsin: "In the completion of the requirements for the major study, the department may permit upper group students to substitute individual work, under the guidance of some member of the department for a prescribed number of credits ordinarily earned in class. They must be approved by the Dean. Students must pass a comprehensive examination at the end of the Senior year on the work offered for the major both in the course and outside the course."

At Middlebury College this plan is followed: A limited number of selected seniors are to be given a chance to pursue independent study during 1926-1927, not more than 10 per cent who have made an average of 80 per cent or over. The minimum work for the year under this system must be equivalent to that required by ten ordinary courses open to seniors, but may be done entirely outside of classwork or in any combination of class and independent study upon which student and adviser agree. Comprehensive oral and written examinations at the end of the year before a committee of the faculty consisting of the adviser as chairman and two others invited by him.

Honors courses have been introduced at Smith College also under the following regulations: Special Honors: Students who wish to become candidates for special honors should make application before April 15 of their Sophomore year. Application will be granted if (1); they have attained an average of B in the first 3 semesters, (2) they satisfy the department in which they seek honors of their fitness to pursue the chosen subjects. Each candidate is assigned to an instructor who serves as general director of her course and arranges for special instructors in the various subdivisions of the field. Special instructors may advise or require attendance on certain courses or parts of courses; but honor students are not generally expected to do the work in such courses.

The work of honor students falls in eight units—the last semester of the senior year one unit is devoted to a general review of the field to be covered in final honors examinations. One unit is devoted to the preparation of a paper. The other six units are distributed among the subdivisions of her chosen subject as arranged by the chief department concerned, and consist of studies conducted under the direction of special directors. Special examinations are given at the end of the year (senior) covering all parts of the field included in studies of both years.

The honor student may visit any course in college with the permission of her special instructor and the instructor in the course.

At Barnard College special concessions are made to exceptionally well equipped students who show pronounced interest in any subject. If they so desire they may substitute for the regular prescribed curriculum a special course of study in the subject of their choice and closely related subjects. Students may rarely be admitted to this course at entrance and only in case of exceptional maturity and promise. Usually they are admitted as a result of conspicuous ability in college work, at the beginning of the sophomore or junior year, provided they meet in September such tests as the Committee on Instruction may determine.

The appropriate department then takes charge of the student's work and subject to the approval of the faculty, arranges the course to be pursued. A sound reading knowledge of French and German is required before graduation except in departments of modern foreign languages, which may substitute other modern languages. Previous to the senior year the manner of testing proficiency rests with the department in charge. In the senior year all regular examinations are omitted, and at the end of the year the student must pass a comprehensive examination in her subject as a whole. Honors students are exempt from the technical requirement of 120 points for graduation, from regular class attendance, and from the system of grading.

"School and Society" for February 12, 1927, writes of the Orientation courses which are designed to orient the student in the college curriculum to help him get his bearings in order that he may approach the field of knowledge intelligently. The orientation course is a pre-educational course to unify the material of the curriculum. Its primary purpose is to train the student to think and to introduce him to a general survey of the nature of the world and man. Such courses have been adopted at Amherst, Antioch, Brown, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Leland Stanford, Missouri, Princeton, Rutgers, and Williams.

Reed College has attacked the problem from a somewhat fresh standpoint without the restraints of traditional organizations. There the first two years are directed to providing a historical background.

It is felt that the orientation courses should be strengthened by a more systematic and conscious relation to student experience.

So much for the plans which would develop real, serious, and independent scholars who do creative work, instead of the walking collections of mechanically-memorized and soon-forgotten facts which so many college students become under the methods of strict compulsion—methods which leave undeveloped and often undiscovered, so much of real ability.

A second charge frequently heard against American colleges for women is that they do not prepare the graduates for life as it is to be lived outside the college walls. In answer to this charge several women's colleges have introduced courses to bridge this gap—some of which were described in the report of the Curriculum Committee last year. However, it may not be amiss to quote a description of the Connecticut course in The Art of Living: The Primary Aim: Correlation of: (1) the various fields of knowledge and of skill entered by the student in her college career in the class room, laboratory, etc., and (2) practical life in the world of affairs into which the student is to go after graduation. Twelve instructors representing the major departments in the curriculum are co-operating. Lectures are given, also, at appropriate places by the college president, a physician, and a lawyer. Review and quiz hours are scattered throughout the year. A good deal of reading is required, with critical reports. In general each instructor requires an essay on some topic in the field under study, based on class notes and outside reading. The students find the course interesting and profitable, judging from their spontaneous, unsolicited reactions.

The committee feels that the new trends in educational methods herein discussed are most significant and that it might be extremely profitable for Agnes Scott to investigate the success of the plans in the colleges where they are being tried. First-hand reports on the plans would of course be excellent as a means of determining the advisability of adopting them at Agnes Scott.

Respectfully submitted,
LAURA STOCKTON MOLLOY,
Chairman Curriculum Committee;
ANNE HOUSTON,
KATHERINE SEAY,
ANNIE WHITE MARSHALL.

AID LEAGUE

Credit

On hand, June 9, 1926	$206.15
Interest July 1, 1926	3.30
Interest January 1, 1927	.16
Three payments of $10 each on money loaned	30.00
Total	$239.61

Debit

Two loans of 75 each	$150.00
One loan of $50	50.00
Exchange	.20
Total	$200.20
Balance on hand May 25, 1927	39.41

Respectfully submitted,
DAISY FRANCES SMITH, '24,
Chairman.

PUBLICITY

During the past year the Publicity Committee has sponsored the Agnes Scott Club in New York which has enjoyed a number of delightful meetings. One member of the club was asked to speak before the American Association of College Women on the history and organization of Agnes Scott College. We have furnished information to a local Parent-Teacher Association which is making an investigation of women's colleges in the South in order to recommend them to girls who are planning to go away to college. In March we took active charge of the Alumnae Quarterly and have been responsible for the April and June numbers.

ELIZABETH WILSON,
Chairman;
RUTH SLACK SMITH,
Member.

LOCAL CLUBS

The work of the local club committee has been largely preparatory this year for the actual business to be done beginning in September, 1927. Lists of alumnae addresses have been sent out to be brought up to date by some alumna in each town containing eight or more old Agnes Scott girls. This has greatly assisted the work on the alumnae register, also. We have seven old established local clubs, and although only one new one—Memphis—has actually been formed this past year, all the preliminary work has been done for the formation of some dozen new local clubs in the fall. Washington, D. C., alumnae have already begun to shape themselves into a local club with eleven members.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY LAMAR KNIGHT, '22,
Chairman.

CLASS ORGANIZATION AND RECORDS

The Dix system of reunions adopted this year for the first time at Agnes Scott, will revolutionize class reunions, we believe, and within a few years, by the time it is working smoothly here, and the alumnae thoroughly understand it, will double and treble attendance at class reunion celebrations.

This year the classes of '94, '95, '96, '97, '02, '07, '12, '13, '14, '15, '17, '22, '24, and '26, held class reunions with one hundred and twenty-five members back on the campus. The actual percentage of the classes is given elsewhere in the Quarterly.

The silver loving cup, awarded each year to the class with the largest percentage back, was presented to '26, the little sister class. Especial praise goes to the classes of '13, '14 and '15, who responded with such large numbers, when announcement of the class reunion was made to them since Christmas.

New class secretaries were elected in many cases by the reunion classes and work on next year's reunion is beginning at once.

One member of each class has been appointed by the president to keep up to date the class scrapbook. These books were presented by a member of '15—Mary (West) Thatcher—and are to be kept in the alumnae office, open for inspection at all times.

The custom of presenting a gift of some kind to the college or the Alumnae House on each reunion is becoming more fixed each year. Last year '21 gave a lovely silver service tray for the Alumnae House, and this year, '22, '24, and '26 have made up funds for gifts, the nature of which will be announced later, probably in the November Quarterly.

There are a number of "round robins," which have been circulating since graduation, and at least one more was started this commencement.

The new alumnae class of '27 is entering the Association with a stronger class organization than that of any preceding class: for the first time in the history of Agnes Scott, the senior class has joined the Alumnae Association one hundred per cent! Elizabeth Norfleet is their life president, and although they are the largest class yet—one hundred and three—they believe that with their splendid organization they can keep in touch with each other and keep their large class unified on through the years.

Respectfully submitted,
ELIZABETH HOKE, '23,
Chairman.

ENTERTAINMENT

The Entertainment Committee, together with the House and Tea Room Committee, was in charge of the annual homecoming party on Miss Anna Young's birthday in November at the Alumnae House; it entertained the senior class at tea during April; and was in charge of the decorations for the luncheon given by the trustees to the alumnae, faculty and senior class on Saturday, May 28th, during commencement.

Respectfully submitted,
AIMEE D. (GLOVER) LITTLE, '21,
Chairman;
HELEN WAYT, '21,
ELOISE (GAY) BRAWLEY, '16,
CLAIRE LOUISE (SCOTT) BEALL, ex '21.

BEAUTIFYING BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

The work this year of the Committee on Beautifying Buildings and Grounds has been limited largely to the completion of plans made last year.

In February, Wachendorff Brothers, Florists, made foundation planting around the new gymnasium. About this same time, all the other shrubbery was carefully worked and fertilized.

To Miss Florine Brown, again, is due the thanks of the Association for the work and interest in the flower beds back of the Alumnae House.

In the parlors, a much needed addition was made by the new radiator covers, thus saving the new finish on the walls.

The committee holds tentative plans for shrubbery planting around the proposed entrance gateways and other corners of the campus.

Respectfully submitted,
EILEEN (DODD) SAMS, '23,
Chairman.

PREPARATORY SCHOOLS

In October, 1926, sixteen letters were sent to Agnes Scott girls in sixteen different cities suggested by Dr. McCain. One alumna represented the preparatory schools committee in each of the cities, and it was her purpose to interest high school girls who might be good prospective students in Agnes Scott. It was suggested that each member of the committee should send to the chairman a list of girls who would be desirable as Agnes Scott students, and these in turn were to be given to Dr. McCain.

Practically all of the members of the committee made some attempt to secure the desired lists, but various circumstances interfered. Six, however, were successful. The cities from which lists were received are Dallas, Richmond, New Orleans, Little Rock, Nashville and Lynchburg.

The committee hopes during the next year to do some constructive work for the college as we believe we shall have a better understanding of how to appeal to the high schools.

Respectfully submitted,
HILDA McCONNELL, '23,
Chairman.

FOR REFERENCE

NOT TO BE TAKEN FROM THIS ROOM

